HARDING BEGINS TO UNRAVEL THE RAILROAD SNARL

Gathers Data on the Situation.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., March 31.—[Special.]—As his first move in his endeavor to alleviate the critical financial condition of the railroads, President Harding conferred today for more than two hours with Chairman Clark of the interstate commerce commission and Chairman Barton of the railway labor board.

The discussion concerned the effect of the business depression on the volume of transportation and operating expenses of the railroads, feasible economics, and the proposed reduction of wages and of freight rates.

Rate Problem Baffling.

Chairman Clark informed the president that any further increase of rates would only stifle commerce without producing additional revenue and that a reduction of rates is out of the question until operating expenses are curtailed.

A high official of the administration declared today that in the event business did not improve generally within the next six months, a great many railroads would be in the hands of receivers by July 1, which would be equivalent to government operation.

The conference closed without plans for other meetings of the same character and nothing in the way of joint action by the interstate commerce commission and the railroad labor board to meet the existing situation is contemplated at present.

Harding Will Not Act Alone.

President Harding, it was learned, regarded the conference as the most direct method of informing himself on one of the mst important domestic questions before the country today. It was also stated that it is farthest from the president's intentions to take any step that might appear to be presuming on the authority of the interstate commerce commission or the railroad labor board.

The information obtained by the president may be utilized by him in his message to congress at the beginning of the extraordinary session which he has called for April 11. This has not been definitely settled, however. If it should be determined that additional legislation is necessary to provide the necessary relief, the railroad situation will be dealt with directly and recommendations will be submitted to congress. Congressional leaders, however, appear to entertain decided impressions that additional legislation is not necessary, chiefly because it would not constitute the cure for the evils involved.

Rate and Fare Cuts Likely.

Prompt action by the railroad labor board on the cases now pending before it, in which the railroads are seeking permission to effect economies in expenditures for wages, it is believed, would go far toward a readjustment that would pave the way for reduction in freight rates and passenger fares. It is regarded likely that the president has inquired as to the probability of a decision by the labor board in the near future.

Railway officials had been predicting that March would see a substantial increase in freight traffic and a corresponding decline in the number of surplus cars. The latest figures have blasted those hopes.

WORKERS WANT PARLEY

B. M. Jewell, president of the railway employés' department of the American Federation of Labor, requested President Harding yesterday to exercise his influence to bring about a conference of representatives of the railroads and their employés. Mr. Jewell's telegram, which was sent from Chicago, was inspired by the president's conference with Messrs. Clark and Barton.

"Two million railroad workers and their millions of dependents," read the telegram, "are vitally interested in your efforts to effect a solution of the railroad problem. Obviously, no policy or program that is unacceptable to them will be productive of the much desired result of coöperation, and accordingly, therefore, we urge respectfully that we be given a voice in the determination of what is to be done.

"We prefer at all times to adjust points of difference through mutual agreement with the railway executives, and because of the present abnormal conditions we consider it essential in the interests of all concerned to conserve time and effort by reaching an agreement through a joint conference.

"We urge that you use your executive influence to bring about a conference between the railway executives as they are nationally organized and the railroad employés as they are organized nationally to undertake to compose the differences on all points in dispute."

ICE COST JUMPS 10C PER 100; MILD WINTER BLAMED

Consumers Issues Notice of Boost.

The price of retail ice jumps from 50 to 60 cents a hundred pounds this morning. This was announced yesterday by the Consumers company, which controls 60 per cent of the Chicago output. Numbers of smaller concerns will also boost the price. An almost total failure of the natural ice crop last winter is given as the reason. It is said there is some danger of an ice famine this summer.

Walter J. Malatesta, ice sales manager for the Consumers' company, said:

"During the past nine years the average natural ice harvest of this company has been approximately 868,000 tons a year. This year we cut from our own lakes only 62,468 tons. Deducting from this house, transit and wagon shrinkage, there will be left only 36,481 net tons.

10 Cents Increase to Families.

"Rates on family ice have been advanced from 50 cents a hundred pounds to 60 cents. Deliveries to commercial trade go from 30 and 35 cents to 35 and 50 cents.

"The average family uses about one and one-half tons of ice a year. To these this advance means an additional expense of $3 a year, or 25 cents a month.

"We have had to meet this year conditions never before known. To meet the midsummer demand we are right now for the first time in our history manufacturing ice in Chicago factories and shipping it to our Lake Calumet storage house, so there may be ice when the heat comes down on the city."

Smaller Dealer to Boost, Too.

Just how many of the large smaller dealers will follow in the price boost is not definitely known. It is believed, however, that all the twenty-eight concerns which hold memberships in the Chicago District Ice association will make the boost.

Several fights over prices between the "independents" and members of the association have been staged during the last few years. The "independents" always alleged the association was driving them out of business. It was reported that another such a battle is brewing for this summer.

JOHN B. JOHNSON, "AD" MAN, DIES IN HEAT OF DEBATE

John B. Johnson, 118 North Lombard avenue, Oak Park, for years advertising manager of the Economist, a real estate and financial paper with offices at 108 South La Salle street, became ill last night while attending a special meeting of stockholders of the Plaisance Hotel company in the Great Northern hotel, and died a few minutes later.

During the meeting a stockholder who had not been invited entered the room, and George Percy, said to be a former stockholder, objected to his presence. Mr. Johnson jumped to his feet.

"This man has as much right here as any of you," he said. "This is supposed to be a meeting of stockholders, and all stockholders have a right to be present."

Mr. Johnson collapsed as he turned to sit down. According to friends, he had been troubled with heart disease for years.

'Cureall' Good for Man and Beast, but Not for Maker

Judge Landis adjusted his spectacles yesterday and read the label on a bottle of "Black Diamond oil." Finding it warranted to cure all listed human ills in addition to those of cattle, horses, and pigs, he imposed a fine of $250, the maximum penalty, for violation of the pure food and drug act, upon the manufacturer, Dr. Frank A. Goodman.

WOLF OF STOCKS SKIPS; LAMBS OUT $100,000

Arthur Barry Flees Wrath of 1,800.

An alleged bogus stock selling concern with La Salle street offices which is said to have victimized 1,800 persons to the tune of more than $100,000 was disclosed yesterday following a state investigation of the crash of the Arthur Barry company.

The company is said to have had a "sucker list" compiled from letters to prospective patrons. Its records showed that at one time 400 kinds of stocks were offered for sale. The slogan of the concern was "Give a customer any kind of stock he wants," the state investigators declared.

The "sucker list" showed that the company covered a wide territory. Propaganda had been spread from Springfield, Mass., to Denver, Colo., and at different times "fly by night" offices had been opened in Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Denver, and Chicago.

Head of Concern Flees.

Arthur Barry, said to be the "J. Rufus Wallingford" of the concern, was named in a federal warrant yesterday. He has fled.

Barry first gained notoriety in Chicago in 1919, when he was forced to liquidate the Globe Securities Investment company, also a stock selling concern. While things were going well Barry occupied sumptuous apartments with his wife on Sheridan road.

The specific charge against Barry is misusing the mails to defraud. The authorities say their eyes were first opened to this fact following the filing of bankruptcy proceeding against the Motor Express company, a transportation company controlled by Barry. Thousands of dollars' worth of stock in this concern was sold. Jacob Goldman, appointed receiver last fall when the company crashed, reported that a search for assets had revealed the treasury had been looted.

All Kinds of Stock on Tap.

The company was first purchased by Barry in 1919. At that time he announced $100,000 worth of stock for sale. If a customer did not care for this class of stock, Barry brought out oil, gas and numerous other stocks printed on fine paper, with attractive engravings.

He is said to have figured as one of the agents who sold alleged fake railroad stock in a concern known as the Chicago, Peoria and Quincy Traction company.

Sometimes Barry sold real stock, however. In this case, the investigators say, he delayed the delivery.

"Suckers" Still Biting.

The "come on" letters sent out by the firm made such attractive offers that Goldman, the receiver, says he still receives checks from "suckers" who wish to buy the stocks. Many checks represented life savings, the letters said.

Walter Johnson, the postal inspector assigned to the investigation last fall, reported that when Barry purchased the motor company there were some trucks among the assets, but they were heavily mortgaged. Nevertheless Barry sent out letters telling his customers the stock had increased $1.25 a share and that another 7 per cent dividend would be paid in August.

BOMB DAMAGES 11 BUILDINGS IN BUENOS AIRES

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

BUENOS AIRES, March 31.—Eleven buildings were damaged here this morning by explosion of a dynamite bomb planted in a café at the corner of Cailo and Cordoba avenues in the heart of the fashionable residential district. There have been frequent explosions of bombs with minor consequences during the last month. They were usually planted in cafés belonging to a chain which recently broke a waiters' strike. This morning's bomb was the biggest yet exploded.

'Men Would Beat Dry Law, Women Keep It'—Bailey

"Men would repeal the prohibition law, but women are voting and it may continue," former Senator Joseph W. Bailey of Texas told the National Lumber Manufacturers' association at a banquet at the Congress hotel last night. He said the prohibitionists made it a "mighty sight drier than they ever intended to." Mr. Bailey also called for the old kind of government, "the simple, frugal government, which in forty years had less legislation on the books than was attributed to one late congress."

WOMAN'S 'KIDS' AND 'TRUN' GET JUDICIAL 'GOAT'

Baldwin Won't Have Slang in Court.

Slangy expressions, such as "trun" for throw and "kids" for children, are taboo in Judge Jesse Baldwin's court. The judge made it plain that he tolerates only dignified language when Mrs. Minnie Ziska testified yesterday in a suit for divorce against her husband, Henry A. Ziska, 4001 West Harrison street.

"Was your husband cruel to you?" asked Mrs. Joanna E. Downes, attorney for the witness.

"I should say so," she replied. "Once he took a rubber ball away from some kids and——"

"Kids" Too Much for Judge.

At this point she was interrupted by Judge Baldwin jumping to his feet.

"Kids!" he exclaimed, horrified. "Why don't you call them rats and be done with it."

Mrs. Ziska, somewhat abashed, apologized.

"Some children were playing in the yard," she continued. "My husband took their rubber ball and trun it——"

Can't Tolerate Slang.

"What's that?" interrupted the judge again. "When you say trun, I don't know what you mean, unless it's 'throw.' I can pardon the use of colloquial and stock expressions, but downright slang is something I can't tolerate."

Mrs. Ziska finished her testimony without further mishap. The rubber ball, she said, had been thrown at her head. The judge granted her a decree.

WAGE CUT HITS 25,000 EMPLOYES OF ELECTRIC CO.

Wage cuts affecting 25,000 employés of the Western Electric company's manufacturing plants will go into effect Monday. The cut in some cases will kill and in other cases reduce by 50 per cent the "surplus war wages"—a weekly war bonus paid in addition to the regular pay.

J. W. Bancker, assistant general superintendent, said the average reduction is about 5 per cent.

"The company gives regular raises in pay every six months," he said. "In addition we have been paying what we termed a 'surplus war wage.' This wage has fluctuated with general business conditions and the high cost of living, sometimes going up and then going down."

ROMANCE VIA RAIL CHOKED BY TELEPHONE

Berna Bunker is 18 years old. She waited for her romance. Her days were spent scanning the customers in a loop 5 and 10 cent store. Her mornings and evenings were spent in watching the trains that rushed by her home at 548 West Sixty-seventh street bound for the south. Finally the railroads evolved the Man.

Ben Johnson is a brakeman on the C. & E. I. road which passes Berna's door. His daily run is between Chicago and Momence, Ill., his home. During stops in the yards he became aware of the winsome brown eyed maiden. His courtship progressed swiftly.

Last Monday morning Berna left home as usual, but she did not return. Also some of her clothes were missing. Last night a girl called Mrs. Samuel Bunker, Berna's widowed mother, and said:

"Berna has been staying with me in Kensington. Tonight I heard her say she was going with Ben to St. Louis. I think you better stop her."

Mrs. Bunker called the Kensington police, who found Berna and Ben had appeared.

Ben went alone to Momence, where it is said he has a wife and two children.

VIVIANI DENIES FRENCH SEEK U. S. FINANCIAL HELP

Envoy Says Nation Will Pay All.

Washington, D. C., March 31.—Problems involved in the collection by France of reparations from Germany were discussed by Rene Viviani, envoy extraordinary from the French republic, with Senator Lodge, chairman of the foreign relations committee, and other American officials at a dinner at the residence of Ambassador Jusserand.

M. Viviani, in conference with Senator Lodge and George W. Wickersham, former attorney general of the United States, reviewed at some length results of the recent London conference in which the allied reparation demands were refused by Germany.

Asks No Financial Aid.

Those close to M. Viviani were emphatic in disclaiming any request by him for material aid to France, stating that he suggested only the extension of "moral support" by the United States in a "grave international situation" confronting France.

The former premier, it was said, endeavored to set at rest all reports that France intended to ask for any remission of its debt to the United States.

In asserting that France would discharge all financial obligations to this country he took occasion to set at rest any presumption that the official viewpoint of France was represented in the recent contention in the French parliament that a debt was due France by America in unpaid loans dating from the revolutionary war.

Shows Barrier to Reds.

While not desiring to present an alarmist view of the situation confronting the French republic, M. Viviani, it was said, pointed out the depression under which the French people were laboring.

M. Viviani was said to have pointed out the barrier which France offers to the westward spread of bolshevism, and to have emphasized the hearty approval with which the recent reply of Secretary Hughes to the Russian soviet government's invitation to enter upon formal trade arrangements had been received in France.

So far as was disclosed, the question of the withdrawal of American troops from the Rhine or the conclusion of a separate peace between the United States and Germany did not enter into the conversations.

President Harding Gets First Monthly Pay Check

Washington, D. C., March 31.—President Harding today received his first monthly pay check. It was for $5,530.84. Ordinarily the monthly check sent to the president by the treasury department is made out for $6,250, but Mr. Harding was "docked" for the three and a half days Woodrow Wilson served as president this month.

British King Acts as Coal Miners Quit

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, March 31.—King George issued a proclamation tonight from Windsor castle that a state of emergency exists in Great Britain, due to the coal miners' strike. This immediately gives the government authority, under the emergency powers act of 1920, to control the nation's water, food, fuel, light, supplies, train service, transportation facilities, or any essentials in the event of interference with them.

All Mines to Close.

Unless averted at the eleventh hour all the coal mines of England, Scotland, and Wales will have been closed by midnight. In many mining districts the strike began this afternoon.

The men declare it is not a strike, as they are willing to go on working at the old national wage scale, while the mine owners say it is not a lockout, as they are willing to run the mines on the new wage scale, varying according to conditions in the different districts.

The dangerous feature is the threat of the miners to call out the pumpmen and safety men. If this threat is carried out the mines will be flooded, the galleries fall in, and the pits put out of commission for an indefinite period. There is a strong likelihood, however, that this will not happen.

Pumpmen to Keep at Work.

Already the pumpmen of Yorkshire, Northumberland, and the Scottish fields say they will continue to work. In other fields there is strong feeling among the rank and file of the miners against any action which would ruin the industry for months and might ruin some mines forever.

The government, however, has taken the precaution to have the navy men stand by and they will be rushed to the coal fields at the first sign of danger. Every protection will be given the men who continue to work. Troops will be held in readiness and everything is prepared for the enrollment of special police. The government also has prepared orders, which go into effect immediately, rationing export coal, cutting down train service, placing domestic consumers on rations, one hundredweight weekly; cutting off electric display signs, and restricting domestic consumption of gas and electricity.

Horne Seeking Peace.

Sir Robert Horne, president of the board of trade, who returned from France in an effort to avert the strike, is working hard with that end in view and is in constant touch with Premier Lloyd George, who is taking a holiday at Chequers, his country home. The premier says he is ready to come to London at a moment's notice if his presence is required.

The transport men and railway workers held a joint session in London today to discuss the mine situation, which they look on as the beginning of a general attack on wages which the unions are bound to resist. Harry Gosling of the transport workers says the situation is the most serious since pre-war days.

Warm Weather a Help.

There is said to be a stock of over a million tons of coal and with the weather now growing warmer consumption can be reduced to a minimum. The miners' funds are low, having been nearly exhausted by the strike of last year.

This strike is one of the most significant in labor's history, as it marks the beginning of the struggle between the school of labor thought, which demands government subsidy to maintain wages, and business men who demand that each industry stand on its own feet.

THIS MAN SCORNS A QUART A WEEK; EVICTS TEMPTER

Breathes there a man with taste so dead?—yes, there does. Amiel Dullin, 1422 Greenleaf street, walked into the Evanston court yesterday and demanded the eviction of Mike Pilarski from 1698 Washington street, Evanston, the property of Dullin.

"I don't like him," quoth Amiel. "Why, judge, I refused his offer of regular rent and a quart of whisky a week if I would let him stay."

"An unfortunate but deserving man," murmured the judge as he signed an eviction order.

Dog Bites Three School Children and Is Killed

A bulldog belonging to Hinner Talmquist, 3231 North Racine avenue, bit three school children of the Town Hall district yesterday afternoon and gave the police an hour's battle before it was captured and killed. The victims were Ruth Levine, Talmquist's sister-in-law; Seymour Liebermann, 3302 North Racine avenue, and Alfred Nelson, 1148 Belmont avenue. The dog was shot by Policeman John Kelly.

EX-EMPEROR IS TO GO BACK TO SWITZERLAND

Balked by Allies and Little Entente.

BULLETIN.

VIENNA, March 31.—The Hungarian charge d'affaires has notified Austria that former Emperor Charles will return to Switzerland. The Swiss minister declares that Switzerland will agree to his return.

BULLETIN.

VIENNA, March 31.—(By the Associated Press.)—One of the foreign missions here today got in telephonic communication with its mission in Budapest and received a denial of the rumor of the resignation of the regent, Horthy. The mission was assured that Budapest was quiet and that Horthy had the situation in hand.

Previous dispatches had indicated that the troops of western Hungary were rallying to the support of the former emperor, who was reported to be at the head of an army of 100,000 men marching upon Budapest; but it is evident that Regent Horthy, with the the backing of the allies and the pressure of the smaller entente nations and the assurance of the latter that they would join in armed resistance to the restoration, has been able to defeat the plans of the monarchists.

How alarming the situation appeared for a time is indicated by the appended dispatches:

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, March 31.—From official sources I learn that former Emperor Charles today decreed a military dictatorship in Steinamanger and is preparing to march on Budapest at the head of an army to seize the Hungarian throne by force.

The Hungarian army numbers more than 80,000 troops, including a large number of crack cavalry units, as it was never demobilized to the 30,000 men provided for in the Trianon treaty.

President Masaryk yesterday sent an ultimatum to the Hungarian government, saying that the restoration of the Hapsburgs would be regarded as a casus belli by Czecho-Slovakia.

Mobilize for Resistance.

The Belgrade government has instructed the general staff to order a mobilization along the Jugo-Slav-Hungarian frontier, and 25,000 Serbian troops are reported to be massing along the Drave river.

Two divisions of Roumanian cavalry are concentrated in the Arad and Temesvar regions, the principal railway entry points into Hungary.

Several regiments of Bohemian troops have been ordered to Gran, the nearest point to Budapest, by the Czecho-Slovakian government.

Following Premier Teleky's visit to Charles yesterday and the appearance of Count Andrassy and the Spanish ambassador with the former emperor Gen. Lehar withdrew his alliance with the Horthy government and announced his fidelity to Charles.

Hussars Cheer Ex-King.

The troops, including several crack hussar regiments, cheered the announcement, and during the day reports reached Steinamanger that the entire Hungarian army would support Charles.

It is reported here that the argument which won Gen. Lehar to allegiance to the former emperor was that Regent Horthy was preparing to seize the Hungarian throne himself.

The troops of the Budapest garrison, numbering 8,000, have been ordered to bar the roads at points twenty miles from the capital—to prevent the former monarch's entry, but it is rumored that the troops will refuse to fight Charles' army.

The Polish minister at Vienna stated that Poland was not interested in the return of the Hapsburgs to power.

Diplomats Take Action.

The Czecho-Slovak minister at Vienna today announced that the little entente would never permit the return of the Hapsburg dynasty and that the entente maintained a sufficent force to prevent Charles' restoration.

The Italian ambassador to France called on Premier Briand today. He received the assurance that the French government does not support Charles. Immediately afterwards the foreign office sent statements to all French representatives abroad, including Ambassador Jusserand at Washington, announcing France's solidarity with the allies against the return of the Hapsburgs.

Gen. Weygand today postponed his trip to Prague owing to the Hungarian coup.

NEIGHBOR NATIONS ARM

BUDAPEST, March 31.—[By the Associated Press.]—The representatives of Roumania, Jugo-Slavia and Czecho-Slovakia have made a collective protest to the Hungarian government against the restoration of former Emperor Charles.

The neighbor nations of Hungary are watching with the most intense interest the events occurring in that country.

Roumanians Concentrate Troops.

It was learned today that the Roumanians are concentrating troops at Grosswardein, on the Hungarian border, and at Temesvar, farthern south, to be ready in case armed interference should be necessary.

The Jugo-Slavs, who have mobilized five divisions, had crossed the Hungarian frontier at several points, but withdrew yesterday.

The Jugo-Slav diplomatic representative here, M. Milojesevich, is said to have told the authorities: "Our question is, Will Charles depart within twenty-four or forty-eight hours?"

Ally for Aggressive Action.

PRAGUE, Czecho-Slovakia, March 31. —[Havas.]—The government, after energetic representations to the Budapest government regarding the attempt of former Emperor Charles to return to the throne, has prepared an agreement with the Jugo-Slav and Roumanian governments with a view to taking collective measures against his restoration.

The French, British, and Italian governments have been informed as to the nature of these measures.

Entente States Plan Show of Arms.

BELGRADE, March 31.—[By the Associated Press.]—A military demonstration, it is declared, will probably be made shortly against Hungary by little entente states.

M. Pachitch, Jugo-Slav premier, is well posted, it is asserted, as to the intentions of the former Emperor Charles and had been expecting his appearance in Hungary for the last ten days. Accordingly adequate military arrangements have already been made.

The premier had a long conversation with the Italian minister, Sig. Manzoni, yesterday, and it is declared in official circles that there is complete understanding on all points between Italy, Jugo-Slavia, and Czecho-Slovakia concerning the return of the former emperor.

CHARLES' DEMANDS

STEINAMANGER, West Hungary, March 31.—[By the Associated Press.] —Premier Teleky and Count Andrassy, former foreign minister, have been in debate a whole day here with former Emperor Charles on the conditions under which the latter would be willing to sign a formal abdication. It is said Charles is insisting that a stipulation of the validity of the claims of his son, Otto, shall be recognized and embodied in the Hungarian law.

Charles also demanded payment of the civil list due since October last, amounting to 150,000,000 kronen, and a liberal annual grant from the time he was dethroned formally by the national assembly.

A double military cordon has been thrown around the house accommodating the former emperor here, the sentries allowing only persons with permission from Premier Teleky to pass inside. Charles is said to be feeling poorly and to have spent a sleepless night.

PLANS EXPULSION

BUDAPEST, March 31.—[By the Associated Press.]—Regent Horthy today sent a wireless message to King Alfonso of Spain inquiring if preparations had been made for the reception of former Emperor Charles in Spain.

The Austrian government also was sounded as to whether it was willing to pass Charles freely through Austria and be responsible for his safety. If Austria refuses the regent plans to remove the ex-emperor to Spain in a Hungarian military airplane.

SAYS "ALL IS WELL"

GENEVA, March 31.—[By the Associated Press.]—"All is well," read a telegram received last night by former Empress Zita of Austria-Hungary from Ex-Emperor Charles.

The message was dispatched from Steinamanger, on the frontier between Austria and Hungary, where the presence of the former ruler was last reported.

Ex-Emperor Charles Tried to Get Throne Back

BERLIN BLAMES PARIS

BY GEORGE SELDES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BERLIN, March 31.—That ex-Emperor Charles' return to Hungary was encouraged by a group of French royalists under the leadership of the French general who conquered Bulgaria, now closely associated with Marshal Foch, is the assertion of part of the German press today.

This group is closely connected with reactionary circles in Belgrade, Prague and Bucharest and its leaders are supposed to have assured Charles that the entente would make only formal protests and guaranteed that there would be no armed intervention on the part of the little entente, consisting of Roumania, Jugo-Slavia, and Czecho-Slovakia, against restoration of the Hapsburgs.

After the refusal of Admiral Horthy, the Hungarian regent, Easter Sunday at Budapest to concede to Charles' demand, the ex-emperor withdrew to Steinamanger, where the troops under Baron Lehar and from neighboring garrisons rallied to his support, asserting their loyalty and willingness to march against Budapest to throw out the "usurper" Horthy.

Has About 15,000 Men.

These forces are estimated at 15,000.

All day yesterday Count Andrassy, who, with a party of his followers, has joined Charles' cause, was occupied in receiving deputations arriving at Steinamanger to pay homage to the ex-emperor. Among these were many Hungarian ministers, including Dr. Graaz, the minister of foreign affairs.

The governor of West Hungary is reported to have joined the ex-emperor in declaring a military dictatorship under the leadership of Charles as king of Hungary. Charles has appointed Col. Lehar supreme commander of his troops.

Hungary is facing not only the threat of civil war but a battle with Austria, as the latter is determined by all means to prevent the planned restoration.

Leaders in German diplomatic circles express the opinion that all expressions of opposition to the former emperor on the part of France and Regent Horthy are merely comedy. To suppose Charles reëntered Hungary without some assurance from the entente they term childish.

"Of course," said one, "no official approval was given, but one need only recall Constantine's case to rest assured that the entente will do no more than protest."

Think Opposition Staged.

Strong opposition in neighboring states against a restoration is said to compel the playing of a clever game to give the appearance that the situation solely is an internal affair of Hungary's.

According to this version, ex-Emperor Charles is supported not only by Count Lehar's troops but also by those of France and Admiral Horthy.

COUNT JULIUS ANDRASSY.

The count, who was a minister under the monarchy, and Premier Teleki and Former Emperor Charles had an all-day conference on the conditions on which Charles would abdicate.

CALLED A FIASCO

VIENNA, March 31.—[By the Associated Press.]—Republicans in this city exultantly declare that the visit of former Emperor Charles to Budapest and the fiasco attending his attempt to regain power has dashed whatever chance may have existed for the restoration of the monarchy, either in Hungary or Austria. Monarchists reluctantly admit that a restoration seems impossible.

This is not only due to the disappointment which naturally follows failure, but as the details leak out there is a touch of the absurd attaching to the whole adventure which has reacted sharply against the former emperor. It also has depressed the legitimists, who, while not desiring Charles to return, hoped for the future restoration of the Hapsburgs in the person of his son.

"Will Never Leave Hungary Alive."

The dramatic declaration of Charles to his friends here Friday that he would never leave Hungary alive was repeated in Budapest when Admiral Horthy, the regent of Hungary, remonstrated against his presence in that country, yet Premier Teleky found him a few hours later fleeing toward the border and taking refuge in the palace of Bishop Mikes in Steinamanger, later praying that he be given shelter.

It appears that it was after Admiral Horthy had taken his determined stand in the Budapest palace interview against Charles' demand for restoration and the ministers summoned by Premier Teleky had begun arriving in the conference chamber that the ex-ruler, feeling the humiliation of his situation, became more insistent and declared he would never leave Hungary alive.

Charles then began pleading with some of those about him for support. He pointed to Gen. Lehar and exclaimed that there were three divisions of troops in West Hungary sworn to support him and ready to march upon Budapest. Gen. Lehar then turned to Gens. Pronay and Hayjas and asked: "What about your men?"

Before either could reply, Admiral Horthy turned sharply on the two commanders and told them that if they attempted to answer they would be arrested.

Realizing he was alone, Gen. Lehar left the room and telephoned to his troops at Raab not to move.

Then Charles demanded that the nation be given a chance to express its will. Admiral Horthy, it is said, agreed to this, but refused the next request that Charles made—that he be permitted to reside in his old palace at Godollo, fifteen miles outside of Budapest. Admiral Horthy declared Charles must go out of Hungary the way he came.

Thereupon the ex-emperor left and entered an automobile, which, with two other motor cars, took him, Gens. Lehar, Pronay, and Hayjas, and Premier Teleky back to Steinamanger.

Germany Ready to Pay Portion of Debts to U. S.

LONDON, March 31.—It is understood that Germany recently approached the United States government with a declaration that it fully recognized its obligation to make reparations to the full extent of its power, and that it was prepared to discuss the taking over a portion of the allied debts to the United States, provided all parties agreed to this, says a Reuter dispatch from Berlin.

ALLIES TAKE UP TEUTON REFUSAL TO PAY WAR BILL

PARIS, March 31.—[By the Associated Press.]—The allied foreign office, which deferred until after Easter negotiations regarding Germany's refusal to pay the installment of one billion gold marks for the reparations account on March 23 at the behest of the reparations committee, now is exchanging views on the whole situation with reference to Germany, it was announced here today.

The exchange of views, it was indicated, probably will culminate in another allied conference toward the end of April or the beginning of May.

A decision was reached today by the financial commission of the league of nations to send a commission to Austria, consisting of three persons, to investigate on relief plans in that country. The investigation will cover a period from five to six weeks. The decision was reached after Baron Eichhoff, the Austrian ambassador to France, had addressed the commission.

The personnel of the commission will be M. Gluckstadt, a Danish state councillor and banker; Sir D. Drummond Fraser, a British banker and financier, and J. A. Avenal, a French member of the supreme economic council.

RAID FIREWORKS MAN'S HOME AND FIND EXPLOSIVES

Owners Sought in Fatal Blast Elude Police.

Up to 7 o'clock last night the neighbors of Hyman Nevis, at 1324 South Harding avenue, were unaware they had been living above and beside a potential volcano. Then the whole neighborhood was aroused when Detective Sergeants Ray Gilso and George Homer of the state's attorney's office, led by R. N. Perbohner of the state fire marshal's staff, swooped down on Nevis' basement and seized ten cases of torpedoes.

WILLIAM FITZMARTIN.

Nevis was a salesman for the Singer & Schaffer company, and the explosives were a part of the same stock which exploded last Tuesday, rocking the entire Ghetto and taking at least six lives. The combustibles were stored only a few feet from Nevis' furnace, and separated from it only by a thin board partition. An unprotected gas jet burned overhead.

The explosives were removed to the Fillmore street station, over the protest of the police there.

Tried to Get Rid of Them.

Nevis said that the night after the Singer & Schaffer explosion he offered a man $35 to remove the torpedoes from his basement and dump them into the river, but that the man disappeared in his flivver at high speed and hasn't seen him since.

Earlier in the day 104 cases of fireworks consigned to the Singer & Shaffer compnay were seized in the Pennsylvania and Panhandle freight terminals near Taylor street by Investigators Thomas Fitzgerald and Edward Geary of Fire Attorney Shirley T. High's office.

The seizures followed evidence at the hearing before State Fire Marshal John G. Gambor, tending to show that William Singer, one of the missing proprietors of the camouflage "notions store," was the head of an illicit "fireworks trust" which maintained a warehouse at Midlothian and operated through scores of small dealers throughout the city.

Bought from Du Pont Firm.

According to Assistant State's Attorney George E. Gorman, records and invoices have disclosed that the Singer & Schaffer company made purchases from the Du Pont de Nemours company, manufacturers of high explosives, but the exact product purchased can not be determined until Singer and his partner, Nathan Schaffer, are produced as witnesses.

Their attorney, Benedict J. Short, failed to produce them at yesterday's hearing. Mr. Short told Fire Attorney High he did not know where they were.

William Fitzmartin, a witness to the disaster, said he saw employés of the fireworks firm throw torpedoes against the wall of the warehouse in sport.

Jacob Zimring, 3352 Ogden avenue, bookkeeper for the Singer & Schaffer company, was ordered taken into custody when Assistant State's Attorney Robert E. McMillen, conducting the examination, was convinced he was withholding important evidence.

All of the evidence gathered will be presented to the April grand jury and indictments will be asked charging Singer and Schaffer with manslaughter.

A subcommittee of the council building committee, consisting of Ald. Kavanagh, Fick, and Horan, has summoned Edward Margolis, 339 South Central Park avenue, to appear before it at 11 o'clock this morning and repeat his charges made to the coroner's jury that a fire inspector had been "fixed" by Schaffer.

Seventeen merchants have subscribed $3,000 to the relief fund for those made destitute by the explosion. Irving Klein of the L. Klein company was elected chairman of the relief committee.

A NEIGHBORLY VOLCANO

When the home of Hyman Nevis, at 1342 South Harding avenue, was raided yesterday by investigators seeking evidence in connection with Tuesday's fatal fireworks explosion, eight cases of torpedoes were found stored in close proximity to the furnace. Nevis is a salesman for the Singer & Schaffer company, whose stock of explosives blew up. The torpedoes were stored behind the partition at the right of the picture, where the heat of the furnace might have exploded them at any time. If the blast had occurred, Nevis' home and possibly several others would have been razed. From left to right the figures in the picture are H. A. Martin of the fire attorney's office; G. P. McNally, deputy state fire marshal; Nevis, and Detective Sergeant Ray Gilso. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

BERLIN GIRL, 18, QUITS RICH HOME TO LEAD RIOTERS

Bullet Wound Fails to Break Her Spirit.

BY GEORGE SELDES.

[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BERLIN, March 31.—Mrs. Gabrielle Kaetzler, the 18 year old daughter of a former admiral and a niece of the late Field Marshal von der Goltz, received THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE correspondent today in the public ward of a Berlin hospital, where she had been taken after being wounded when police fired on a party of Communists she was leading in last Saturday's demonstration.

Mrs. Kaetzler said she felt no bitterness against the police. She sought to explain the present uprising in Germany and her reason for leaving the luxurious home of her parents to join the working class Communist party. She is at present employed as a teacher in a school organized by industrial councils for the workers.

Blames Reactionary Agents.

"I am not a criminal, nor are my comrades who are taking part in the demonstrations and fighting throughout Germany. The Communists are not responsible for the bombing outrages. They are instigated by German reactionary agents in an effort to convince the entente that disarmament should not be carried out.

"The German workers, who learned how to handle explosives during the war, are not stupid enough to make so many failures now. Nine out of every ten explosions last week succeeded only in making a terrific noise.

"The German workers are not protesting against the allied indemnity claims. We are willing to give reparations to reconstruct the destroyed areas in northern France and in Belgium.

Fight Against "Enslavement."

"But we are rebelling against enslavement by German capitalists and international bankers who wish to reestablish the ten and twelve hour day, reduce wages, and throw the burden of meeting the reparations on our shoulders.

"The workers' taxes are being taken out of their weekly pay envelopes, while the owners and speculators are falsifying their accounts and smuggling their wealth abroad.

"The present revolt is a mere beginning. The fight will continue to grow more bloody until the capitalistic system collapses."

MEN WHO TRIED TO 'GET SLACKER' FREED BY BADEN

Berlin Asks Release of Neaf and Zimmer.

BY JOHN CLAYTON.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

COBLENZ, March 31.—Carl Neaf and Frank Zimmer are free men.

The prison sentence against the two Americans for attempting to arrest Grover C. Bergdoll have been remitted by the Badish government and they leave Mosbach tonight or tomorrow morning for Coblenz.

The German authorities declared that the Badish government acted on the request of the German federal government at Berlin and the men were released contingent upon their future "good behavior."

Since Neaf and Zimmer are permitted to return immediately to the occupied territory, where neither Berlin nor Baden has jurisdiction, the decision amounts to complete pardon.

Germans to Act as Escorts.

The men will be escorted to the occupied area near Mannheim by German police and there will be met by representatives of the American forces in Germany.

Negotiations for the release of Neaf and Zimmer were begun by Gen. Allen, commanding the American forces in Germany, as soon as he received news of the conviction. Neaf's wife returned to Coblenz from Mosbach, where the two men were jailed, this morning and was delighted by the news of their release.

The Rhineland doughboys are preparing for a big welcome and ovation for their comrades, who will be brought by automobile to Coblenz.

WASHINGTON GETS NEWS.

Washington, D. C., March 31.—The war department today announced that Carl Neaf and Frank Zimmer, the two Americans imprisoned in Germany for an attempt to kidnap Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, American draft deserter, were released at noon today.

The release was ordered by the Berlin foreign office, Brig. Gen. H. A. Allen, commanding at Coblenz, reported.

The German commissioner at Coblenz after a telephone conversation with Berlin notified Gen. Allen at noon today that the sentences had been remitted "pending good behavior" and that the men probably would reach Coblenz tomorrow.

JEALOUS WIFE RUBS ACID INTO TEACHER'S EYES

Jerome, Ariz., March 31.—Mrs Clarence V. Hopkins, wife of a mining engineer, was rushed to the Prescott county jail this morning to avoid violence against her, following the throwing of acid into the face of Lucille Gallagher, a school teacher here.

Mrs. Hopkins entered a restaurant where Miss Gallagher and another teacher were eating breakfast. She went to the kitchen, and, according to witnesses, took the bottle of acid from her muff, poured its contents into a tumbler and went to the booth where the two teachers were seated.

Mrs. Hopkins seized Miss Gallagher by the hair, pushed her hat back and poured the acid into her eyes, rubbing it in with her hand. Her hand was severely burned.

During the war Mr. Hopkins, Miss Gallagher, and another local teacher were in Washington doing war work. While there, the three had a dinner and theater party. After they returned to Jerome, Mrs. Hopkins attempted to horsewhip the other teacher, after which Mrs. Hopkins left the city. She returned only a short time ago.

Chamberlain Re-elected Without Opposition

BIRMINGHAM, England, March 31.—Austen Chamberlain, who recently was elected leader of the house of commons, resigning the chancellorship of the exchequer and being appointed lord of the privy seal, was formally re-elected to parliament today from the west division of Birmingham. He was unopposed at the polls. The changes in his official status necessitated his seeking reëlection to parliament.

WASHINGTON NEWS —IN BRIEF—

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 31.

Plans to alleviate the critical financial condition of the railroads were taken up today by President Harding, who conferred for two hours with Chairman Clark of the interstate commerce commission and Chairman Barton of the railway labor board.

At a conference today between Secretary of War Weeks, Secretary of Commerce Hoover and Postmaster General Hays, steps were taken to improve and unify the various aviation services under government control.

Lumber, with the exception of a few varieties in which the Pacific coast states are in competition with Canada, will remain on the free list in the new tariff law, according to a tentative decision reached today by a subcommittee of the house ways and means committee.

Relinquishment of the grocery business of the packers has resulted in lessening instead of increasing competition in the sidelines of Wilson & Co. of Chicago, according to a complaint filed today with the federal trade commission.

Release of all "political prisoners" will be urged upon President Harding by delegates from the general amnesty committee, who will visit the White House April 13.

PLAN NEW DRIVE TO FREE DEBS AND MANY MORE

Washington, D. C., March 31.—[Special.]—Another drive for the release of all "political prisoners" will be started April 13, the second anniversary of the imprisonment of Eugene V. Debs. Then a delegation, including Morris Hillquit of New York, Seymour Stedman of Chicago, Jackson Ralston of the American Federation of Labor, and Roger Baldwin of the Civil Liberties union, will visit the White House to urge President Harding to proclaim a general amnesty.

According to James H. Maurer, president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, it is to the "everlasting disgrace and shame of our government that there should be any such thing as a political prisoner in the United States nearly two and a half years after the armistice was signed."

The petition to be presented to congress is said to contain more names than any other petition ever presented in the history of the nation.

French Withdraw Aid from General Wrangel

PARIS, March 31.—[By the Associated Press.]—The French government, in accordance with the notice given several weeks ago to General Baron Wrangel, former anti-bolshevik leader in South Russia, ceases today to furnish provisions and other supplies for the remnant of Gen. Wrangel's army encamped before Constantinople.

FOREIGN NEWS —IN BRIEF—

VIENNA.—Hungary announces that former Emperor Charles, failing in royalist coup, will be sent back to Switzerland.

BUENOS AIRES.—The populace is excited over charges of graft against Minister of Finance Salaberry which were discussed in the chamber of deputies.

BERLIN.—Eighteen year old niece of Field Marshal von der Goltz, who was wounded by police while leading a Communist riot, tells TRIBUNE reactionaries are responsible for violence.

LONDON.—In connection with the coal crisis the British government has proclaimed a "state of emergency."

BELFAST.—Prominent Unionists of south Ireland have interviewed Cardinal Logue in Belfast in effort to open peace parleys between the Irish republican parliament and Great Britain.

CORK.—Fourteen police are missing following attack upon the barracks at Ross Carbery by civilians.

COBLENZ.—Carl Neaf and Frank Zimmer, sentenced to prison for attempting to kidnap Grover Bergdoll have been freed by the Baden authorities at the request of the Berlin government.

DIES; SIXTEEN CHILDREN SURVIVE.

Brainerd, Minn., March 31.—Peter B. Lasher, 72, father of nineteen children and civil war veteran, is dead at his home here. He is survived by sixteen children and his widow, his second wife; one sister, thirty grandchildren and one great grandchild.

CHINESE TROOPS ENTER MONGOLIA ON BANDIT HUNT

PEKING, March 30.—[By the Associated Press.]—Two divisions of Chinese troops have been ordered to Urga, the most important city in northern Mongolia, to combat bandits and restore the military prestige of China in that district.

It is explained that China will not attempt to resume the jurisdiction over Mongolia which was established in 1918 by Gen. Hsu Shu-Cheng, then resident governor of Inner Mongolia, the present government never having fully approved of his action. The foreign office declares China will abide by the agreement with Russia relative to Mongolia which was reached in 1913.

FEW BIG LINES, WELL RUN, URGED BY RAIL EXPERTS

B. & O. Chief and Federal Official Make Same Plea

New York, March 31.—Consolidation of the country's railroads into a limited number of larger systems was advocated by Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, and Edgar E. Clark, chairman of the interstate commerce commission, at a dinner of the Railway Business association here tonight.

The work of the railroad war board before the railroads were taken over by the government showed the success of that plan under private ownership, Mr. Willard declared. The board was composed of five railroad presidents, and increased railroad traffic by 127,000,000,000 ton miles over the traffic carried two years previous, he added.

For Few Big Systems.

"The new plan contemplates consolidation of the roads into a limited number of large systems, under which every reasonable degree of competition of service will be preserved," Mr. Clark said. "I wish it were possible to hope for consummation of that purpose at an early date.

"Competition in rates is but a figure of speech," he added. "As a matter of fact, railroads competing for traffic must charge the same rate and the only real competition is that of service."

Both speakers agreed that criticism of the transportation act has become too general and too little understanding or cooperation with the act's aims has been offered.

Not Real Test of Law.

"The fact that, from rates fixed in accordance with the provisions of the act, the net earnings of the carriers at the present time are disappointing, is not due to any fault or failure of the act," Mr. Willard said, "but largely to the decline in business and excessive cost of operation.

"I am inclined to think that under the present law wages of railway workers as a whole may be somewhat higher in the future than would be the case were there no such law, but even so, if the public is thereby insured freedom from interruption of service, the immunity so purchased will be well worth the price."

Mr. Clark declared that "until the foundation has been laid for widening the margin between revenue and cost of operating, it is difficult to find justification for an attempt at a general reduction in rates." That margin was only 8.7 last December, he said.

Opposed to Meeting.

A. H. Smith, president of the New York Central lines, announced tonight the road could not recognize "the right or propriety" of the executive committee of the National Association of Owners of Railroads' Securities to invite heads of the "big four" railroad brotherhoods to a proposed conference to discuss the railroad labor difficulties.

Shoot Communist Leader at Berlin Police Offices

"WORKERS" WANT COLLEGE FOR NEW "SOCIAL ORDER"

Meet to Draw Up Its Curriculum.

Katonah, N. Y., March 31.—Labor leaders and "educationalists," who state they are for a new social order, met here today in Brookwood school, behind closed doors, to plan the founding of the first workers' college in America.

"The plans to be discussed," said the official announcement of the conference, "are based on four fundamental tenets:

"First, that a new social order is needed and is coming—in fact, that is already on the way.

"Second, that education will not only hasten it, but will reduce to a minimum and perhaps do away entirely with a resort to violent methods.

"Third, that the workers are the ones who will usher in this new order.

"Fourth, that there is immediate need for a workers' college with a broad curriculum, located amidst health country surroundings where the students can apply themselves to the task in hand."

Among those who will participate in the meeting, it was stated, are John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor and former chairman of the steel organization committee of the A. F. of L.; James Maurer, president of the state federation of labor of Pennsylvania; William Z. Foster, leader of the 1919 steel strike; John Brophy, district president, United Mine Workers of America; Jay G. Brown of Seattle, international president of the International Timber workers, who succeeded Foster as secretary of the steel strike committee; A. J. Muste, executive secretary of the Amalgamated Textile Workers of America, and Joseph Schlossberg, secretary of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America.

NEW REALTORS' RUSE TO OUST TENANTS BARED

"Remodeling of Flats" Is Used as Lever.

While tenants protesting rent increases were being advised to sit tight and fight any eviction proceedings that may be brought against them today by landlords, officials of the Chicago Tenants' Protective league gave warning of a new subterfuge which they declare real estate agents are using to get possession of apartments.

"Tenants all over the city are receiving letters from agents in which they are told apartments not under a new lease by April 1 are to be remodeled and they will have to vacate unless they sign up at once," said E. F. Hammond, treasurer of the league. "It is carefully stated that the remodeling will not affect those who sign up at the new rentals, but that those apartments which are not leased will be torn up on May 1.

"Among real estate men who are using this 'gag' is E. E. Tolman, agent for the building at 714-26 Waveland avenue. We advise tenants who receive such letters to sit tight."

Criticize Senator Barbour.

Criticism of State Senator James J. Barbour for the phrasing of a letter which he sent in answer to appeals by tenants to support the Kessinger city rent commission bill was made by the league. That part of the letter with which the tenants find fault reads:

"I cannot, of course, reconcile the divergent views of my constituents, but strive to do my duty as I see it. Some have written letters to me of a nature to impel me to say that neither the future nor the past attitude of any number of persons will deter me from acting as my own conscience and thought dictate, and I am always willing to accept the consequences of so acting."

"Senator Barbour seems to forget that he is in the senate by grace of the views of his constituents, and ought to carry out their bidding," said A. E. Jessurun, secretary of the league.

Urges Board's Indictment.

Indictment of the Chicago Real Estate board under the anti-trust and "anti-boodle" laws was advocated before the league officials by C. Russell Bartlett, a retired attorney and real estate man, who is blind.

Another victory was gained by tenants when Judge Denis E. Sullivan in the Superior court denied a petition for a temporary injunction to restrain tenants of a six apartment building at 914-16 Windsor avenue from displaying "unfair" signs in their windows.

ANARCHISTS WHO DYNAMITED MILAN THEATER JAILED

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

MILAN, March 31.—According to the Milan police, two members of the anarchist group who bombed the Diana theater recently have been arrested.

Antonio Pietropaulo, a student, now in jail here, was arrested a few minutes after the Diana theater disaster while on his way to the office of the Socialist paper, Avanti, where it is said he planned to carry out another coup. In his possession the police found several bombs.

The police say the supposed attempt against the Avanti was planned as a protest because this paper had not urged the release of Malatesta, the anarchist chieftain.

The other anarchist charged in connection with bombing the theater is named Astolfi. He was captured the same night as Pietropaulo while attempting to blow up the electric plant supplying Milan with light and power.

PITY THE POOR SAILOR!

The horny handed follower of the deep is supposed to have a tough time when actively pursuing his chosen vocation. But it looks as if he'd been putting something over on the sympathetic public. The intervals he spends in port are a sufficient compensation for an indefinite number of hypothetical trips to Davy Jones' locker—if the ocular evidence which will be presented to patrons of the Actors' fund benefit this afternoon counts for anything. Young women of social prominence will portray the sailors' sweethearts. From left to right in the picture are Mrs. Leander McCormick as "New York," Miss Jane Scriven as "Dublin," Miss Bertha Honore as "Genoa," and Miss Mary Rend as "Havana."

Sail Ho!

A SCORE of society maids and matrons will appear as sailors' sweethearts from the various ports of the world at the Actors' Fund benefit this afternoon at the Auditorium.

Among the "ports" will be Miss Mary Rend (Havana), who will use a cocktail shaker for castanets; Miss Sarah Hinde, Miss Mabel Linn, Miss Jane Scriven, Miss Betty Quick, Miss Marion Farnsworth, Mrs. John S. Miller Jr., Mrs. Owen B. Jones, Mrs. Donald Douglas, Mrs. William A. Fuller, Miss Emita Jewett, Mrs. Francis P. Butler, Mrs. Leander McCormick, Mrs. Howard Linn, Mrs. Austin H. Niblack, Miss Dorothy Keeley, Miss Bertha Honoré, and Miss Marjorie Kind.

Among the boxholders are Miss Elizabeth Cudahy, Mrs. John Crerar, Mrs. Charles W. Folds, Mrs. William R. Linn, Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, Mrs. William J. Chalmers, and Mrs. Tracy C. Drake.

Pat Crowe Bobs Up to Ask U. S. Wayward Boys' Farm

New York, March 31.—[Special.]—Pat Crowe of Chicago called at police headquarters today. COMMITTEE ON IRISH QUESTION MAKES REPORT

Blames English Government; Britons Reply.

Washington, D. C., March 31.—The commission of the American Committee of One Hundred investigating the Irish question made public its report today.

Declaring it was handicapped in "lacking the British side of the case," except as gathered from documents, and admitting the report is ex parte in spite of efforts to hear all sides, the commission declares, "the imperial British army in Ireland has been guilty of proved excesses, not incomparable in degree and kind with those alleged, by the Bryce report on Belgian atrocities, to have been committed by the imperial German army."

The report further asserts that "the Irish people are deprived of the protection of British law, to which they would be entitled as subjects of the British king; are deprived of the moral protection granted by international law, to which they would be entitled as belligerents; are at the mercy of imperial British forces which, acting contrary both to all law and to standards of human conduct, have instituted in Ireland 'a terror.'"

Using Religious Animosities.

Of widespread interest will be the supplementary report of the commission dealing with the religious aspects of the question, which, despite the commission is largely made up of non-Catholics, finds:

"1. Outside of a part of Ulster Catholics and Protestants live in peace and harmony and their political opinions are not primarily a matter of religion.

"2. Even in Ulster religious bigotry is not by any means wholly spontaneous, but is artificially stirred up by those whose economic and political interests are served by dividing the people.

"3. While it obviously lies beyond our province to pass final judgment upon the various aspects of the Ulster issue, we have not only a right but a duty as American Protestants to denounce the degradation of religion by such pogroms as occurred last summer. Upon this subject we owe it to our fellow religionists both in America and in Ulster to speak plainly."

British Embassy Replies.

The British embassy here today gave out a statement in answer to the committee of one hundred report calling the report "biased and misleading" and "entitled to exactly the amount of weight which should be given to any judgment based entirely upon the evidence of ex parte statements and put forward for the most part by persons admittedly holding extreme views."

"That the crown forces [in Ireland] under almost incredible provocation patiently borne during many months have on some occasions broken the bonds of discipline and committed unjustifiable acts of violence is not denied," the embassy statement continued, "but to say that such acts have been ordered, encouraged, or condoned by the British government is absolutely false. The interests which suffer most by acts of indiscipline are those of the government itself."

DETAILS IN REPORT

The Committee of One Hundred report, getting down to details, makes the following specific charges of a reign of terror in Ireland:

"1. The British government has introduced into Ireland a force of at least 78,000 men, many of them youthful and inexperienced, and some of them convicts; and has incited that force to unbridled violence.

"2. The British forces have indiscriminately killed innocent men, women, and children; have tortured and shot prisoners, adopting the subterfuges of 'refusal to halt' and 'attempting to escape'; and have attributed to alleged 'Sinn Fein extremists' the British assassination of prominent Irish republicans.

"3. House burning and destruction of villages and cities by forces under British officers have been countenanced and ordered by officials of the British government; and elaborate provision by gasoline sprays and bombs has been made in a number of instances for systematic incendiarism.

Create Reign of Starvation.

"4. A campaign for the destruction of the means of existence of the Irish people has been conducted by the burning of factories, creameries, crops, and farm implements, and the shooting of farm animals. This campaign is carried on regardless of the political views of their owners, and results in widespread and acute suffering.

"5. Acting under proclamations issued by the competent military authorities, hostages are carried by forces exposed to the fire of the republican army; fines are levied upon towns and villages as punishment for alleged offenses of individuals; private property is destroyed in reprisals for acts with which the owners have no connection; and the civilian population is subjected to an inquisition upon the theory that individuals are in possession of information valuable to the military forces of Great Britain.

"6. This 'terror' has failed to reëstablish imperial British civil government in Ireland. Throughout the greater part of Ireland British courts have ceased to function; local, county, and city governments refuse to recognize British authority; and British civil officials fulfill no function of service to the Irish people.

"7. In spite of the British 'terror' the majority of the Irish people have sanctioned by ballot the Irish republic, give their allegiance to it, pay taxes to it, and respect the decisions of its courts and of its civil officials."

Beginning of Present Strife.

The commission, in referring to the Ulster rebellion of 1914, which, it says, was started by the Tories to fight home rule, charges that Carson and other leaders who had imported arms from Germany and had set up a provisional government in Belfast, were forgiven and promoted to high offices in the British government.

"After this," the report says, "in 1916, Irish poets, teachers, and leaders, with less than 1,000 followers, rose in rebellion and declared Ireland's independence. Confronted with the Irish declaration of independence, the British government poured additional troops into Ireland. The rebellion was crushed in April, 1916. The British government then continued to pour troops into Ireland. The Irish to an increasing degree were deprived of civil and social liberty. Such British rule lasted until Dec. 14, 1918, when, at the conclusion of a war avowedly fought for the rights of small nations, the Irish people, in the general election, held under British auspices, gave the indorsement of their suffrage to the Irish republic, which was the election issue in Ireland. In fulfillment of their pledge the elected representatives of the Irish republic met in congress (the Dail Eireann) at Dublin, organized as a government, nominated officers, and proceeded to function (Jan. 21, 1919), and an army known as the Irish republican army was created, equipped with distinctive uniforms, and drilled openly."

Two Kinds of Killings.

Two kinds of "killings" have characterized the Irish republican warfare, according to the report. First, the casualties resulting from the Sinn Feiners' attempts to obtain arms and ammunition in attacking motor lorries and police barracks, and, second, the secret "execution" of spies, traitors, and enemies of the Irish republic who have been adjudged "guilty" by its courts and sentenced to death. It is admitted that the accused never appear before these Sinn Fein tribunals. Minor offenses are punishable by sentencing the guilty to enforced absence from their home towns and residences for a stated period in "an unknown locality." The commission condemns the so-called legalized killings.

Many instances of alleged atrocities and destruction of property by the British troops are presented in the report as testified to at the time of the hearings last winter.

Compares "Casualties."

Regarding casualties, the commission says that it is justified in concluding that "not more than 600 of the British have been killed in Ireland from May, 1916, to December, 1920. These 600 casualties would seem to have occurred in a force of 78,000 during a period of four and one-half years, it is pointed out.

On the other hand, according to lists compiled by the Irish republican government and submitted to the commission, more than 200 unarmed Irish civilians were killed by the military and police during 1920 alone. This number, it was said, included six women, twelve children, ten old men, and two priests, but did not include persons killed in the fighting. The commission says it does not vouch for the exactness of the figures, but "direct testimony," it says, showed the killing of civilians in 1920 ran into "many hundreds."

The testimony attributed to the British forces approximately 45,000 raids, entailing "wreckage of property, robbery, murder of citizens, brutality to priests and women and children, and indiscriminate flogging."

The Religious Feature.

Taking up the religious feature, the supplementary report cites that all of the members of the commission, excepting United States Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts, who were chosen by the committee of one hundred to conduct the inquiry are Protestants. These members are Jane Addams, Hull house, Chicago; Frederick C. Howe, former United States commissioner of immigration; James H. Maurer, president American Federation of Labor of Pennsylvania; Maj. Oliver P. Newman, formerly commissioner of the District of Columbia; United States Senator George W. Norris, and the Rev. Norman Thomas of New York.

Referring to the Belfast disorders beginning July 21, 1920, in which by the end of August fifty-six persons were killed, the commission observed that "these riots between Protestants and Catholics, in which Protestants were the aggressors, partook of the character of Russian pogrom against the Jews."

"The Ulster pogroms," the report continued, "were not primarily due to a spontaneous flareup of smoldering bigotry, but were rather promoted by those whose economic and political interests were opposed both to strong labor unionism and to Irish republicanism. Certain manufacturers and unionist politicians had taken alarm at the solidarity of labor, Protestant and Catholic, shown in the great shipyard strike of 1919."

OFFICIAL BRITISH REPLY

In its reply to the commission's report the British embassy's statement says:

"Ireland, so far from being a devastated country, is the most prosperous part of the United Kingdom and probably of the whole of western Europe. Separate trade statistics for the various parts of the United Kingdom, forming as they do one fiscal unit, are not readily available, but a reliable index to the general prosperity of the country can be found in the returns of deposits in joint stock banks, which have increased as follows: In 1914, £147,000,000; 1919, £166,000,000; 1920, £200,000,000.

"This prosperity continues and is only affected in a very minor degree—and that mainly in the north—by the general industrial depression.

Ignores Assassinations.

"The report of the committee lays stress on so-called reprisals and ignores the fact that before even the Irish propagandists suggested in September, 1920, that reprisals were taking place 92 policemen, 12 soldiers, and 23 civilians had been murdered in cold blood and 159 policemen, 56 soldiers, and 74 civilians wounded, in most cases without a chance of defending themselves. By the same date 1,200 buildings had been burned and wholly or partly destroyed.

"Sinn Fein has established its position by the terror of the revolver, which has silenced the moderate opinion of the vast majority of Irishmen. It desires to claim for the Irish republican army the status of belligerents, ignoring the fact that the members of that force constantly, indeed invariably, violate the laws of war as recognized by every civilized community, in a manner which according to the same laws justifies the penalty of death for all offenders.

Alleges Methods of Stealth.

"Their methods are those of the assassin, their deadly work is done by stealth by persons in the garb of civilians, who move about under the protection of the law until the moment comes for the attack and who immediately after killing their victim revert to the aspect and demeanor of peaceful citizens. Expanding bullets are frequently employed by these Sinn Feiners. Increasing pressure by crown forces has succeeded in forcing them more and more to abandon the methods of individual assassination in favor of organized attack by armed bands, but the furtive character of their activities still continues.

"The total ration strength of the crown forces is 61,000. The antecedents of all recruits are carefully investigated and no man of known bad character is retained for a moment.

"Reports of torturing of prisoners have been completely disproved wherever attempt was made to bring forward tangible evidence.

"The votes polled by the Sinn Fein or republican party at the general election in 1918 represented, in spite of widespread intimidation, less than half a million out of an electorate of nearly 2,000,000. In addition, they secured twenty-three uncontested seats, but the total electorate of the constituents concerned, which was by no means entirely Sinn Fein, was less than 450,000."

BETTER HEALTH THEIR GOAL

Anna Schuka (at right) feels the pulse of Louise Kotva as an illustration of the work of the Red Cross better health class among girl employes of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company. Fifty girls received instruction yesterday in home nursing.

A PEACE time program in better health has been established by the American Red Cross. Among the first to take advantage of it are the girl employés of the People's Gas Light and Coke company. About fifty have joined the class, which is under instruction of Mrs. M. R. Thornburg. There are fifteen lessons in ordinary home nursing.

MARY M'SWINEY BLAMES BRITAIN FOR WORLD WAR

Springfield, Ill., March 31.—Miss Mary MacSwiney, sister of the late lord mayor of Cork, pleaded for recognition of the Irish republic in the house chamber today. The galleries were packed for Miss MacSwiney's reception.

Members and visitors arose to their feet when she entered. Ahead of her two standard bearers carried the Stars and Stripes and the flag of the "Irish republic."

A minute later Gov. Small and Secretary of State Emmerson walked down the aisle to a position on the speakers' platform.

"Illinois is always pleased to give hearing to any cause; therefore we are pleased to have Miss MacSwiney with us today to give her message," Speaker Dahlberg said.

"We stand today exactly where America stood when Franklin went to France for recognition," Miss MacSwiney said.

Miss MacSwiney declared Sir Edward Carson and his Ulster volunteers were the only pro-Germans in Ireland, but if the Irish republicans could have obtained guns from Germany they would have been entitled to do so.

"England's difficulty was Ireland's opportunity," she added. "What difference does it make to an oppressed nation whether the Hun that is oppressing them is of the German or English variety?"

"England went into the war not for any high and holy motive but to destroy a mighty commercial rival. England prepared for war to our certain knowledge from 1902 down.

"There is no such thing as a moderate Sinn Feiner," she said.

"You are at the parting of the ways," she told the legislators. She said they must stand for "self-determination" or "shake hands in oppression across the sea with England."

No Candy Can Be Better Than the Ingredients of Which It Is Made

The reputation which it has always been the distinction of Martha Washington Candies to enjoy is no greater than the superior quality which it has always been the reputation of Martha Washington Candies to contain.

Martha Washington Candies HAVE achieved greatness—but it is the inevitable reward for the years which have been spent pioneering in new fields and developing new ideas in the making of home-made candy.

Its makers have pressed forward along untrodden ways which were destined to become well beaten paths, once the pioneer had blazed the trail.

They have advanced new ideas which were destined to serve as an inspiration to the uninspired.

They have adopted policies which differed so radically from customary ethics that the old-timers shook their heads in dismay.

And with each successive year of successful candy making—with each announcement of further perfection in an art already far in the lead—they have established higher standards which are destined to add new impetus to the efforts of those who aspire to a share of their prestige.

IRISH BLOW UP POLICE BARRACKS NORTH OF CORK

Blast Kills 6, Injures 12; 2 Escape.

BY JOHN LESTER.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

DUBLIN, March 31.—The Rosscarbery police barracks, north of Cork, were blown up this morning during an attack by a large civilian force, according to a dispatch received at Dublin castle today.

Six police were reported killed and twelve wounded seriously. Later reports of unofficial nature declared that loss of life among the attacked garrison was much heavier than at first thought and said that only two police of the garrison of twenty escaped the burning building and made their way safely to the barracks at Clonakilty.

Put Up Valiant Defense.

The front wall was blown off the Rosscarbery barracks early in the attack, which was launched at 2 o'clock, and almost immediately the building burst into flames. The police defended their position until driven out by the fire.

While they were bombing roads leading into the town the attackers were surprised by military reinforcements and a battle ensued. It is reported, however, that they escaped with light casualties.

Two minor attacks occurred in Dublin last night. In Bolton street two children were slightly wounded by fragments when bombs were thrown at a military lorry.

Two Men Attack Tank.

In Merion square two civilians made a reckless attack with revolvers upon an armored car. They escaped unwounded despite a stream of machine gun bullets sent their way by the military.

According to Dublin castle, there have been 1,000 casualties in Ireland during the last three months. It is stated that 490 persons were killed in this period, of which 180 were members of crown forces.

In a running fight between military and rebels at Ballybrill, County Limerick, yesterday one rebel was killed and several, as well as one auxilliary, were wounded.

Patrick Coughry was fatally shot by police in Thurles while evading arrest and Frederick Stenson, a land agent, was shot dead near Bandon.

NEW MOVE FOR PEACE.

BELFAST, March 31.—[By the Associated Press.]—Cardinal Logue, primate of Ireland, was interviewed Tuesday by Sir William Goulding and three other southern Irish Unionists, with the object, it is understood, of securing the opening of peace negotiations between the Irish republican parliament and the British government.

The interview took place at Dundalk, County Louth.

THE WIDOW'S MIGHT

The widow's mite was the widow's might yesterday in the eyes of the law. Mrs. E. Bruns, a widow with three children, has been an invalid for four years and therefore was unable to come downtown to the court of Judge Victor P. Arnold to establish her claims for a mother's modest pension. The judge, recognizing this fact, moved his court bodily to her little cottage home and there heard the testimony that resulted in an award of a pension of $25 a month to Mrs. Bruns. The picture shows the "court" in session. Left to right, standing—Bailiff M. Bernstein, Deputy Clerk E. C. Vallette, Chief Deputy Clerk Edward Arkema. JUSTICE MOVES COURT TO HELP MOTHER OF THREE

Goes to Widow's Home to Grant Pension.

The Juvenile court was moved for a few hours yesterday from the ninth floor of the County building to a little house at 1419 East Sixty-third street. There, with the usual clerks, bailiffs, and witnesses in attendance, Judge Victor P. Arnold heard testimony and awarded a mother's pension to Mrs. E. Bruns, the mother of three children. Mrs. Bruns, who is a widow, has been bedridden for four years and was unable to come downtown to court.

In entering the order granting her $25 a month Judge Arnold expressed his regret at his inability to make it more, and voiced the hope that the legislature would act favorably on a pending bill to increase mothers' pensions.

After Bailiff M. Bernstein had rapped for order and Deputy Clerk E. C. Vallette had announced that court was open, the judge examined Mrs. Bruns and her two sons, Richard, 11 years old, and Herman, 9. A third son, Allen, is in the municipal tuberculosis sanitarium.

"My husband, who died five and a half years ago, was in the electrical contracting business," Mrs. Bruns testified. "He died of tuberculosis. I had been able to help him with the business while he was ill. After his death I kept it up and made money. I, too, became ill, however, and when I went to the hospital, expecting to stay two or three weeks, I turned the business over to two men I had working for me. I was in the hospital four months. When I got out these men had run through everything."

"I wish I could give you more than the $25 a month the law allows," the judge said, "as yours is a deserving case. I am hoping the legislature will increase the amount of mothers' pensions."

CANAL WOULD SAVE WHEAT NOW ROTTING, HE SAYS

Detroit, Mich., March 31.—Benefits of the proposed lakes to ocean waterways to the grain producing communities of Canada and the United States were described to the international joint commission here today by Congressman O. L. Larsen of Duluth, Minn.

"If we were to figure simply saving in the cost of freight per bushel of wheat by combined rail and water haul to Europe we would be able to pay for the canal from that savings," he said.

In North Dakota, Montana, Idaho, and other states, he asserted, the grain crop is less than half its potential possibilities. "But what is the benefit of raising crops to have them rot on the ground because exorbitant freight rates and rail congestion make it impossible to ship?" he asked.

"American and Canadian farmers, with a low yield and a high wage," he added, "cannot continue to compete with European farmers with their large yield and low wages if the industry is throttled by high freight rates."

NO POLITICAL ENTANGLEMENTS FOR US.

Reports of an attempt by former Emperor Charles to achieve a monarchist coup d'état in Hungary, where monarchist sentiment is strong, bring the latest proof of the dangerous instability of affairs in that unfortunate region. Meanwhile Mr. Wales of THE TRIBUNE Foreign News Service cables that the effects of Balkan and near east politics are increasingly felt in Europe. Since the restoration of Constantine French sentiment toward Greece has cooled and there are signs that the contention of interest and the old resentments of the Balkan and Ægean region are intensifying rather than declining.

Greece is carrying on costly military operations against the Turkish nationalists and has declared a blockade, accusing the Italians of giving secret aid to the latter. That does not please Italy, and, as Mr. Wales suggests, the possibilities of a diplomatic crisis in case an Italian ship is attacked by a Greek blockade ship are not pleasant.

Roumania is furious because she has not equal representation with Greece and Turkey on the Dardanelles commission. The Bulgarians are sullenly biding their time for a blow at Greece with Thrace as motive. The Greeks are charged with plotting with Jugo-Slavia for a new deal in Albania which the Italians would oppose. As for the greater powers, France, as we have known for some time, bitterly resents British movements in Syria.

Thus this whole region, the fertile seed plot of past wars, promises as much as ever a crop of future misfortunes. The instability of the situation, the persistent plotting and counter plotting, the military operations, make the concentration of moral and material resources on reconstruction impossible. And all these petty states are pawns in the larger game of the great powers. Every move made has its source or effect in that game, which is one of selfish aggrandizement and is likely to precipitate, directly or indirectly, consequences of wide destructiveness.

Americans cannot afford to remain ignorant of the nature of European interrelations. Our own comparatively simple problems and insistent preference for peace keep us from realizing complicated and sinister European realities. Realization is coming gradually to us, and not too soon. Mr. Viviani's visit is more than a hint that pressure will not be lacking to draw us into the European entanglement. We hope the eloquent French emissary will be told frankly and promptly that the election of last November wrote finis on any hopes of America's commitment to any such political alliance or arrangement as the league of nations.

Our interest in economic and financial adjustment, if any such be possible, is obvious, but the American people have said in a manner it would be stupid to ignore or mistake that the United States will not enter upon political alignments of any sort. That a general consideration of the economic and financial problems of Europe is necessary we all realize. We know, too, that political and military factors are vexatious and obstructive factors of their solution. But they are factors which European statecraft and the psychology of European peoples have created and must overcome without involving us. Our economic and financial participation and aid for the rehabilitation of Europe cannot be made to depend upon a sacrifice of our political policies. We will not pull chestnuts out of the fire for any other government or be used to bolster up the political designs of any nation or group of nations.

Our paramount object and legitimate task is the restoration of peace throughout Europe through sane composition, compromise, and coöperation. We shall give aid, if we are wise and if the American instinct is obeyed, only on terms compatible with and productive of such a peace.

The league of nations is an attempt to create a political and military imperium in the interest of five great powers and to the exclusion and abasement of nations whose revival is essential to European strength and progress. It is a device, furthermore, to enforce the treaties of Versailles and Trianon, the terms of which, so far as we can assay them, are sources of new wars and of the persistent demoralization of European policies. The American people said what they felt about taking up the burden and involving ourselves in the responsibilities these treaties would impose upon them, and their verdict was the most emphatic no ever given by an American plebiscite.

Time and pains which should be expended in other directions will be saved if European governments will realize now that we do not propose to enter a political enterprise like the league of nations or underwrite the destructive peace of Paris on any terms whatsoever.

Perhaps the best assurance of that would be a prompt declaration of peace with Germany, and we trust Senator Knox's resolution to that end will be given first consideration at the coming extra session.

THE LAST OF THE NEANDERTHALERS.

Robert Edgren, THE TRIBUNE sport expert, quotes Mr. Dempsey, the Utah mauler, as saying that he does not expect an easy time with Mr. Carpentier, "because I know he is faster than any man I ever fought, and he can hit." Mr. Edgren says that "Jack expects to have a lot more trouble with the speedy, hard hitting Carpentier than he ever had in knocking out such giants as Willard, Morris, and Fulton."

Thus they are decorating Georges with roses and smilax. They have put a lily in his hand, a garland on his brow, and a gardenia in his button hole. They are leading him through a bower of thorn blossoms by paths where the hepatica whitens the way.

Readers of "The Fair God" or of Prescott's "Conquest" will think of the unhappy youth, the bravest, fairest, most nearly perfect of the captured enemy, to whom the Aztecs gave for a month all the honors and sweets of life, that he might be worthy to have his heart cut out in sacrifice.

We hope for the best, but we are afraid Georges has been down out of the tree too long. He is to meet the Neanderthaler man. H. G. Wells says that our legends of Jack the Giant Killer and of other adventures with gigantic man killers go back to the struggles of the true man with his predecessor, the Neanderthaler, the grisly man who was not man as he has survived.

The true man won and handed down the tradition of the fights with giants, which now are nursery stories, but he won because he could fight in groups and because he could make better weapons. Mr. Dempsey might admit that Mr. Carpentier has had more experience in the fighting by which man won and has maintained his position, fighting with improved weapons and in groups.

The French are great at such fighting. Sometimes we think they have a tendency to be too great. But man did not win his fight with the Neanderthaler in a square ring with his hands, and when Georges looks from his corner into Jack's corner he will see an ancient hatred blazing out of the eyes of the last of the Neanderthalers, and even in his strong heart he may know that this fight is being pulled off a few hundred thousand years too late, and that here is where man needs his gang with him.

A WORD TO THE WISE LANDLORD.

With the majority of the residents of Chicago in the position of tenants and the minority of landlords, it will hardly be disputed that the prosperity of the city depends largely upon the prosperity of the tenants. The purchasing power which makes or breaks business lies with this majority.

Wise landlords will remember this before they go too far with the raising of a war chest to fight their battles against the tenants at Springfield. If they persist in using their money and organization merely to fight relief which the tenants are seeking instead of devoting their resources to providing a better form of relief through the stimulation of building they will make a grave error. All business, including their own, will suffer.

Tenants must have relief. Many thousands of them in Chicago are now without work and without income. Other thousands have suffered a reduction in wages. In many cases no possible economy will allow funds for the payment of the rents asked. It is this situation which has united the tenants in self-defense to support the Kessinger rent commission bill, the six months' tenancy bill under the forcible detainer act, and the bill for rent payment to landlords where the term of the lease is overrun.

The two latter measures are sound. They protect the landlord from serious loss, and the tenant from being thrown summarily into the street. The tenants appear to have convinced the legislature that such protection is essential and must be provided. The only reason the rent commission bill does not go through with the others is because there is opposition to its principle and a legitimate doubt that it will protect. In view of the general ill feeling toward landlords which has developed of late nothing will unite and strengthen the demand of the tenants for the rent commission bill more than organized and highly financed opposition by the landlords.

There are three influences outside the landlords which will oppose the bill if left to themselves. First is the well established stand of the farmer in defense of property rights. Second is the opposition of the building trades to anything which threatens to restrict construction. Third is general conservatism of the public, which shrinks from the state socialism suggested in such public control of private property. These influences are enough to protect the property rights of the landlords unless the landlords by extortionate demands and organized opposition force the unification of all sections in self-defense against them.

What the landlords ought to do is to collect their war chest and devote their energies to the stimulation of building. If they do that they will break down the opposition of the tenants and save themselves from restrictive legislation. Eventually building will bring about a permanent solution of the problem. The landlords must be reasonable. They may hold the buildings but the tenants hold the power both in the government of the state and in the general business situation.

Editorial of the Day

"HO, FOR THE SMELL OF THE TREES."

[Detroit Free Press.]

And now comes the season when the jaded journalist takes his worn pencil in hand with intent to rhapsodize; when the youth breaks into poetry, and the tired business man, shouting peans to the red gods in well worn phrases concerned with Mother Nature, God's Sunshine and the Great Outdoors, gets out his fishing rod, sorts his flies, and thoughtfully winds and unwinds his reel. Another month and he'll be seen stealing away, at first guilty, but with growing gusto, to a stream he knows where, last year, he almost landed that big one.

One of the encouraging things about this vale of tears is that "Spring's first flutes and drums" have a provoking power that penetrates to the mustiest corners, turns topsy turvy the most orderly brains, makes winter's weightiest affairs—presidents and cabinets, state budgets and street railway problems, even the intricate mathematics of the income tax—seem far away and long ago and not of such tremendous importance after all. "Change is the pulse of life"; without the reckless influence of this lawless season we might all be in danger of succumbing to what Wilde called a "sort of creeping common sense."

After a season of getting and spending, of soot breathing and the fuel problem, we need revitalization, the whiff of strong air that comes blue and cleansing from pine forests and flowering valleys, for brawn must somehow keep pace with brain and nerve, and there is no remedy for cityitis like air and sunshine and exercise, the merry stream, the agile rod, the swift canoe, the enticing trail, the some flavored meal.

"Pictures and music and teas,
Theaters—books even—stale.
Ho, for the smell of the trees!
Ho, for the pack and the trail!"

APRIL.

When April buds unfold
Against the gleaming blue skies,
Shall we their grace behold
With glad and dancing new eyes,
Or only with the old?

Shall winter's hand be laid
Upon our hearts so long, dear,
They cannot quit the shade
When April sings her song, dear—
When April nests are made?

WE have wired Dr. Whittaker for verification of the rumor that he proposes setting the Stillman case to music.

Promenades Philosophiques.

What is life? A series of sensations. What is a sensation? A remembrance. One doesn't live. One has lived. Life, said an old man, is a regret. . . . . The terrible thing about the quest for truth is that you find it. . . . . It was an accident that endowed man with intelligence. He has made use of it: he invented stupidity. . . . . The crowd has no idea how much sensibility and intelligence it requires to enjoy the perfume of a rose or the smile of a woman. . . . . The little girl expects no declaration of tenderness from her doll. She loves it, and that is all. It is thus that we should love.

TRANSFORMATION.

The river park where once we walked at night,
'Midst the new snow, and sang and danced and played,
Our shadows leaping in the yellow lamp post light,
Is now in tender shades of green arrayed.

Where once our madcap feet had churned the snow
In Pagan dance of youth and falling flakes,
The young grass and the dandelions grow,
And all the sap of slumbering earth awakes.

Where on the icebound river once we saw a gleam,
A solitary tugboat thrust its battered nose
Through isles of ice; the Hudson's azure stream,
Unfettered now, down to ocean flows.

Alas! You've gone! Beneath our dancing feet
The turf would feel a thousand times more sweet.

PERSE.

M'SIEU, the milkman, tardy with the daily quart, was chid and asked when our dairymen intend to replace the obsolete horse with the swift flivver truck: "Never, sir. As long as milk is delivered in Chicago it will be delivered in horse-drawn wagons. A horse gets to know the route. That animal out there (he's nine and been on the route five years) knows every stop I make, and I never have to touch the reins. If I stay a second too long at any stop he starts for the next one. And you don't have to crank a horse."

The Yellow Peril.

Sir: Like a recent Secretary of State, in California they spell it e-a-r-t-h-q-u-a-k-e and pronounce it "weather," but out here there is no such ostrich-like evasion. The natives clamor to tell you that a "jishen" is taking place, of which perforce you are nervously aware. Compared with the sizeable Japanese shakes, the Pacific slope earthquakes are but playful shrugs—how dismaying for the Californian to learn that in one phase of weather he cannot claim the superlative!

VOCAL EXPOSURES.

I notice that Gwendolyn Cholmondeley,
When silent, is winsome and comely.

ON the other hand, Samuel Butler warns: "We want words to do more than they can. We try to do with them what comes to very much like trying to mend a watch with a pickaxe, or to paint a miniature with a mop. . . . What we should read is not the words but the man whom we feel to be behind the words. . . . Words impede and either kill, or are killed by, perfect thought; but they are, as a scaffolding, useful, if not indispensable, for the building up of imperfect thought . . ."

Whenever I see the verb abide it recalls to mind the beautiful prayer uttered in the song poem, "Abide with Me," by the Rev. Henry Francis Lyte, a curate of the Church of England, who read this poem to his congregation when taking leave on his departure for a milder clime in the forlorn hope of recovering his health. The poem expresses implicit faith in the infinite mercy of God, and is comparable in true religious feeling with Cardinal Newman's "Lead, Kindly Light."

You will note that the sense of the verb abide meaning to live in, or dwell with, has given way in modern usage to reside. "We shall abide by the decision of the arbitrator," is a sentence showing practically the only sense in which the intransitive verb abide obtains in present day usage. Senses of the transitive association are mostly associated with archaic or poetic forms.

Our Cultural Humility.

* * * * *

In England, where "culture" is taken very frivolously, the bated breath of the American, when he speaks of Shakespeare, or Tennyson, or Browning, is always cause for amusement. And the Frenchman is always a little puzzled at the crowds who attend lectures in Paris on "How to See Europe Intelligently," or are taken in vast parties to the Louvre. . . . The European may be enthusiastic, polemic, radiant, concerning his culture; he is never humble. And he is, above all, never humble before the culture of another country. The Frenchman will hear nothing but French music, read nothing but French literature, and prefers his own art to that of any other nation. He can hardly understand our almost pathetic eagerness to learn of the culture of other nations, our humility of worship in the presence of art that in no sense represents the expression of any of our ideals and motivating forces.

DRESSING FOR WARMTH.

WHEN Dr. W. T. Grenfell was called into consultation as to the clothing for the soldiers in the trenches in northern Flanders during those terrible winters of the earlier years of the world war, he made several radical recommendations based on his experience in Labrador.

We forget quickly. Therefore, let me call to mind that the soldiers during those winters had to stand for hours in shallow trenches exposed to cold and wet. There nearly always was water in those trenches. Since duckboard was not always available the men had to stand in a slush of mud, water, ice, and snow for hours at a time. Many suffered from trench feet.

Dr. Grenfell's advice as to cold weather dress is applicable to civilian life, especially to those who must be exposed and those prone to cold feet and mild varieties of Raynaud's disease. I have culled some suggestions from the Labrador doctor.

To keep the heat of the body in is the object of wearing clothing. Therefore clothing should always fit closely around the neck, wrists, and ankles. The best form of coat is one fitting tightly around the wrists and with a headpiece attached. The wrists can be made snug by straps or by terminating in a wristlet. If the bottom of the coat can fit snugly around the hips, being held in by something like a belt or drawstring, there will be gain. The cowl or headpiece can be trimmed with fur so that the edges can fit tightly and be warm, but at the same time not irritate the skin of the face.

The best material is an impervious light dressed canvas. Closeness of weave is more important than weight of fabric. Dr. Grenfell did not think much of the woolen khaki worn by the soldiers. A light, closer woven fabric would have held the heat in better. The cut of the garments permitted lots of body heat to escape at the neck.

The old fashion of wearing the ends of the trouser legs inside the boots made for comfort. The best boot is one made of light skins. Such boots should be large and loose enough not to bind. They should be sewed with sinew. When such boots are soaked in water the leather thread swells as they soak up water and no leakage occurs. The Labrador shoe made that way does not leak.

Dr. Grenfell strongly advocates the hardening process for all those strong enough to be trained that way. He says coddling is the terrible menace of civilization and to endure exposure is the best preparation for a good soldier.

He tells us visiting a hut in far northern Labrador, himself clad in a well lined leather coat, but the two shock-headed boys there clad in ancient cotton shirts and what had once been only cotton overall jackets were jolly as crickets apparently and unduly warm.

The homes in Labrador are very primitive, insanitary, and poorly ventilated. In spite of all these and other health handicaps, the people have moderately good health. This is because they never are coddled. In youth they are trained to withstand cold and exposure.

DIET PROBABLY WRONG.

J. F. C.: "A. Several times a year or oftener I am troubled with white, painful sores on my tongue or lips (probably canker sores). When I get them my tongue generally is inflamed and sometimes has dents on the side of it. Can you tell me where these sores emanate? B. Can it be my blood? C. I think my stomach is in good order. D. What would you advise me to do to cure myself of these sores?"

REPLY.

Cankers in the mouth mean the eating habits are wrong. You can get relief by touching the cankers with caustic, taking a purgative internally, and living for a few days on a very restricted diet. To get permanent relief you must change your eating habits. The condition of your blood has nothing to do with the case.

NEED SKILLFUL CARE.

H. E. W. writes: "Can you prescribe a diet suitable for one who has excess sugar in his system? I cannot afford thorough examination just now, but want a diet until I can."

REPLY.

You should not eat any food that is made from flour or even partly so or in which there is any other form of starch; nor any food into which sugar enters. The details for carrying this policy out require too much space to be set down here. There are several small books dealing with diabetes and written in simple language. Get one. A person with diabetes should have proper care, even if he is required to economize in some other direction to pay for it.

BETTER WEAR GLASSES.

Wanda writes: "What causes the eyes to become bloodshot? I find this to be the case whenever I attend a movie show or am in some place where the lights are very bright, such places as a ballroom, restaurant, etc. I have rest glasses that I wear only down at business. Is there any cure? If so, what?"

REPLY.

Eye strain. You need to wear glasses regularly. You may need colored glasses when in overilluminated places.

WEAR LOOSE SHOES.

C. B. writes: "How can I get rid of corns?"

REPLY.

Wear loose shoes and properly fitting socks. Use any one of the standard corn medicines found on the market, following directions closely.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

Letters to this department must be signed with names and addresses of the writers.

LOT FULL OF CANS.

Chicago, March 28.—[Friend of the People.]—There is a large collection of tin cans in our alley, which has been there all year. The alley is between Elston and Kasson avenues. The neighbors are complaining about the condition. Will you please report it for us? H. E.

These alleys receive regular attention. The complaint was on an accumulation on a vacant lot, which has been removed.

THOMAS H. BYRNE,
Superintendent of Streets.

TELL IT TO UNCLE SAM.

Chicago, March 28.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—There is a woman living out this way who is not a United States citizen but has accumulated a lot of property. She did not make any income tax report, and never has. She has lived around this neighborhood for about seven years. F. D.

If you wish to report the case, send your information to the collector of internal revenue, federal building, Chicago.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

STRAYING POULTRY.

Chicago, March 29.—[Friend of the People.]—For several years I have stood for the annoyance of the chickens of my neighbors. They are being let out early in the morning and they root out my garden and are a general nuisance. I have never reported this condition but it has gone far enough now. F. P. M.

An investigation has been made by an inspector from this department and a notice served on the owner of the chickens to either keep them confined to his own premises or dispose of them.

JOHN DILL ROBERTSON,
Commissioner of Health.

STRIKE LAWS.

Chicago, March 25.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—A friend of mine who lives in Wisconsin has accepted a position in Illinois where there is a "strike on" and has written inquiring whether anything in the state law of Wisconsin will prohibit him accepting this position or if the state law of Wisconsin prohibits a firm in Illinois from hiring men there in Wisconsin personally and sending them into the state of Illinois to work on a strike job. Will you kindly give me the desired information? W. A. B.

We know of no such law.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

CHICKENS ALL AROUND.

Chicago, March 28.—[Friend of the People.]—Are people allowed to keep hens in the city? We use our back porch for a sleeping porch and two doors north of us they have a rooster and next door south have a coop full of hens. How are we to rest? E. D. F.

An inspector from this department has investigated this complaint, and from his report it appears that there is insufficient evidence of a nuisance to justify action by this department.

JOHN DILL ROBERTSON,
Commissioner of Health.

PROSPECTIVE ALLEY.

Chicago, March 28.—[Friend of the People.]—Kindly advise if there is an alley in prospect to run from Fulton street to Carroll avenue, back of the residences facing North Central Park avenue. One has been put through from Walnut street to Fulton street, back of a vacant piece of property bounded on the west by North Central Park avenue, and paved, and why isn't this alley continued to Carroll avenue on the north and to Lake street on the south? M. S. C.

We will soon hold a public hearing on the paving of the alley between Carroll avenue, Fulton street, St. Louis and Central Park avenues. An estimate of cost has been prepared by the engineer.

EDWARD J. GLACKIN, Secretary
Board of Local Improvements.

USUALLY BY ASSIGNMENT.

Chicago, March 28.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—What action is necessary to transfer registered certificate of stock from one private owner to another? W. P. W.

Usually it is necessary to have an assignment, commonly executed on the back of the certificate, and then to have the change made on the books of the company. We could advise to better advantage if the facts on which your question arises were before us.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

GRIN AND BEAR IT.

Chicago, March 29.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—A neighbor of mine erected a fence on his front lawn which is very obnoxious to all of his neighbors. I understand it is city property. What steps can be taken to have the fence removed? F. M.

We can suggest no remedy.

HISTORY.

1. What city was founded by William Penn?
2. What was Mason and Dixon's line?
3. When, where, and by whom was the first settlement made in Delaware?
4. By whom and why was the colony of Maryland established?
5. Who settled the Carolinas?
6. What colony did Oglethorpe found and why?
7. When was the first printing press used in America?
8. What was the first newspaper printed in America?
9. What was the beginning of our free public school system?
10. What colleges were founded by colonists?

GRAMMAR—ANSWERS.

1. What is wrong with this sentence: "I would of gone, but you did not ask me in time"? It should read: "I would have gone," etc.
2. What is the feminine of nephew? Niece.
3. Can you correct this sentence: "The horse ran away unexpectedly breaking the harness"? "The harness breaking unexpectedly, the horse ran away."
4. Is this correct: "She writes under the pen-name of 'Sally Sunshine'"? Yes.
5. Is this correct: "He wrote the article over his own signature"? Yes.
6. What is wrong with this sentence: "John and Mary went out with Ted and Margaret who was late as usual"? As it stands, Ted and Margaret are the subjects of "who was late as usual," so the verb should be in the plural and read "were late as usual." If Margaret was alone guilty of tardiness, a comma should come between her and who, viz.: "John and Mary went out with Ted and Margaret, who was late as usual."
7. What is the masculine of testatrix? Testator.
8. What does the masculine gender denote? Males.
9. What gender are nouns which have nothing to do with defining sex? Neuter.
10. What is the plural of calico? Calicoes.

HEW TO THE LINE.

Chicago, March 28.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—It was indeed with pleasure that I opened THE TRIBUNE today to find "the column" as of old. After attending yesterday the memorial for the beloved "B. L. T." and listening to the eulogies I feel that you should know what the Line means to such as I. A young mother with a family of four to work for cannot find much time for much reading and THE TRIBUNE is about my daily diet of reading. Think then what the Line with its sweet bits of choice verse means and I feel that as a fitting memorial to "B. L. T." those voices should still carry on. If those learned contributors to the Line can be made to understand what pleasure their wit and learning bring to lesser minds they will still continue to send in their sparkling bits. LENORE HANNON.

CREDIT TO THE SPANISH WAR VETERANS.

Chicago, March 25.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In your issue of the 6th instant there appeared an editorial article entitled, "The Service of the Sons of Kohath," in which it was advocated that the work which has been performed by the Grand Army of the Republic in the past should be carried on by the American Legion. At the last meeting of McKinley camp No. 6, United Spanish War Veterans, a committee was appointed, of which I am the chairman, to acquaint you with the fact that ever since 1899 the work of patriotism carried on by the Grand Army has been augmented by the activities of the United Spanish War Veterans, who now are, and have worked in coöperation with the Grand Army of the Republic in the great work of instilling patriotism in the minds of young and old, participating in the work of relieving distress among less fortunate veterans of all wars, and of observing Memorial and other patriotic holidays. This has been a purely voluntary service on their part and has been carried on without any press agenting or blare of trumpets.

In your article you entirely ignored the services of the great body of volunteer soldiers who in the short space of one year accomplished more for humanity in general than any war fought in the history of the world.

We do not believe that you intentionally ignored this patriotic body of men who joined the colors three hundred and sixty thousand strong, and who freed Cuba, Porto Rico, and the Philippines from the repressive monarchy of Spain. This was a war for democracy against autocracy, as highly spiritualized as that greater one through which we have just passed.

If, by reason of the depletion in numbers of the Grand Army, it becomes necessary to choose a successor to carry on the great work begun by them, their logical successor is the United Spanish War Veterans, who have for years past taken up and are now carrying on the great work. FRANK T. CASPERS,
Member Wm. McKinley Camp No. 6, U. S. W. V.

MAKING A SHAME OF SERVICE.

Chicago, March 24.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I believe I express the opinion of every keen American when I say that it is with mingled disgust and shame that I read of the outcome of the Bergdoll case in Germany. One cannot help but wonder just what our boys really fought for. They have gained nothing by it—not even proper care for the wounded and permanently disabled. Then to think that a slacker like Bergdoll can sneer at America and men who feel it their honorable duty to arrest him be placed in prison. Disgusting, and as the American Legion says, "a disgrace to America."

Our executives should not parley for their release, but should firmly say, "Come across and free these men."

It is to be hoped that some one who can properly do so will awake to their duties and free these men and incidentally show Bergdoll that he cannot sneer at America, even if he is in Germany. If our men fought and died for such things as this, then I am ashamed of the fact that my husband saw service in France.

FOR A NATIONAL GUARD WITHOUT POLITICS.

Chicago, March 28.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Expressions of opinion from numerous men who are familiar with the inner workings of the military-political game in Illinois, and who know the records of such men as Sanborn, Clinnin, and others of proven ability, courageousness, and loyalty, seem to indicate that the errors made by the Thompson administration at Springfield in summarily disposing of the services of these men in a military capacity will not long be tolerated.

The fact that Gen. Sanborn has passed the age of retirement is borne in the mind of the writer. This fact does, I admit, extenuate the action in appointing a successor for his place. But why should a man of the type represented by Col. Clinnin, who has sacrificed his energies, his time, and his career in civil life to furthering the interests of the national guard, be left without a command? There are regiments in this city commanded by men who have no claim to their commands other than by political standing. And what about the vacancy created by the promotion of Gen. Reilly? Why not try to induce Col. Clinnin to take over the command of that unit?

Why not extend the policy of making appointments in our national guard subject to the experience and military record of the candidates?

Separate the politicians from the military or eliminate the latter!

RALPH P. HIGGINS.

BUILD ROADS.

Watseka, Ill., March 29.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Let us have more editorials urging that Gov. Small proceed with the letting of road contracts.

Isn't it almost a crime to hold up construction of any kind just at this time when thousands of men are without work and thousands of little mouths are waiting to be fed from the daily earnings of their fathers and brothers? How can Gov. Small or Col. Miller say that costs are too high? They refuse to accept the figures of cost as compiled by engineers of the state highway department. No better highway department exists anywhere. These men have made estimates of the costs of roads. The roads have been advertised for letting to responsible bidders, and the bids were lower than the engineers' estimate. R. P. DEVINE.

ANSWERING AN EX-MARINE.

Chicago, March 25.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—This is not an argument for the blue lawa, but I just want to ask Ex-Marine a few questions.

You say, Ex-Marine, that common sense people do not have to go to church, as they know the difference between right and wrong. Do we just go to church to learn the difference between right and wrong? You say only weak minded people need a sky pilot—inferring that only weak minded people go to church. Is President Harding weak minded? Is Gen. Pershing weak minded? Was "Teddy" Roosevelt weak minded? Compare your own mind or that of any of your "common sense people" with these and the majority of really big men of the country and the world and see whose mind is the weaker.

Look back over that twenty-four months in France. Did the weak minded go to services on Sunday, while the "common sense" or "strong minded" soldier shot craps, played poker, got "soused to the gills," or any one of a hundred and one pastimes of your so-called "common sense" nonchurchgoing soldiers? Think it over, buddie.

1—He leaves Prangins, Switzerland, a town near Geneva.

2—He crosses the Austrian frontier into Tyrol by auto, disguised as a tourist.

3—He arrives at Steinamanger, Hungary.

4—From Steinamanger he goes to Budapest, where Admiral Horthy, regent of Hungary, refuses to hand the power to him.

5—He goes back to Steinamanger, and is reported to be ready to head 15,000 troops in a march on Budapest.

6—The ring of nations created by the allies to curb just such a move in Hungary are active, 30,000 Jugo-Slav troops are reported concentrated at Varasdin, Croatia, in Jugo-Slavia.

7—Two divisions of Roumanian cavalry are at Arad and Temesvar, massacing Hungary from the east.

8—Two regiments of Bohemian cavalry are massed on the Hungarian border nearest Budapest.

DECISION TODAY ON ALIMONY IN STILLMAN CASE

"Fifi's" Affidavits Will Also Be Filed.

White Plains, N. Y., March 31.—Supreme Court Justice Morschauser tomorrow will hand down his decision in the motion for alimony and counsel fees of attorneys for Mrs. Anne Urquhart Potter Stillman, pending the determination of the suit for divorce brought by her banker husband, James A. Stillman.

Affidavits, in which are contained the counter charges of Mrs. Stillman, alleging the banker posed as the husband of Mrs. Florence L. Leeds, former chorus girl, will be filed later in the day at Carmel, N. Y. Whether they will be made public rests with Justice Morschauser after he has consulted attorneys for both sides.

MAY PRODUCE REAL LEEDS.

New York, March 31.—[Special.]—That James A. Stillman might be able to produce a real Franklyn H. Leeds to refute the charges of his wife, Mrs. Anne Potter Stillman, that he and "Leeds" were the same person, was learned today.

Attorneys for both sides have been informed that there was an actual "F. H. Leeds," who was closely associated wth Mrs. Florence H. Leeds, the woman named by Mrs. Stillman in her answer to her husband's charge of infidelity with Fred Beauvais, the half-breed Indian guide. This Leeds is said to have been a professional dancer or chorus man and to have appeared in cabaret entertainments and in at least one Broadway production.

He is described as good looking, well tailored, and "a jolly good fellow." Then there appeared upon the scene a second Mr. Leeds—a man of more mature years and who is said by Mrs. Stillman to have been her husband. With his arrival, it is said, the first Mr. Leeds vanished.

Attorneys for Mrs. Stillman professed to be indifferent as to the existence of a real Mr. Leeds. A representative of Stanchfield & Levy, of counsel for Mrs. Stillman, was asked if the production of a genuine Mr. Leeds as husband of Mrs. Florence H. Leeds would affect Mrs. Stillman's charges against her husband. He replied:

"It is immaterial from our viewpoint whether there was ever any genuine Mr. Leeds," they said. "The conduct of Mrs. Leeds prior to the time Mrs. Stillman charges that Mr. Stillman began to associate with Mrs. Leeds would be of little consequence to us."

Stillman's Auto Hits Boy?

The driver of an automobile that injured Raymond Rath, 18 years old, son of a farmer, in Franklin Square, west of Hempstead, L. I., last Sunday left a card bearing the name of James A. Stillman. Members of Rath's family said the driver resembled published pictures of the president of the National City bank.

HARRISON, J. P., WILL HIT RIVAL WITH A SPEECH!

Evanston is in the throes of a great battle. Five justices of the peace are at war for reelection.

NAZARETH BARSUMIAN. [Photo: J. D. Toloff.]

Two of the contestants are Sam Harrison, who has been a J. P. in Evanston for a "score of years or more," and his honor Nazareth Barsumian, who has held office for four years. The latter is about to be driven from any vantage ground he may have if the former reaches an objective he has in mind. This much was revealed last night.

"I'm going to make a speech," said Mr. Harrison. "I have made up my mind—I'm going to make a speech."

"Yes?" queried his visitor.

"I'm going to show that Barsumian's absolutely unfit to hold the honorable office of justice," said Mr. Harrison. "I'm going to ask him to explain why he arrested a certain —ah, person, recently and held—that person — in his office for four hours incomunicado. All the window shades were tightly drawn— and what do you suppose occurred during that four hours?"

"I don't know; what was it?" asked the caller.

"Well, I don't know either; but I'm going to ask Nazareth to explain."

DRY LAW DIDN'T WORRY DR. ROE, EX-EMPLOYE SAYS

L. C. Prancz, former manager of the New Southern hotel, yesterday told a jury in Judge Landis' court what he thought of Dr. J. Newton Roe, his one time employer, who is on trial for violation of the prohibition law. Prancz said he told Dr. Roe whisky was being sold over the bar, and the latter remarked, "Well, what of it? There is whisky selling going on all over town."

Prancz admitted he had quarreled with Roe, but denied revenge was the motive for his testimony.

Prancz was indicted with Dr. Roe on the original liquor charge and plead guilty before Judge Landis.

Michael Igoe, defense counsel, asked Prancz if he knew that a hotel of which he formerly was manager "was the most disreputable in the city," and the witness replied he didn't think it was, for Igoe had registered there.

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINTS AND VARNISHES

You Ought to Know the Difference Between Inside and Outside Paint

Outdoor weather demands paint that can resist exposure. Inside paint must resist wear and cleaning. These are totally different things. Paint must be made accordingly. Otherwise you don't get real paint economy on the surface you finish.

S W P is the special outside paint. For 50 years it has protected property in every climate on earth. Right now it is on over a million homes, outside.

Sherwin-Williams FAMILY PAINT

is strictly an inside paint. It is made to decorate surfaces and resist wear. It is now protecting the interiors of more than a million homes.

Family Paint is a gloss finish for woodwork, cupboards, walls, etc., where a quick drying, oil paint is wanted. By adding sufficient linseed oil it may be used outside for small jobs, such as flower boxes, porch ceilings, etc. But when you want the lasting protection of outside house paint, use S W P, Sherwin-Williams Prepared Paint.

"YOU PLAY WITH ME AND I'LL PLAY WITH YOU" TARIFF

"Bargaining" Act to Get a Square Deal Sought.

ARTICLE NO. 5.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., March 31.—[Special.]—Development of American export trade has given impetus to a movement for adoption of provisions for a bargaining tariff as one of the features of the new tariff law.

The desirability of such action to promote reciprocal relations with the countries in which American manufacturers desire to sell their products has been impressed upon the house ways and means committee. Some of its old time protectionist members have criticized the scheme and expressed doubt that it would result in such advantages to American manufacturers as claimed. It is probable that the senate Republican leaders will favor a bargaining tariff if the house committee fails to incorporate it in the bill.

The national foreign trade council, of which James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel corporation, is president, has taken the lead in the movement for a bargaining tariff.

Backed by Motor World.

Automobile manufacturers have strongly indorsed it as a means of insuring fair treatment for American automobiles in foreign markets. The canning interests are anxious for a bargaining tariff to enable them to invade South American markets, which already have been barred to them by high tariffs based upon similar rates of duty imposed by the United States.

One of the advocates of the bargaining tariff is the Consolidated Steel corporation, an association organized under the Webb-Pomerene export trade act to handle the port business of a number of steel producers, including the Bethlehem Steel company, the Cambria Steel company, the Lackawanna Steel company, the Midvale Steel and Ordnance company, the Republic Steel company, and others.

The contemplated policy is based on the principle that only countries granting our products the same treatment granted similar products imported from other countries are entitled to equal treatment in our markets.

Power Up to President.

It is proposed to prevent discrimination by giving the president power upon the certification to him by the tariff commission, or such other agency as congress may prescribe, either to grant concessions for favorable treatment of American products or to impose penalties for discrimination against or unequal treatment of American products, such concessions or penalties to be within limits fixed by congress.

Congress would define the policy in general terms, leaving to the president the application of the law in particular cases. There might be three possible rates of duty, a maximum rate and a minimum rate, in addition to the ordinary rate prescribed.

It is proposed that the law shall be sufficiently inclusive to enable the president to prevent not merely open discriminations but also discriminations more or less concealed in customs regulations, transportation rates, sanitary provisions, and even in classifications, where the effect is to place a distinctly American product at a serious competitive disadvantage.

In the Payne-Aldrich tariff law of 1909 a provision was included which provided a penalty of 25 per cent ad valorem on imports from those countries which discriminated against American goods. This provision was not sufficiently flexible to reach all cases of objectionable discriminations.

It is contended that the bargaining principle need not be in conflict with either the policy of protection or free trade and that all shades of tariff opinion may unite upon it.

That there is pressing need for a bargaining tariff is argued by sponsors for the plan, who point to actual instances of discrimination and retaliation abroad.

France has imposed a duty of 45 per cent on American automobiles, solely on the ground that a similar duty of 45 per cent which is provided in the present Underwood tariff law on high priced automobiles is a discrimination against high priced cars of French manufacture.

Other Nations May Act.

Similar action has been taken by Italy and Belgium, and Spain is expected to follow. In Great Britain there is an agitation for an increase in the duty of 33 1-3 per cent on passenger automobiles to correspond with the United States duty of 45 per cent.

The American automobile manufacturers believe that the United States should not only reduce its duty from 45 per cent to 30 per cent but should adopt a bargaining tariff to deal with particular situations involving foreign countries.

The steel producers and exporters say that a bargaining tariff would safeguard their foreign interests in two ways. In the first place, there are certain raw materials, such as manganese, vanadium, nickel, tin, and palm oil, essential in making many steel products and which it is necessary or advantageous to secure from foreign countries.

By means of a bargaining tariff the United States would be able to prevent discriminatory action which might be taken by these foreign countries with respect to the exportation from them of these raw materials.

Might Harm Steel Exports.

In the second place, exports of steel products from the United States might be excluded from competition in foreign markets through the operation of reciprocal trade agreements, preferential import duties, or discriminating customs classifications and regulations operating in favor of foreign producers of steel.

Present tendencies of other nations are indicated by denunciations of commercial treaties and by the development of imperial or colonial preferences.

VOCALION RECORDS for APRIL

SPRING is on the way and there is no better means of bringing some of its brightness into your own home than with several new Vocalion Records.

The April list is filled with up-to-date surprises. The snappy fox-trot records of those big hits, "Bright Eyes" and "Love Bird," are bound to start every one dancing.

For operatic selections, Giulio Crimi sings the familiar "Spirit So Fair" from "Favorita."

A beautiful sacred recording is "Abide with Me" by John Charles Thomas, the well known baritone, and a choice array of standard songs by other Vocalion artists.

In short, you can't afford to miss hearing these new records.

LEADERS PLAN TO KEEP LUMBER UPON FREE LIST

Washington, D. C., March 31.—[Special.]—Lumber, with the exception of a few varieties, will remain on the free list in the new tariff law, according to a tentative decision reached today by a subcommittee of the house ways and means committee.

This action will be in accordance with the demand of retail lumber dealers and of commercial organizations that nothing be done which might tend to interfere with housing construction.

The varieties of lumber on which protection will be provided include those which are in keen competition with the product of the west coast lumber industry.

Representative Fordney declared today that the house members will not agree to the proposal of Republican senators for the combining of the emergency agricultural tariff bill, the anti-dumping bill, and the American valuation bill in a single measure. He insisted that the emergency tariff bill should stand by itself.

Representative Frear of Wisconsin, a Republican member of the house ways and means committee, issued a statement taking exception to former President Taft's recent signed article on tariff and tax legislation.

"He says the sales tax is easily collected," Mr. Frear said. "Treasury officials squarely deny that statement and point to the evasions of the luxury tax as an evidence of actual experience as against an idle opinion.

"It is apparent that Mr. Taft is not in sympathy with the times. His vision is limited to the same scope that caused his overwhelming rejection in 1912. His suggestion that we adopt an inquitous sales tax is evidence of this fact. If we do so the party of which he was the former head might look for history to repeat itself at the first opportunity."

"UNFORTUNATE," MRS. GILCHRIST SAYS OF ARREST

Mrs. Charlotte Gilchrist of "art-for-art's-sake-or-for-the-sake-of-the-artist?" fame, had only four words to say yesterday when arraigned before Judge Arnold Heap. They were: "It was very unfortunate." She was arrested on Wednesday night at the Board of Trade hotel in company with Charles Willis of 3248 West Superior street after her husband, Lawrence Gilchrist, had trailed them here.

Willis and Mrs. Gilchrist demanded a jury trial. The case will be heard April 22.

NO-PARTY MOVE FOR JUDGES GETS A FLYING START

BY PARKE BROWN.

Plans of the Chicago Bar association to bring about the launching of a strong nonpartisan ticket for the June judicial election advanced materially yesterday.

For two hours a committee of the association conferred with representatives of the Brundage-Deneen Republicans and the Democratic county organization on fundamentals for a coalition of these two forces, the chief of which was the reelection of all sitting judges of the Circuit court with approved records, regardless of party affiliations.

The Lundin-Thompson camp did not even reply to the invitation of the bar association committee to be present So the work was begun without them, but when, late in the afternoon, the conference adjourned, it was announced that the city hall people were at liberty to attend the next session if they wish. It will be held tomorrow morning.

Expect a City Hall Ticket.

"Inasmuch as the city hall people were not here," Attorney Amos C. Miller, chairman of the committee, said, "the inference that we naturally drew was that they intend to put up a complete ticket of their own, regardless of the wishes of the bar association or anybody else.

"Our committee, in view of that fact, took the position that it would be a good thing for the public to have another ticket so that the lawyers and the voters may have a choice. And our view also is that there ought to be only one other ticket in order that there may be a concentration on the good candidates.

"The prospects appear good for an agreement between the party organizations represented here upon one ticket."

Leaders Pleased with Progress.

The political leaders present said they were well pleased with the progress made at the first sitting. They said there was unanimous agreement upon the goal to be reached, and the discussion concerned only the ways and means.

NEW PRICE FOR ROADS REVEALS DECLINE IN COST

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

The road and bridge committee of the county board unanimously recommended yesterday the building of 3.1 more miles of permanent highways. This is to be in One Hundred and Nineteenth street, in the vicinity of Palos Park; and if approved by the board will bring the total mileage in awards this year to 22.9. In the meantime Gov. Small is considering what the state will do.

He says the price should be close to $30,000 a mile, but the county's recommendation yesterday was at $41,737 per mile. This award was approved by Edward M. Tourtelot, manager of the credit department of the First National bank, who happens to be mayor of Palos Park.

This price of $41,757 per mile indicates a drop in material prices as forecast in THE TRIBUNE. The high price is due to the cost of grading and hauling. The paving cost is $2.82 per square yard complete.

State Bids Without Cement.

Bids received by the state for pavement on Feb. 18 and rejected were without cement, of which the cost is estimated from 78 to 82 cents a square yard. Adding the maximum of 82 cents to the state bids on paving a few of the state bids would have been as follows:

County—	Length miles.	Price, sq. yd.
Macon	7.21	$3.34
St. Clair	8.37	3.27
Jackson	2.99	3.52
Perry	10.67	3.00
Livingston	4.54	2.87
Washington	10.76	3.00
Kankakee	6.45	3.17
Effingham	3.41	3.30

In only one instance did the state receive a lower bid than that obtained yesterday by the county. That was on 14.88 miles of roads in Kane county where the price was $1.83 without cement and about $2.65 with cement included. This was rejected by the state. Counting the cement at 82 cents the state's bids average $3.25.

Another feature of the committee action was the questioning of the contractor, which developed that he himself has made a contract to have the grading and hauling done. On those he has little or no chance to lose money. He will do the paving proper himself and appeared anxious for the contract at $2.82 a square yard. He predicted he will finish the job by July 1. The commissioners believe this establishes a maximum price for paving in Cook county this year.

Expect Fight Over Award.

A fight in the county board meeting Monday over the proposed award is anticipated. Some commissioners desire to delay the formal award until Gov. Small receives bids on state roads next Tuesday. They argue that contractors cannot bid more than $2.82 and hope to get a contract from Gov. Small in view of his statements, and predict contractors on state work will bid lower than $2.82 for pavement complete, including the cost of cement. They pointed out the governor will reflect upon the business methods of himself and his administration if he now accepts a bid for paving higher than the one in Kane county which he ordered rejected.

An adequate and attractive system of trail markers to be placed at intersections on all the principal highways of Cook county was authorized by the committee. The markers which will be provided by the Good Roads Service Company of Illinois will be steel posts eight and a half feet high, placed 100 feet on each side of intersections and dangerous points.

On a shield shaped design will be an arrow pointing the direction and below the official insignia of the registered automobile trail on which the marker is placed. The lower portion will be rented to high grade advertisers, so the improvement will cost the public nothing.

The marker at the city limits will show the city name and slogan and on the reverse for motorists leaving will be the names and distances to the next three towns.

LOVE AT SIGHT

ELSIE WESLUND AND SERGT. PHILIP FITZSIMON.

EVERY summer Elsie Weslund had seen lots of flowers out in Jackson park. That is, ever since she could remember, for she is only 4. She had missed the flowers in the winter, for the room where she and her mother live is rather dark and mother has to be gone all day working.

Yesterday the woman with whom mother lives, who is known as Aunt Helen, took Elsie into the wonderland of the loop. Elsie wandered away to Van Buren and Wabash.

Traffic Policeman George Larson spied the little girl alone and asked her where she lived. She told him at 5222 Lake Park avenue. He took her to a place where there were a lot of nice men in blue coats and buttons. She hated to leave when Aunt Helen found her. She wanted to adopt Desk Sergeant Philip Fitzsimon for her father, as her own daddy is dead.

Cops Rush to "Explosion"; Find Engine Cap Blown Off

The cap of an air reservoir on a New York Central engine blew off with a loud report yesterday and a call was sent to the Fiftieth street police station that "another big explosion" had occurred. The engine was at Forty-eighth street on the Lake Shore tracks. No one was injured.

GRAFT CHARGES STIR POPULACE IN ARGENTINA

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

BUENOS AIRES, March 31.—A near riot resulted here last night when a crowd tried to gain entrance to the galleries of the chamber of deputies to hear discussion of charges that Minister of Finance Salaberry had been concerned in irregularities in several commercial transactions.

Yesterday's debate was centered largely on shipments of sugar to New York by two firms, one of which filed suit in the American courts when the American consignee canceled the order.

Certain deputies charge that the lifting of the export embargo, when American sugar prices were much above the Argentine market, resulted in wholesale speculation not only on sugar but on export permits.

The latter phase of the question has given rise to the present charges of irregularities made against Señor Salaberry.

REOPEN INQUIRY NTO MYSTERIOUS ELWELL MURDER

New York, March 31.—[Special.]—The life of Joseph Bowne Elwell and his associates will be investigated again in an effort to solve the mystery of the killing on June 11 of the whist expert and turfman.

Coincident with this announcement today, Mrs. Joseph S. Elwell, at Ridgewood, N. J., gave an interview expressing her belief that her son's slayer is known to certain officials in New York City and has friends powerful enough to protect him from prosecution. District Attorney Swann, in an informel announcement that former Gov. Whitman will handle the investigation, answered Mrs. Elwell's statement with:

"Why doesn't Mrs. Elwell give us the name if she knows it?"

Refers to "Higher-Ups."

Mrs. Elwell, referring to the murder of her son, said:

"Yes, I think he's known to some officials. I've been told that's so, anyway, and they're all just waiting. He has powerful friends—men 'higher up.' Millions of dollars couldn't get him. He's too strong. He's got a pull."

Mrs. Elwell said that the man who killed her son was also responsible for hastening her husband's death last October.

Mrs. Elwell defended her son from attacks made on him.

Mrs. Elwell said she and her daughter, Miss Grace Elwell, had been offered $25,000 by a motion picture concern for certain photo rights, but declined it.

The Elwell killing occurred at his home in West Seventieth street. He was shot in the head. Investigation by police dragged the name of several women friends into the case, but none was directly accused of the crime.

A. T. Ringling, Circusman, Left More than $977,677

New York, March 31.—Alfred T. Ringling of Ringling Brothers' circus, who died in Oak Ridge, N. J., in 1919, left a personal estate of $977,677, appraisals of the estate made public today showed. Mr. Ringling also left large real estate holdings, the value of which was not given. The property is to be divided equally between the widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Ringling of Oak Ridge, and the circus man's son, Richard T. Ringling of New York.

Draw a Check on It for the Unfortunate.

BY REV. G. A. MAC WHORTER.

"The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife," by Anatole France, will be given twice tonight, beginning at 8 and 9 o'clock, at the Girls' Friendly lodge, 54 Scott street, for the benefit of the lodge. The girls who will take part are Dorothy Ann Wood, manager and reader; Laura Harding; Zoe Hilliard, and Dorothy Mitchell, who will work the puppets. The scenery has all been made by Laura Harding. There is a drive on to buy the lodge at 54 Scott street as a permanent home for self-supporting working girls, and the girls themselves are seeking to raise at least $500. Members of the Girls' Friendly society, which has a branch in nearly every Episcopal parish in Chicago, have pledged $5,000.

MILWAUKEE TO HELP POOR PAY OVERDUE RENT

Milwaukee, Wis., March 31.—Milwaukee will have a rent payment relief bureau, it was announced today by Judge Henry Cummings, chief judge of the Civil court, who has been swamped with cases of tenants being unable to pay rent.

The tenant unable to pay his rent is sued for eviction under the plan in view. If the case is regarded as meritorious, it is held open and investigated. If, after investigation, the tenant is found to be deserving, the court will issue an order for one month's rent.

The tenant will be placed on his honor to pay back the money as soon as he is able. No note will be demanded and interest will not be charged. He will be permitted to pay back on the installment plan. A number of prominent citizens have said they will contribute to the bureau fund.

Tornado Kills 1, Hurts 60, Damages Georgia Buildings

Clerks and Employers Sign Agreement for Year

After a deadlock of fifteen days the Retail Clerks' association, local 195, signed an agreement with the Retail Merchants' association of Cook county late last night, effective until a year from today. It provides for a schedule of fifty-four hours a week, no reduction in wages, and a closed shop.

There are 371 members in the clerks' association, employed in retail shops and stores outside of the loop.

Jury Frees Pair Who Got $1,402 for Fake Booze

After four hours' deliberation yesterday a jury before Judge William E. Dever decided $1,402.50 was not an excessive price for colored water sold as whisky, and freed Leo Blockus and Walter Polacki. Joseph Kopacz, a soft drink vender, testified the pair charged him $1,402.50 for a barrel of colored rainwater he thought was whisky.

Picked Up by Men in Stolen Auto, 2 Girls Are Injured

Miss Effie Perkins, 5452 Ingleside avenue, was seriously injured and her roommate, Miss Anna MacLean, slightly hurt in an automobile collision last night. Both girls were taken to the Illinois Central hospital. The police learned the automobile was stolen from Charles Fisher of 811 Van Buren street.

Anna said she and Effie were "picked up" at Clark and Madison streets by two men they did not know. The men, she said, fled after the accident.

The Second April Sale of Towels Commences Today

Bright and Fresh with New Assortments—And Every Towel Price Reduced

THE Annual Sale of Towels for years was a part of the great January Sale of Linens. We started the Towel Sale as a separate event last year because we could give our customers better service by having it separate—and it has proved highly successful.

So here it is again, with every Towel—Face, Bath, Dish, Tea, or any other sort of Towel—and every yard of Toweling—reduced for the month. Fine or coarse, plain or fancy, linen or cotton, they are all in it. And Bath Mats and Washcloths, too.

A Good Time to Buy for Brides' Linen Supplies, and for "Hope Chests"

Since Towels bought now can be monogrammed and ready just about in time for a June Wedding, there is a double advantage in selecting during the Sale.

Among the many specially good values this month are:

Hemmed Linen Huck Towels, 18x36 in., doz., $7.50. Good serviceable quality.

Hemstitched Linen Huck Towels, 18x34 in., doz., $12. Excellent quality.

HATS FOR YOUNG MEN

LOST: AN ISSUE, IN GREAT ROW ON LUMBER BOOSTS

The controversy between Chicago lumbermen and the Illinois Society of Architects as to the extent to which lumber prices have risen during the last seven years apparently blew up yesterday when the arbitration board headed by Justice Jesse Holdom refused to arbitrate.

This action was taken after four hours of hectic argument between counsel as to just what the issue was.

R. W. Childs represented the lumbermen and Joseph B. Lawler appeared as spokesman for the architects. In addition to Judge Holdom, the arbiters were J. R. Noel, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, and Henry Holsman, president of the Illinois chapter, American Institute of Architects.

The architects declared they were prepared to prove their figures showing an increase of 150 per cent in Chicago lumber prices, while the Lumbermen's Association of Chicago declared it had evidence to prove the increase since 1914 was less than 100 per cent. The latter was prepared to pay a forfeit of $1,000 to any charity if the architects' charges were proven.

A row developed when the lumbermen insisted upon bringing in freight rate increases and other figures. The architects insisted only the figures as given in their charges be considered.

JUDGE ORDERS LAWYER RETURN $500 OF HIS FEE

Judge Joseph David yesterday directed Master in Chancery Samuel Andalman to return a fee of $500 to a client, and also ordered that the matter be referred to the Illinois Bar association.

SAM J. ANDALMAN.

Attorneys for Adam Zilius, on trial for bigamy, informed the judge Andalman was given a $500 fee, but told a woman who posed as the second wife of Zilius that it would be necessary to raise another $1,000 to get him out of jail.

The $1,000 was held in escrow by Andalman, and he was to keep what was necessary for attorney's fees, it was claimed; but, the trial over, Andalman refused to return the money.

Judge David ordered Andalman to return $500 or put up $1,000 with the court clerk. Andalman refused, declaring that Judge David lacked jurisdiction, but offered to return $308.06.

"I'll not take it," said Judge David; "this is not bargain day."

"His action was hasty and utterly without warrant of law," Andalman said.

U. S. TAX MONEY JUMPS; TO RETIRE TREASURY ISSUE

Washington, D. C., March 31.—Government finances have been placed in much better shape as a result of tax payments of March 15, exceeding expectations, treasury officials said today in announcing nearly complete figures for the first quarter, when slightly more than $700,000,000 was turned into the treasury.

Because of this condition the treasury is able to begin redemption of approximately $125,000,000 in treasury certificates of indebtedness which will not mature until April 15, and authorization has already been given federal reserve banks by Secretary Mellon to retire these certificates where offered.

In connection with the announcement of the plan for retiring certificates not yet matured, Mr. Mellon called attention to the steady market for this class of government securities. Federal reserve board reports and market quotations, he said, show the demand to be constant, while bank reports reveal that less than $100,000,000 of $2,500,000,000 in certificates outstanding are now pledged with reserve banks as security.

The treasury also has begun the retirement of certificates of indebtedness issued under the Pittman act as a wartime measure to conserve the gold and silver stocks.

How long since you've tasted a regular Pumpkin Pie?

Memories of Autumn — dreams of frosty mornings—visions of "company dinners" on the farm!

Here's a product that brings you old-time, spicy, mellow pumpkin pies—whenever you want them, all year round — without muss, without waste, and at a cost so low it will surprise you.

"Caladero" Pumpkin Flour is exactly the same thing as fresh pumpkin—minus the moisture (which is 90% of the bulk). By our special "Caladero" process of dry-heat dehydration we take out the water and nothing else. All the fine, natural flavor of the fresh garden pumpkins is retained. Simply add water again—then bake just as you would fresh pumpkin. A tablespoonful of the flour makes a delicious pie; a 50-cent canister makes ten.

Treat the family to a "Caladero" fresh pumpkin pie. Ask your Grocer for "Caladero" Pumpkin Flour. He has it — or can easily get it for you.

Our great "Caladero" plant is the largest and best equipped plant of the sort in America. By the same "Caladero" process of scientific dehydration we prepare a complete line of dehydrated fruits and vegetables, —Bartlett pears, peaches, apricots, French prunes and apples, —sweet, pure and wholesome, exactly as they come from the orchards, with only the water removed. Add water and you have the selected fresh fruits. Our "Caladero" vegetables are Atascadero's finest vegetables with only the water removed, —string beans, spinach, peas, carrots, turnips, onions, etc. Ask your Grocer.

You Can Meet These Men
on common ground when you talk to them through our columns

New Englanders of the highest type—able mentally and financially, to do their part—they and their sturdy forefathers have for generations read the Boston Herald-Traveler.

It stands for the substantial things they stand for, and every circulation investigation shows that they stand with it.

Six leading automobile manufacturers and one leading tire manufacturer checked the newspaper reading habits of their owners, and the Herald-Traveler led by a wide margin in each case.

Every canvass of mill, factory or mercantile executives of which we have heard demonstrates anew the absolute dominance among them of the Herald-Traveler.

Brookline, a suburb of Boston and by far the richest town in the world, is absolutely blanketed by the Herald-Traveler.

By every test, the Herald-Traveler proves leadership among those of greatest buying power.

It goes further. It couples its proven grasp of the New England class market with a circulation of OVER A QUARTER MILLION PER DAY.

That advertisers realize the commanding position of the Herald-Traveler is proved by the leadership they have accorded to it in those classifications of advertising which appeal to big buying power.

Automobile Advertising Leadership

In automobile display advertising the Herald's position is shown by its lead of 10,115 lines during the 1921 Boston Automobile Show; its record of leadership for the last four years in Automobile Show Editions, and its leadership in Automobile Display Advertising thus far in 1921.*

Financial Advertising Leadership

Herald-Traveler leadership in financial advertising is clear-cut and unassailable. Every year it leads the field; in 1920 its lead was 154,864 lines.

Magazine Advertising Leadership

In magazine advertising the Herald-Traveler carried 139,740 lines in 1920, an impressive lead of 56,096 lines.

These evidences of Herald-Traveler precedence could be multiplied many times.

It must be evident that a newspaper with so pronounced an advertising leadership in a market twice richer per capita than the United States average is a newspaper that brings extraordinary results to its advertisers.

CARDINAL GETS LAST HONORS OF CHURCH, NATIONS

BY JAMES WHITTAKER.

Baltimore, Md., March 31.—[Special.]—Baltimore street sweeps put down their brooms, bankers their pens, and butchers their cleavers at 10 o'clock this morning and paused reverently for one full minute while a white robed acolyte holding high a silver crucifix passed through the door of the cathedral of the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin and, with processional steps, marched to the purple catafalque of James, Cardinal Gibbons.

Then, having done brief but heartfelt honor to the memory of their townsman, the sweep, the banker, and the butcher—a bit subdued in demeanor—turned back to their morning affairs and left the ritual of formal service for the great dead to the church.

Shows Unusual Honor.

The Roman Catholic church in America never before had done such high honor to one of its servants as was done to the memory of Cardinal Gibbons.

Two having the rank of cardinal were there. They were Louis Wassaire, Cardinal Begin of Quebec, and William, Cardinal O'Connell of Boston.

Archbishop John Bonzano, apostolic delegate to the United States, took precedence over the two cardinals and said the requiem mass.

Every section of the country sent its archbishop, every state its bishops. From secluded country places where there are American chapters of the famous old world orders, abbots and monks came. From European courts came diplomats.

An alert-eyed Japanese dignitary in uniform brought the deference of the Prince of the Sun to the dead prince of the church. Nor were other national tributes lacking, for in the church were Chief Justice White of the United States Supreme court, Postmaster General Hays, and Rear Admiral Benson of the shipping board; Rene Viviani, envoy extraordinary from France to the United States; Jules Jusserand, French ambassador; Baron de Cartier de Marchienne, Belgian ambassador; Ambassador Ricci of Italy, Prince Casimir Lubormirski, Polish minister; Sir Auckland Geddes, ambassador from Great Britain, and the diplomatic representatives in this country of Peru, Argentina, Chile, Brazil, Cuba, and other Latin-American republics, while Gov. Richie represented Maryland, and Mayor Broening, Baltimore.

The procession to the altar was organized in the assembly rooms of Calvert hall college, one of the group of church dependencies which cluster on the highest spot in Baltimore about the cathedral.

The order of ecclesiastic precedence is the reverse of the military. The "generals" of the church army march last.

The Cardinals Enter.

As the cardinals entered the congregation rose to its feet. Each of the three cardinals was attended by two pages in court dress, who held up the long trains of their robes.

In a manner the ear could not detect the Gregorian chant had flowed from organ to altar, where it was taken up by the hundred strong but muted voices of the singing semi-narians.

These singers had been gathered together with care. A week before the death of Cardinal Gibbons a message had come from the Vatican that the pope had directed that the "funeral chant of the popes," a Gregorian manuscript of the Sistine chapel collection, of which this would be the first copy ever made, be sent to Baltimore to be rehearsed for singing at this funeral.

Recalls Rise of Science.

In the funeral sermon Archbishop John Glennon of St. Louis said:

"It appears that for every great crisis in history Providence, as Balmes says, holds in reserve a remarkable man. Now, fifty years ago, there was such a crisis.

"The crosses were taken from courthouse and schoolroom and the living church was everywhere combated, made to feel that its days were numbered.

"For the world was told by the scientists that it was complete without God; and that there was no God, unless, indeed, such divinity as man could himself attain. It was an age of invention, of discovery, of material progress.

"So science in its triumph thought it could despise and reject the Deity. It would take his place in ruling the world. It would train the child how to be scientific, but at the same time godless."

There were three champions, the archbishop said, who combated the new beliefs—"Pope Leo XIII., Manning, and Gibbons of Baltimore."

The mass ended before 1 o'clock and the mourners left the church. Then the crowd that had waited outside in the rain was allowed to enter. It was dusk when the last member of that crowd left the church, then the cardinal's body was placed in a coffin, the same color as that of his cardinal's robe and hat.

A small metal door was opened in the white marble crypt under the sanctuary. After a brief ceremony, the little metal door closed. James, Cardinal Gibbons was at rest in the vault with six other archbishops of Baltimore.

LETS DITCH CONTRACT.

A contract for $7,000 was awarded to E. A. Hanrahan of Lemont to dig a drainage ditch from Lemont to the Sag channel at the regular meeting of the sanitary district board yesterday.

LETTER EXPLAINS DUAL SHOOTING IN HOTEL ROW

Feared Son's Scorn, She Wouldn't Marry Suitor.

In a letter written by a mother who dared not risk the scorn of her 11 year old son, the police believe they have the explanation of the probably fatal shooting of Mrs. Ellen Sapp and the wounding of Thomas Mafrethas of Peoria in the Reliance hotel at Paulina and Madison streets early yesterday.

MRS. ELLA SAPP. (Photo Kiriacopulos.

The letter, written by Mrs. Sapp on Feb. 21, was found in Mafrethas' coat.

The Letter.

"Dear Tom: I received your letter with great joy," it read. "But Tom, dear, can't you understand? Can't you see? I have told you, my dear, so many times that I cannot marry because of my boy, Paul. He knows, Tom dear, that you were the cause of the break between me and his father, and he would never own me as a mother if I married you. I have tried so hard to make you see this, but it seems like you can't understand. It's not because I don't love you, my dear. It's because of Paul. Try to understand, Tom. Try to believe me."

THOMAS MAFRETHAS

Mrs. Sapp is at the county hospital, a bullet wound in her head. Doctors say her chances for recovery are not good. Mafrethas is being held in Warren avenue station.

Mrs. Sapp was divorced by Walter Sapp of Pekin on Sept. 17, 1918, Sapp charging infidelity and naming Mafrethas as co-respondent.

Hotel Raided.

About 2 a. m. yesterday Sergt. Richard Williams and his squad raided the Reliance hotel. The policemen knocked at room 32. Mafrethas appeared. He was not fully dressed.

"We're police officers—come on with us," a detective ordered.

"Just a minute," said the man.

He slammed the door shut. The police heard the bolt slip into place. Then two shots rang out. A woman screamed; then the detectives smashed the door.

"HAY FEVER SPEEDER" FOUND DEAD.

G. T. Minturn, 30 years old, 212 South Clark street, an accountant, was found dead yesterday in his room at the Royal hotel of supposed heart disease. He gained notoriety some time ago when he offered the excuse in Speeders' court that he was driving fast to cure the hay fever of his companion, Mrs. Ida Simpson. He was fined $1 and costs.

NATIONAL "AIR" LAW CONSIDERED BY CABINET MEN

Washington, D. C., March 31.—[Special.]—Steps to improve and if possible to unify the various aviation services under the government control were taken today at a conference of Secretary of War Weeks, Secretary of Commerce Hoover, Postmaster General Hays, and Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt.

Among the recommendations likely to grow out of the conference are a national air regulation law; standardization of construction, and coöperative buying by the various departments.

Illinois Central System Discusses Subject of Freight Rate Reduction

There is a good deal of discussion at this time, especially in the press, about railway freight rates. Some writers contend that they are too high and constitute an impediment to business. Others, having more regard for the necessity of adequate transportation, and the increased cost of producing it, consider the present level of freight rates reasonable and advocate at least a fair try-out—which has not yet been had.

It is admitted that there are inequalities in some of the rates that will have to be adjusted, but the basic rate is not too high, at present operating costs, if the railways are to be expected to furnish adequate transportation. The question of adequate transportation is one that is often lost sight of. Without it business cannot be carried on successfully.

So eminent an authority as Chairman Edgar E. Clark of the Interstate Commerce Commission, whose ability and fidelity to the public interest is unquestioned, has recently called attention to the narrow margin between railway revenue and operating expenses and fixed charges. In view of existing conditions, it is unfortunate that there should be an agitation for the lowering of freight rates. This can only result in raising false hopes that the rates can be reduced, and perhaps in retarding the development of business. If shippers are led to believe the rates can, or will, be reduced, they will naturally postpone shipments.

Stability of the rates at which the commerce of the country is carried is of the utmost importance. If freight rates should be manipulated up and down in response to every temporary business fluctuation, it would naturally result in more serious business depressions. Railway freight rates must be operative over a period of time to insure business stability.

It is contended by some that a reduction of rates would encourage shipping and provide more adequate railway revenue through a greater volume of traffic—that the August rate increase created a restriction on business and was a factor in precipitating the depression which followed. Take cotton, for example. A year ago cotton was selling for about 40 cents a pound, while in November, more than two months after the August increase became effective, the price was about 15 cents. The present market price is about 11 cents. If a reduction of 50 per cent were made in the freight rate on cotton, it probably would not result in the movement of a bale of cotton which will not move at the present rate.

A study of the situation will show that the August increase in rates had an almost negligible effect upon business. During September and October, and well into November, the railways handled a maximum traffic. By the middle of November the "buyers' strike," which began early in the summer, was reflected in a general recession of business. The public had gone on strike against war prices and was determined to force liquidation.

The pre-war freight rates were not sufficient to attract as much new capital as was needed for enlargement and expansion of the railway plant. The cost of labor, materials and supplies, in all probability, will never go back to pre-war levels. They ought not to do so entirely. Business should adjust itself to the present level of freight rates, at least until net railway operating income, through economical and efficient management, rises to a point where a reduction of freight rates would be justified without impairment of service.

There are few lines of business prospering during this reconstruction period. The farmers are not prospering and the great manufacturing industries are not prospering. They are going through the same readjustment process that the railways are going through. The railways are struggling back to normal, and they will succeed if they have the support and confidence of the public—if the public is not led astray by the unconstructive criticism of those who would like to see them fail.

Wholesome criticism is a good thing, but wholesome criticism coupled with a remedy is a better thing. Any student of the railway question knows that the railways, carrying the burdens that have been fastened upon them by war prices and government control, cannot function without rates commensurate with their increased expenses. Since 1917 freight rates in the United States are estimated to have increased on the whole about 68 per cent and passenger fares about 45 per cent. During the same period railway wages have increased more than 100 per cent, while materials and supplies have increased from 100 to 200 per cent, and even more.

Ultimately, the burdensome costs of producing transportation will be lower. In the meantime, the basic freight rate cannot be lowered if the country's transportation plant is to function. The public's stake is primarily in having a railway plant at all and in keeping it at service pitch. The railway's stake is in earning enough net income to maintain itself and attract the necessary capital to improve itself so that service can be rendered.

America is sound to the core; American business principles are sound; and we should not be disheartened over conditions. However, this is a time when clear thinking is needed—a time to stand for the principles that gave to America the greatest and most efficient system of railways in the world. Above all, it is not a time to lend encouragement to those who are seeking to fasten permanently upon the railways the very evils from which they are now struggling to free themselves.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

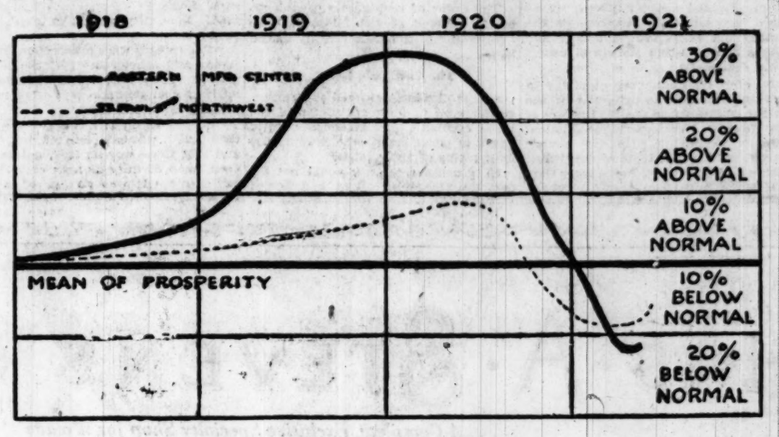
ST. PAUL'S PROSPERITY

Up Less—Down Less—Sooner Back to Normal

St. Paul
A Steady Market

This is a city of diversified industries, with consequently a minimum of labor unrest. A large majority of the citizens own their own homes. It is truly a city representing a steady market—a city of steady buying habits.



St. Paul
Dispatch-Pioneer Press

provides the national manufacturer and distributor with access to all parts of the Northwest, and at the same time it gives the needed foothold in the oldest, richest and most thickly settled section of the territory—first.

Brief Facts on Business Conditions in the Northwest

Automobiles

Minnesota is an exceptionally good selling field for automobiles and accessories. Especially is this true of the southeastern and southwestern portions of the state, where the population, industry and commerce show the greatest strength. April, 1920, showed 268,139 automobiles in the state, or an increase over the previous year of 60,643. The automobile market is best in approximately the same field where the circulation of the Dispatch-Pioneer Press is strongest.

Trucks

Minnesota has already started work on the construction of seven thousand miles of highway system, which means this state will have under the course of construction during 1921 more miles of hard surfaced road building than any other state in the country. This is a vital fact to the manufacturer or distributor of trucks wishing to reach this territory. As Minnesota's road building program progresses, a larger selling field for automotive trucks is assured.

Road Construction

Approximately $20,000,000 will be expended in the state of Minnesota during 1921 for a trunk line of Highway systems. $6,000,000 of this amount is state fund appropriation and $3,000,000 is derived from Federal aid. The 86 counties of Minnesota will provide a proportionate sum in keeping with the state fund for highway construction work. Minnesota's road building program calls for the construction of approximately seven thousand miles of hard surfaced highway.

Road Machinery

When Amendment No. 1 passes the legislature this week, Minnesota will continue on the construction of seven thousand miles of Trunk Highway System as called for under the original Babcock plan. This means there will be more road construction machinery sold in the state of Minnesota during 1921 than has ever been recorded in any previous year. Not only will there be a big field for road construction machinery, but heavy duty truck sales will increase materially.

Automobile Tires

With Minnesota's more than 300,000 automobiles and trucks, which are rapidly growing in number every day, there exists an unlimited selling field for the automotive tire industry in this territory. While the automobile tire business in St. Paul and adjacent territory has had its ups and downs during the past few months, yet this field has a big future in keeping with the progress of other industrial lines of commerce. The Northwest furnishes an excellent tire field.

Clothing—Textiles

While there has been a slightly below normal market in Clothing and Textiles in St. Paul during the past twelve months, there seems to be a decided gain shown in these lines during the past forty-five days. Men's and women's ready-to-wear garments, wearing apparel accessories and textiles are fast resuming a normal period of selling. St. Paul and the Northwest territory provide a field for clothing and textiles which is showing rapid growth.

Live Stock

South St. Paul, adjoining St. Paul on the southeast, is the fastest growing live stock market in the world. So rapid is its growth that the big packers predict it eventually will be second only to Chicago in importance. Approximately 300 stockmen from throughout the Northwest are in the South St. Paul market daily disposing of their live stock, for which they are paid more than $250,000,000 every year. There are nearly 8,000,000 head of live stock in Minnesota.

Dairy Situation

More than 140,000 million dollars annually are placed in circulation in Minnesota through the dairy industry alone. Unlike the proceeds from grain crops this comprises a steady, all-year-round income—a fact of vital importance in connection with the prosperity and purchasing power of the people who live in the territory. The greatest dairy cow market in the United States is located at South St. Paul. Minnesota is generously dotted with good dairy centers.

Agriculture

St. Paul is the Agricultural Capital of the Northwest. A great transition is occurring throughout large part of the Northwest. It is the same transition which occurred in Illinois, Iowa, and Southeastern Minnesota a number of years ago—the change from grain to live stock farming—which means diversified agriculture, with all that it implies in steady all-year-round production. Every year thousands of farmers are looking to St. Paul as a more progressive agricultural center.

Great Food Market

St. Paul is a food market of no small means. This is due to the fact that a large majority of the residents of the city own their homes. The buying habits of the people of St. Paul are steady and consequently profitable for the manufacturer who thoroughly establishes his product. The retail grocers of St. Paul do a business of approximately $30,000,000 yearly. More than 4,000 persons are employed in the wholesale and retail marketing of food in St. Paul.

Financial Strength

St. Paul is the home of the Federal Land Bank of the Ninth District. The general banking business throughout the state of Minnesota is in a sound, prosperous condition. There are many banks in the dairying districts, and 50% of all the banks in the state have no bills payable. The live stock interests of South St. Paul, which are directly reflected in St. Paul banks, give financial strength to the city's position as the Agricultural Capital of the Northwest.

Labor Situation

An unusually large percentage of laborers in St. Paul own their own homes. For this reason there has been a great deal less labor unrest exhibited than ordinarily is the case in a city the size of St. Paul. This city's location as the key point and railroad center of the Northwest brings many workers here. However, St. Paul being on a nearer back to normal industrial basis than many other cities, there are relatively fewer industrial laborers out of employment.

Retail Survey

St. Paul's general retail situation is on a steady incline to normal conditions. There are very few products in the retail industry in St. Paul that have not shown a decided gain since the first of the year. It must be remembered that St. Paul's line of prosperity did not soar to the extreme heights as other sections of the country have done during the past four years. Therefore, the commercial, industrial and financial interests of this city are in a sound condition.

Railroad Facilities

St. Paul's network of railroad yards is capable of storing vast numbers of freight cars. All of the 23 lines of railroad which tap the Northwest center in St. Paul. St. Paul has the only Union Station in the Twin Cities (known as St. Paul and Minneapolis), extensive switching facilities and The Railroad Building—the largest structure in the world devoted exclusively to railroad offices. St. Paul is truly an important railroad center of activity.

Travel and Tourists

Minnesota has been put on an equal basis with Colorado and other Rocky Mountain states, as far as summer tourist business is concerned. Special round-trip rates are in effect from southwestern states to points in Minnesota, the ten thousand lakes state. The action of the railroads in recognizing that the summer attractions of Minnesota merit equal consideration with other nationally known playgrounds is a big boost for the state.

This Paper Will Help Sell Merchandise, Because—

THE Dispatch-Pioneer Press is delivered twice daily, morning and evening, into more than 92% of the English speaking homes of St. Paul. There is no repetition of news matter in the morning Pioneer Press or the evening Dispatch. Each publication is a complete 12-hour service newspaper. This is an important point for advertisers, because it means constantly renewed reader interest.

THE circulation of the Dispatch-Pioneer Press is strongest in the Northwest territory where the population, wealth, commerce and productivity are greatest. The St. Paul Dispatch-Pioneer Press with its 140,394 daily and 117,146 Sunday circulation is especially strong in the St. Paul salient—southeastern Minnesota—the key point of activity in this great Northwest.

'MIX AND LEARN,' EVANS ADVISES MEDILL SCHOOL

Tells Value of Contact to Newspaper Man.

I hate to harp on it, but CONTACT is the word. Don't be afraid to mix. Almost any man you meet can tell you something you don't know—it may not be true, but it yields a point of view at any rate.

ARTHUR M. EVANS.

BY EYE WITNESS.

This Arthur M. Evans, who lectured at the Medill School of Journalism of Northwestern university last evening on "Popularizing Economics for the Newspaper Reader," is a wonder in his way, and his way is very important. He made it so.

You pass his desk and you see it piled high with blue books and reports and charts and tabulations and house and senate documents and brochures from bureaux, the very names of which give off a musty odor and a dusty air, and you see A. M. E. bending over all that truck and digging into it and you say, "There's a life sentence at breaking stone!"

But it is not so.

Studies His Subjects.

He fingers it over and deftly extracts the vitals of it, and makes calculations, and then takes a train into the Kansas cornfields, or to Ellis Island, or to the wheat plains of Manitoba, or to the state capital, or to the London docks, or to the mills at Gary.

Then in a few days begins coming into the office by cable or telegraph another authentic Arthur Evans series—exact, human, and vivid—on some economic situation, or trend, or development that comes close home to men's business and bosoms—and women's and children's, too. Things these are about your food, your wages (the wages you pay and the wages you get), your rent, price and quality of clothing, domestic service, currents of immigration.

Intensely Human.

So, you see, Mr. Evans is not dry-as-dust or blue bookish at all, but intensely human and intimate in his relation to life as it has somehow to be lived. Perhaps, if we only knew it—and more and more people are every year coming to know it—his articles are the most important human documents this journal prints.

What his secret is—how he fashions and manipulates his material and touches it to life—was the subject of his Medill lecture (the sixth in the course of fifteen called "Lectures from the Laboratory"), and it was fine and subtle how, without ever exploiting himself, he imparted to the students that the source and the foundation of his success are hard, unremitting study of the books—current and standard—and the personal contacts with men and situations, and trends that have not got themselves crystallized into situations.

Calls Statistics Portrayals.

He said statistics, after you have gripped them, and verified them, and coördinated them, and got at the humanity in them, become "portrayals"—sort of living pictures, movies if you like, of the times and customs, and that if you read them rightly and handle them rightly almost everybody with any sense of the importance and interest of existence will read them because by transmutation and arrangement they become economics.

He was insistent that you must not be too fancy in "popularizing economics for the newspaper reader," saying that "to make the multiplication table stand on its head and play the saxophone in jazztime, while it may draw attention, does not add to the solidity of a story on serious affairs."

Utilizes Thursday's Tribune.

He gave the students a survey of yesterday's TRIBUNE to show them how vital and popular is economic news and how untrue is the loose charge that a successful newspaper gives the predominance to sensation and scandal. For in that one issue were twenty-three economic articles touching every phase of human necessities and problems from janitors and job printers to waterways and school board budgets.

It was one of the closest-packed lectures I ever reported.

American movements in heavy, ivory grain cases—several styles from which to select. 1.95 is about half price. First floor.

Women's tricotine and twill suits that exactly copy high cost models

If you have yet to purchase a new spring suit, thrift suggests your seeing these—for they are quoted 'way below regular. Their slender, "youthful" lines are decidedly "vogue."

Stunning new blouse and

belted coat models

The jackets silk lined; the suits trimmed with self folds, tucking or emb'y.

Man-tailored---hand-finished tailormades

You will admire the smartness and novelty of the three models sketched—and they typify the charm of the entire group of suits at $75. Fourth floor.

Girls' white frocks

of Swiss organdie and nets ---for first communion or for confirmation wear. Also frocks of georgette or crepe de chine, with tucks, lace, ruffles and hand embroidery. Fourth floor.

8.75 to 27.50

Model sketched is of net, trimmed with yarn embroidery and satin ribbon; 6 to 12 years. 17.50.

Girls' polo coats, 18.50

—in popular belted sports style, lined; suitable for general wear. Fourth floor.

Women's new coats, capes, wraps of wool, silk, or combinations

Late Parisian themes, and clever American adaptations, combine to make these wraps desirable indeed. The new silhouettes are distinctly becoming, and delightfully diversified. Fourth floor.

with novel slynx collar

The slender, youthful model, silk lined throughout, sketched.

Women's daytime wraps, $75

Of black satin and veldyne, richly lined with radium silk. Illustrated. Fourth floor.

Women's veldyne wraps, $85

Replicas of high cost models; of veldyne in novel spring shades; silk lined. Sketched.

Women's frocks: taffeta, georgette

canton crepe and crepe de chine

The silks are spring's favorites, you will note—and the styles are of a freshness and distinction remarkable even in this store, "where costuming is held an art."

Frocks with bugle and iridescent beads

$75

Frocks with silk and tinsel embroidery

The redingote frock pictured is of chiffon taffeta, with underdress of canton crepe, and gold thread embroidery.

The values are much above the ordinary

The afternoon frock pictured is of georgette crepe over creped satin, with iridescent beads. The crepe de chine over satin is eyelet and silk embroidered. Fourth floor.

WHO'S DRY CHIEF? MIXUP PUZZLES BOOZE OFFICIALS

Stone Reported Named in Richardson's Place.

The resignation of Frank D. Richardson, as federal supervising prohibition agent for the central department badly jumbled the official "Who's Who" of dry chiefs in the Chicago district when it became effective yesterday at midnight. Local authorities were in a quandary over who was in charge.

From Washington dispatches told of the unexpected appointment of Ralph W. Stone, federal prohibition director for Illinois, as Richardson's successor. Announcement was made there that for a while he would fill both his present position and that of supervising agent for the district.

Claim Assistant Is Chief.

Richardson and other officials contended that Elliott Evans, first assistant to Richardson, was acting federal dry chief. They said his promotion was automatic upon his superior's resignation.

Evans admitted he was "at sea" on the matter. He said he had wired to Washington for instructions, but had received none.

Regulations were received from the department of internal revenue authorizing the withdrawal in larger quantities from warehouses of wine and whisky for medicinal purposes.

Druggists in the future will be permitted to withdraw 100 gallons of wine and whisky each three months.

CALLS PUBLIC HOSTILE

Washington, D. C., March 31.—Difficulties in enforcing national prohibition include hostile public sentiment, lack of coöperation by the states, bootlegging, and issuance of too many dealers' permits, according to John F. Kramer, federal prohibition commissioner.

What he termed his "honest views" on prohibition were given by Mr. Kramer in a letter to Senator Capper of Kansas, and made public today by the latter. Commenting on charges that liquor was being sold openly by 913 New York saloons, Mr. Kramer detailed the problems of the "dry" officers and also suggested remedies.

Years of Work Ahead.

"In view of all these conditinos and circumstances," said Mr. Kramer, "I believe we have made remarkable progress since the national prohibiiton act has been in existence. We still have much work to do and will have for years to come."

Mr. Kramer said that the Volstead law itself was sound, and that he was not advocating any radical revision of the law. Too many permits for medicinal preparations containing alcohol were issued originally, he said. These have been reduced. Permits for manufacturing industrial alcohol are being curtailed.

Among recommendations made by the prohibition director to tighten up enforcement were: Removal of whisky to a few large and well guarded warehouses, increase of prohibition agents on the Canadian and Mexican borders, and enactment of prohibition codes by all the states.

ARRESTS FURNISH PROOF OF CHIEF'S PAROLE CHARGES

Evidence supporting charges made recently by Chief Fitzmorris and Chief of Detectives Michael Hughes that criminals were being paroled from penal institutions in neighboring states and no report made to the Chicago police was obtained yesterday in the arrest of two ex-convicts.

They are Walter McComb, 1046 West Chicago avenue, and Charles Conroy, alias Ralph Lawson, 3537 West Van Buren street. They were arrested Wednesday night by Detective Sergeants Woodrick and McDonald. They were identified as members of a robber gang that held up L. E. Plomgren, cashier of the Western Newspaper Union, in February and obtained $280.

Records reveal that Conroy has been paroled twice within the last two years. In March, 1918, he was paroled from the reformatory at Jeffersonville, Ind., where he was serving a term for robbery, and in August, 1920, was paroled from an institution in Ionia, Mich., where he was sent on a similar charge. No report was received for parole.

HINTS REFUSAL OF DIVORCE FOR F. J. GOULD'S WIFE

New York, March 31.—[Special.]—After hearing the arguments on Frank J. Gould's motion to dismiss the complaint of his wife, Edith Kelly Gould, in the Supreme court this afternoon, Justice George V. Mullan gave Mr. Gould's attorney until Monday to submit memoranda.

The judge said, in his opinion, to allow a person who had been beaten in the French courts to seek a victory in the courts here would be a "stupendous stultification of justice." Mrs. Gould, who sought a divorce in Paris and lost, filed a complaint in the New York courts. It probably will be some time after Justice Mullan receives the memorandum before he announces a decision on the motion.

Takes Antagonist's Gun Away and Shoots Him

Michael Solak, 45 years old, of 1709 West Chicago avenue, was shot in the head last night by John Miller, 30 years old, a laborer, living at the same address. Solak drew a revolver, but before he could use it Miller snatched it away and fired several times. Solak was taken to the county hospital and Miller was locked up at the West Chicago avenue station.

Club Woman Sues for Divorce, but Secrecy Is Maintained.

MRS. LUCIAN C. SPRAGUE.
[Moffett Photo.]

MRS. LUCIAN C. SPRAGUE, clubwoman and speaker for the national Republican committee in the last presidential campaign, is the complainant in a divorce bill filed yesterday in the Superior court.

Both Mrs. Sprague and the attorney, Arthur J. Haggenjos, denied she was the Mrs. Edith Sprague in whose name the bill was filed. Attorney Haggenjos declared the defendant, Lucian C. Sprague, "an obscure coal stoker."

Mrs. Sprague was reached last night at the Edgewater Beach hotel, where she has been a guest since she returned from California with her husband three weeks ago. Lucian Sprague, a wealthy railroad supplies dealer, is making his headquarters at the Stratford hotel. Mrs. Sprague charges him with misconduct with other women.

FUND FOR FAMILY OF O'NEILL, SHOT ON DUTY, NOW $1,352

THE memorial fund being raised for the family of "Paddy" O'Neill, as he was popularly known by his brother officers, has so far amounted to less than $250 outside of two large contributions, one for $100 and the other for $1,000. More than a week ago he was shot down while seeking to make the arrest of one of the worst criminals known to the police. Chief Fitzmorris in appealing for relief funds for his widow and three little children wrote:

"O'Neill's death left a widow and three children, the eldest in the neighborhood of 11 years. He was without income except his salary, out of which he was endeavoring to pay for a home. I believe that this case is deserving of the consideration of those who have joined in guaranteeing a fund to care for the families of members of this department who have been killed on duty."

The fund, now in the care of the "Bank of Kindness," totals to date $1,352, including checks for $10 from C. J. C. and $5 from J. H. G.

THIRD WARD TO HAVE COMMUNITY MEETING PLACE

Social, civic, religious, and philanthropic organizations in the Third ward, will have a common meeting place after Tuesday. The Third ward community council, formerly the woman's committee of the State Council of Defense, will reopen its doors at that time at 4254 Drexel boulevard. The council will be run under the leadership of Mrs. Melva Gartin Funk, formerly chairman of the Third ward unit woman's committee, State Council of Defense. Mrs. L. Brackett Bishop, one of the vice presidents of the council, will also aid in the opening exercises.

Galbraith Charges Baker with Neglect of Veterans

New York, March 31.—[Special.]—F. W. Galbraith, national commander of the American Legion, charged former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker with having caused "great, uncalled for suffering" to disabled men, during a speech tonight at the Town hall at a meeting to stimulate aid for disabled veterans. Cheers and groans greeted Mr. Galbraith's assertion: "It was an outrageous, damnable thing that the disabled man suffered at the hands of the former secretary of war—and I am from Ohio, too."

$100,000,000 IN WORK; UNION MEN SPURN WAGE CUT

Labor Leaders Stand Pat for $1.25 an Hour.

Officials of the Building Trades council rejected a proposal by the Building Contractors' association yesterday to reduce wages of mechanics and laborers.

The union men were informed that if they would agree to accept $1 an hour for skilled mechanics and 70 cents for building laborers, contracts for $100,000,000 worth of new buildings would be let within thirty days. The present wage scale is $1.25 an hour for mechanics and $1 for laborers. Many are out of work.

"We rejected the offer," said Thomas S. Kearney, president of the Building Trades council, last night. "We will, however, put it up to the delegates at the regular meeting of the council Friday night at Carpenters' hall." Nine other union officials were with him.

Will Ask Carpenters to Act.

A meeting between representatives of the carpenters and the Builders' association of Chicago will be held next Thursday, at which it is understood the proposal will be made that the carpenters accept $1 an hour and certain changes in their working agreement.

Edward M. Craig, secretary of the Building Contractors Employers' association, said: "The meeting was called to place the question of reducing the wages of workmen employed in the building industry. A uniform working day from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. was also sought.

"We explained the attitude of the association regarding the present condition and demonstrated that members of the association are endeavoring to get work started. The public will not build at the present union scale.

"No Ill Feeling in Meeting."

"Some of the union representatives brought up the high cost of living and rent increases. At no time during the meeting was there the slightest bit of ill feeling on either side.

"Officials of the unions, in advocating $1.25 an hour for the workmen, said the efficiency of the men had so increased that it should offset the proposed reduction in wages."

OPPOSE U. S. INTERFERENCE

Government interference in business was deplored by speakers at the third congress of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association at the Congress hotel yesterday. All of them pointed out that unless business is permitted to operate with fewer restrictions it will come to a standstill.

Among the speakers were Leslie M. Shaw, secretary of the treasury under President Roosevelt; George Wilder Cartwright, former United States senator from California, and Patrick H. Kelley, congressman at large from Michigan.

"The fathers of this country did not create a democracy," Mr. Shaw said. "They didn't want one. They wanted and created a republic, which is far different from a democracy. I never heard, and I am sure none of you men who are as old as I am ever heard, of this country being a democracy until the last few years.

"This government was created a republic, and we want to keep it as such. Russia is a democracy, and if you want the sort of government they have over there, go to it. The country is yours."

Woman Solicitor Charges Realty Man Beat Her

A warrant for the arrest of Frederick H. Froemke, real estate dealer at 1709 West Fifty-ninth street, was secured yesterday by Mrs. H. A. Chapman, 6225 Ellis avenue, a solicitor for a sales company. When Mrs. Chapman entered his office, Froemke jumped up and beat and choked her, according to her landlady, Mrs. L. Rice, who said Mrs. Chapman was so bruised she could hardly talk. Mrs. Chapman is about 23 years old. Froemke was released on $2,000 bonds.

Two Soldiers Are Killed in Collision of Trucks

Rockford, Ill., March 31.—Private Walter Baker, motorcycle company No. 6, and Sergt. Joseph R. Harvey, company F, 53d infantry, Camp Grant, Ill., were killed here tonight when a United States army mail truck driven by Baker, crashed into a motor bus. Baker's home address is 17 Kopenik street, Detroit, Mich. Melvin Peterson, 6th military police, Camp Grant, and Rudolph Brekman of Rockford were seriously injured.

LET'S BEAT IT

FALSE TIPS ON O'CONNOR LEAD TO FUTILE RAIDS

Police on Jump to Nab Slayer.

Policemen and detectives last night continued their relentless search for "Tommy" O'Connor, the alleged slayer of Detective Sergeant "Paddy" O'Neill. All trails proved false, however, and numerous raids fruitless. A house at 1806 Adams street was raided after a telephone call. Nothing came of this, and the police believe the call a hoax. Soon afterward they responded to another report that O'Connor had been seen in a flat at North Campbell and West Chicago avenues.

"It is this fighting spirit the men are showing which will eventually end in O'Connor's capture," Chief of Detectives Michael Hughes declared.

Indiana Sheriff's Tip Fails.

One of the numerous arrests looked promising last night when Sheriff William Pennington of Valparaiso, Ind., telephoned that he had O'Connor in custody.

The man gave the name of Adam Sylvis and said his home was in Toledo, O., but the sheriff said he was certain O'Connor's picture was that of the man he held.

"Has he got a mole on his wrist?" Chief Clerk William Rohan of the detective bureau asked the sheriff over the telephone.

"No," the sheriff replied.

"Well, that's not O'Connor," the chief clerk told him. But a new picture was sent to the sheriff.

Eight detectives were dispatched to Peoria to make a thorough search of the "badlands" there, believing O'Connor might have sought refuge among his acquaintances in that city.

Fear Guns of Gangland.

Meantime the fear of the guns of O'Connor and his west side gang penetrated Judge Johnston's courtroom yesterday, and caused three witnesses to "forget" to appear in court. They were William Hanson, butcher at 3106 Lawrence avenue, his wife, and son, William. The three had been called to testify against Louis J. Miller, said to be the only "eyewitness" of the shooting of "Jimmy" Cherin, with whose murder O'Connor was charged. The witnesses are expected to appear today. Miller is charged with the robbery of Hanson's butcher shop.

Woman Alone in Home Bound, Gagged, Robbed

Mrs. Susie Butchis, 30 years old, 2510 West Madison street, was beaten on the head with the butt end of a revolver, then bound and gagged by four armed robbers who entered her flat last night. The robbers escaped with $20. They used a clothesline with which to tie her. She was alone in the flat.

BEG YOUR PARDON

An item yesterday stated that Alex Kakula died of a mysterious ailment Tuesday night ten minutes after he had been administered medicine by Dr. S. H. Robin. Dr. Robin states that the patient passed away before there was time to give him medicine.

In announcing arrangements for the funeral services for Mrs. George M. Pullman THE TRIBUNE yesterday referred to the former pastor of Second Presbyterian church as the Rev. Charles F. Richards. The former pastor is the Rev. Charles F. Wishart. It was also stated the services would be held at Graceland cemetery. They will be held at 2 p. m. Monday at the Pullman residence by the Rev. Mr. Wishart and the Rev. Josiah Sibley, present pastor of the church. Burial will be at Graceland, the date to be announced later.

GIVEN PRISON SENTENCE.

Toledo, O., March 31.—Found guilty by a jury two weeks ago of a serious charge against several young girls, David A. Barnett, prominent Toledo business man, was sentenced today to serve from one to twenty years in the penitentiary. Barnett's bond was raised to $15,000 pending appeal.

PUBLIC TO PARK AUTOS BENEATH NEW LINK BRIDGE

Semaphores in Loop Also Ordered.

The council local transportation committee clashed twice at the loop traffic knot yesterday, directing that the semaphore system of traffic control be given an immediate trial in the loop, and that the lower level of the boulevard link be opened for the parking of automobiles.

The alderman also ordered an investigation of the proposal that only right hand turns be permitted at the intersection of State street with Madison, Washington, and Randolph streets.

The lower level of the Michigan avenue improvement between Lake street and Grand avenue will accommodate 409 cars. The Chicago Motor club will supervise parking there and maintain a checking system and guards.

Immediate Action.

"Both as commissioner of public works and as vice president of the Chicago Motor club I will attempt to get the checking system working at once," said Charles R. Francis. "In three years not even a tire was stolen from Grant park when the club had a checking system there."

The city has the club's written pledge that it will not solicit new members in connection with the checking system and that no special privileges will be extended to club members.

The semaphore system caught the eye of the committee in Los Angeles on its recent western trip. It was ordered installed at six downtown corners. Four semaphores, electrically operated and synchronized with those at other street intersections, will be operated at these corners.

Change Every Thirty Seconds.

"In Los Angeles the semaphore arms change from 'Stop' to 'Go' automatically every thirty seconds," Maj. R. F. Kelker Jr., city traction supervisor, explained.

Variations in the flow of traffic caused one objection to the automatic operation of the system. "It will be a matter of education," said Chairman Schwartz. "Los Angeles policemen say the semaphore has it all over the whistle."

Judge Fisher Discusses Courts of the Soviet

Judge Harry M. Fisher, selected by the Jewish people of the United States as a member of a committee to supervise the distribution of upwards of $2,000,000 for relief work in Russia, yesterday addressed the Chicago Bar association in the Hotel La Salle on the judicial system of Russia. He said the soviet judges were elected by illiterate peasants and that some courts had absolute power of arrest, prosecution, and execution.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

Would you honor Chicago pioneers by giving their names to great public improvements; what would you call the new Michigan avenue bridge?

Where Asked.

The Answers.

Marguerite Philson, 1025 Dakin street, bookkeeper — The pioneers who laid out and helped build this city should be remembered. The Michigan avenue bridge, with its massiveness and beauty, should be named after some great Chicagoan. I think "the Armstrong" would be a suitable name.

Margaret Noyes, 6720 Calumet avenue, switchboard operator—Naming improvements after pioneers is a very good way to keep in the memories of the people now living comfortably where the forefathers had to put up with many hardships. I think a good name for a new bridge would be "the Harrison."

J. M. Schutte, Alexandria hotel, salesman—I think it would be proper to name improvements in a large city like Chicago after its founders. They are deserving of it. An appropriate name for the new bridge would be "Fort Dearborn bridge."

Ann Leoni, 5445 West Monroe street, assistant auditor—Well, we might do some of the great men of former years the honor of having big improvements named after them. But, why not name the new link bridge after some one of the men of today, who built it?

Dr. David A. Frankel, 30 North Michigan avenue, dentist—Yes, I would honor these pioneers. They are entitled to that courtesy. But I think it would be a bad idea to change the name of the new bridge, because it is known the world over as the Michigan avenue bridge.

TWO SCALDED BY ESCAPING STEAM.

Otto Steiner, 2629 West Fifteenth place, chief engineer of the Chicago Packing company, 4325 Gross avenue, was severely scalded by escaping steam yesterday. Mike Swiatolski, 4926 South Winchester avenue, a foreman, was slightly scalded.

UNIONS STRIKE AT TWO SMALL FIRMS IN YARDS

Walkout on Packers Not Likely to Spread.

Strikes were called yesterday in two of the smaller packing companies in the stockyards because these companies, according to union officials, had refused to comply with the provisions of the Alschuler agreement as to wage rates and seniority rights.

The concerns forced to suspend operations at noon, following a walkout, were the Independent Packing company, at Forty-first and Halsted streets, and the William Davis company, 4057 South Union avenue.

According to the union men, 800 men walked out of the Independent company plant, and 300 from the Agar-Davies plant. Patrick Brennan, superintendent of the Independent company, said only 400 were on strike in his plant, that the engineers and firemen had remained, and that he intended to get a new supply of men today and resume operations.

Strike Will Fail, Packers Say.

"The strike is destined to fail," said James F. Agar, president of the William Davies company. "It was called in an effort to force us to keep on our pay rolls a few incompetent and undesirable workmen, and has nothing to do with the wage agreement in Washington. We began last Wednesday to pay the same scale as the larger packers and accepted the agreement.

"We feel that such an attempt is un-American. It was instigated by a few radical leaders. Ninety-five per cent of our men wanted to continue, but were forced to quit.

"The strike was called in direct defiance of the plan proposed by the government. If any of the men who struck are reëmployed, it will be only as new employés. Their seniority rights will be considered forfeited. Operations will be resumed immediately."

Other Companies Accept Terms.

That the strike trouble will not spread further is indicated in dispatches from Washington last night stating that twelve Chicago companies had agreed to accept the same agreement that the "big five" packers signed with the secretary of labor. This list includes the Independent company, but the union men claim this company, although it may have signed the agreement, is not living up to it.

"If it is true that Mr. Brennan has sent his agreement to Washington, then he is guilty of double crossing the government in addition to his violation of the understanding with his employés," said Dennis Lane, secretary-treasurer of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen's union.

"This morning he was hiring new men at 35 and 40 cents an hour, whereas the minimum wage, after deducting the 8 cent cut which we adopted, is 45 cents an hour."

Unions Demand Others Sign Up.

Mr. Lane said the union would take similar steps against twelve other Chicago concerns if they did not sign up with the other packers in the Washington agreement.

PACKER COMPETITION LESS.

Washington, D. C., March 31.—[Special.]—The relinquishment of the grocery business by the packers, proclaimed by Attorney General Palmer as a "busting" of the food trust, has resulted in lessening instead of increasing competition, in the case of the side lines of Wilson & Co. of Chicago, according to a complaint filed with the trade commission.

The commission has cited Austin, Nichols & Co., Inc., to appear and defend itself against the charge of violation of the Clayton act prohibiting concerns to acquire competitors with the result of lessening competition.

Wilson & Co. formerly controlled the Fame Canning company, Wilson Fisheries company, and a vegetable canning plant at Whiteland, Ind.

"Anticipating the decree in the government suit enjoining packers from engaging in unrelated lines of business," says the complaint, "Wilson & Co. entered into an agreement with a principal stockholder representing all the stockholders of the Austin, Nichols & Co., Inc., the New York company, by the terms of which agreement it was provided that the properties of Austin, Nichols & Co. of New York, the Fame Canning company, the Wilson Fisheries company, and the Whiteland, Ind., Vegetable Canning plant would be consolidated and operated through a new corporation to be organized pursuant to the agreement."

PERMITS FOR NEW HOUSES UP 190%; FLATS JUMP 80%

GOOD news for the home hunter and the high rent payer is contained in the monthly report of Building Commissioner Charles Bostrom.

The number of permits for houses and bungalows jumped 190 per cent—from 181 in February to 525 in March. Permits for apartment buildings increased 80 per cent, from forty-one in February to seventy-four last month. In March, 1920, only five such permits were issued.

The gist of the commissioner's report is contained in the following tabulation:

PERMITS ISSUED.

	March, 1920.	February, 1921.	March, 1921.
Residences	270	181	525
Apartments	5	41	74
Indust's	185	75	121
Others	14	14	30
Totals	480	311	750
Frontage, feet	17,745	10,068	29,140
Value	$16,000,100	$15,368,000	$7,320,180

The value of the buildings for which permits were issued in February was swelled by those for three costly loop structures.

CUMBERLAND MEN USE EVERY EFFORT TO GET BIG BOUT

OFFERS $850,000

SPOKANE, Wash., March 31.—Alexander Pantages of Seattle has wired Tex Rickard an offer of $850,000 for the Dempsey-Carpentier championship match, according to word received tonight by E. G. Milne, an agent of Mr. Pantages.

Mr. Pantages in his telegram stated if his offer was accepted by Mr. Rickard and Washington authorities would not allow the contest to be held in this state, he would look next to Vancouver, B. C., as a possible site.

BY HARRY NEWMAN.

New York, March 31.—[Special.]—"If Tex Rickard neglects to select Cumberland, Md., as the site for the Dempsey-Carpentier battleground he will make the biggest mistake of his life," said John W. Snyder, the chief emissary from the Maryland city, who refuses to be shaken and is sticking close to the big promoter in the hope of persuading the latter that Cumberland is the only spot on earth worth while for the big wrangle.

"We want that fight and will pay more than any one else for it. Mr. Rickard can name his own figures. If Tex will name Cumberland, he can come in and stage the bout and take all the proceeds. Or we will take over the fight and give Rickard any amount he will name. If Rickard would care to he can come along with us as a partner and we will pay him whatever figure he deems necessary.

No Obstacles to Bout.

"Cumberland is the keystone to the east and the west and we stand ready to guarantee a million dollar gate. There can be no obstacles attending the arrangements once Rickard consents to holding the match in our city. The local and state authorities are in accord with the efforts to bring the match to Maryland.

"It must be remembered that Cumberland is right in the mining and farming section and no less than 50,000 Marylanders alone would attend the contest. Cumberland is a three railroad town and would make in ideal location for holding a bout of this importance.

"In view of the fact that we will guarantee Rickard against any interference or losses, I think that Tex would be making an awful mistake should he overlook this opportunity. We propose to stick around and will not be driven off until the last shout."

Montreal Still After Go.

Another urgent request was made to Rickard by the syndicate of business men of Montreal to hold off naming the site of the contest until they have had another conference with the promoter. The Canadians wired they would be in New York next week to make a final offer for the fight.

"I could not well afford to turn down Montreal after they made such a liberal offer," Rickard said. "I am not at liberty to say who the business men are that are negotiating for the contest, but their inducements are encouraging and I intend to give them every consideration.

"Cumberland is not out of the running and the promoters there will receive a definite answer by the end of next week."

LEONARD-KANSAS GO IN N. Y. MAY 2

New York, March 31.—[Special.]—Benny Leonard and Rocky Kansas have practically been matched to box fifteen rounds at Madison Square Garden on May 2. There are a few minor details to be attended to before the bout is officially announced, but it is a cinch that Benjamin and Rocco Pezzo will crash on the date mentioned. Rickard is anxious to stage the contest as the last of the season at the Garden.

Demetral-Gardini Bout to Be Held as Scheduled

George Dussias, who is promoting the Demetral-Gardini wrestling show April 12 at the Ashland auditorium, announces that the published statement that the show had been indefinitely postponed is incorrect. He says the Greek and the Italian will appear as advertised, and that Jack Linow and Allen Eustis also will be on the bill, along with two good middleweights in the preliminaries.

Peterson Again Humbled by Cue Champion Hoppe

Continuing his wonderful form in his series with Charley Peterson of St. Louis, Willie Hoppe, balkline champion, won both games at Mussey's Madison street room yesterday. He took the afternoon game, 300 to 106, going out with an unfinished run of 224 and averaging 60 flat. Peterson scored 106, with high run of 70. Willie won the night game, 300 to 20.

EX-ATHLETES "MAKE GOOD"

NO. 22

HARRY S. GORGAS.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

TO BE sent to New York at the age of 27 to open a new office of the American Bond and Mortgage company is the unusual business distinction which has been given Harry S. Gorgas, former University of Chicago athlete.

Gorgas, who graduated in the class of 1915, has been out of college only six years, nearly two of which were spent in military service. He was a lieutenant overseas for more than a year.

Gorgas was an all around athlete in his college days. He was a 6 foot high jumper on the Maroon track team and is now a member of the C. A. A. team. He swam the breast stroke on the swimming team when his competition in track did not interfere, and played one year on the basketball team.

He was recently made vice secretary of the American Bond and Mortgage company and will leave next week to be resident manager of the New York office, where, only a youngster in the financial game, he must face a lot of Wall street competition.

Pugilistic Pointers by Ray Pearson

CAPT. BOB ROPER, the local heavyweight who is making a great race with Pal Moore as an every busy performer, goes into action tonight at Saginaw, Mich., the old home of that famous Kid Lavigne. Roper will have for his opponent Chuck Wiggans, known as the rubber ball scrapper. Chuck is one of those guys who bounce around a lot, and in fact he is off the floor almost as much as he is on it. They are billed to skid ten rounds.

If Jimmy Kelly, the local Italian, doesn't beat Pal Moore at Kenosha next Thursday a lot of west side Italians will be looking ahead to the next pay day. Kelly's admirers think he has a swell chance against the elusive Memphian and are staking their jack that way.

The newly formed Boxers' Association of Chicago yesterday sent letters to all champions requesting them to boost along the movement for a national association. A national body is expected to be the outgrowth of the local organization, according to those identified with the local movement.

April 8 is the date of the next show at Milwaukee, with Pinkie Mitchell and the rejuvenated Irish Patsy Cline billed in the feature rôle.

Johnny Buff Knocks Way to U. S. Flyweight Title

New York, March 31.—Johnny Buff settled all disputes as to who is the egitimate flyweight champion in America when he knocked out Abe Goldstein in the second round of a scheduled fifteen round bout here tonight.

FARM and GARDEN by Frank Ridgway

BABY CHICKS.

BABY chicks should not be fed for two or three days after they hatch.

Those who are successful in the raising of chickens disagree in many ways concerning the best method of feeding chicks, but practically all of them agree that the first feed should not be given for at least sixty hours after the chicks hatch. Few of them give feed within two days, and most of them wait until the end of the third day.

Nature has made wise provisions for the chick during its first few days on earth. Only a part of the yolk, about one-half, is used as food during the incubation period, and the remaining portion is taken into the chick's body just before it hatches. The yolk furnishes all the nourishment needed for the first three days, and perhaps even longer.

Feeding too soon after hatching often is injurious to the chick. It interferes with its development, and frequently causes death. The chick's system is not ready for food for about seventy-two hours after hatching.

Ralph Greenleaf Sets New Pocket Billiard Record

York, Pa., March 31.—Ralph Greenleaf, champion pocket billiard player, established a world's record long run in an exhibition tonight when he pocketed 169 balls before he missed. The previous record high run was 156, made by Greenleaf in Danbury, Conn.

RETREAT OF KING IS LASKER'S DOWNFALL IN TITLE CHESS GAME

[Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.]
[Copyright: 1921.]

HAVANA, March 31.—Dr. Emanuel Lasker, challenger for the chess championship, who lost to José Capablanca, last night made his sealed thirty-first move on the board after adjournment and this turned out to be the capture of the rook's pawn his opponent had advanced against him.

DR. EMANUEL LASKER.

At his next turn, as shown by the complete score received here today, he was forced to move his knight and decided upon an aggressive course rather than a defensive policy.

Lasker Spurns Pawn.

Twice Capablanca offered him a pawn, but to have taken it would have meant the exchange of queens, in which case the Cuban's rook would have been stronger than Dr. Lasker's knight on an open board. Eventually he took the king's pawn, while Capablanca captured the white rook's pawn.

Dr. Lasker's position was improving when Capablanca invaded his adversary's territory, checking with the queen. At the forty-fifth move Dr. Lasker made a misstep by retreating his king instead of bringing it out into the open. This enabled Capablanca to arrive at a position in which he would force the move of the black knight.

Lasker Resigns Game.

Appreciating this, Dr. Lasker resigned the game. The score:

Fifth game—Queen's gambit declined.

Woods and Waters by LARRY ST. JOHN

BIRD NOTES.

FROM all parts of the middle western states come reports of flights of waterfowl that tax both the memories and imaginations of the old timers who can "remember way back when" ducks were so thick that you "could knock 'em over with a club."

There are several reasons for this unusual condition. First, the mild winter has left much open water for the ducks and plenty of pasture for the geese. Then the various reclamation projects throughout the country have destroyed many resting grounds and this tends to concentrate the birds. Finally, the absence of spring shooting has caused the birds to travel more leisurely, for web footed birds respond quicker to protection than do other kinds.

The effects of spring protection of waterfowl are so obvious that even city dwellers are becoming intimately acquainted with birds that heretofore have been known only to hunters and other outdoor folks. This spring every city park with a pond will have its nesting teal and mallards.

HOLD PRELIMS OF N. U. MEET TODAY

Preliminaries in all events of the tenth annual indoor interscholastic track and field meet of Northwestern university will be held in the Purple gymnasium this afternoon at 4 o'clock, with the finals at the same place tomorrow night. While tests in track and field are being held, trials in swimming also will take place in the gymnasium pool. Over 250 athletes representing thirty-five schools will compete.

KETTLER BEATS PEREZ.

Kettler Council's indoor baseball team defeated Perez, 6 to 2, in a Knights of Columbus league game yesterday. Gormely of Kettler struck out eighteen and allowed only seven hits.

CRANE TOSSERS IN FINAL MATCH FOR PREP TITLE

Crane Tech lightweight basketeers won their way into the final game of the Chicago high school championship race yesterday by beating beating Lane, 8 to 6, at Parker gym. The game was featured by the close guarding of both teams.

Crane had to come from behind to win, for Lane had a 5 to 3 lead at half time. Crane spurted in the third quarter, and with a basket by Tavlinsky and a free throw by Gordon had a 6 to 5 margin at the three-quarters mark.

In the final period Gordon shot two more free throws, clinching the contest.

Crane will play Englewood lights in the championship game at Bartlett gym Tuesday night. Lineup:

His Hidden Disease

How It Worried Him Until He Made a Visit to the Public Health Institute

Worried as he was over his condition, he could not do his work efficiently and before long he lost his position.

A visit to the Institute and a talk with the kindly physicians made a new man of him.

IT is strange indeed the little that the public as a whole knows about venereal disease. Yet there is no subject on which the people should be better informed.

Many people look on venereal disease solely as a moral matter. They seem to think that infection can be incurred only through immoral exposure. Yet it is a fact, as any modern physician will testify, that a great per cent of infection is contracted not through immorality, but through innocent contact with infected people and infected articles such as common drinking and eating utensils and other commonly used facilities.

He Suffered in Secret

Take the case of the man referred to above in this advertisement. He contracted infection, it seems, from chance contact with some infected person or article. At least it was certain that the cause was not immorality. But in his mind anything like such a disease was associated only with one thing—immorality. And he believed that no matter how innocent he was, the world would only see his affliction in one light, and that a light of condemnation.

Ashamed he was of his affliction, when he should not have been. Instead of going to a reputable physician, he sought to cure himself with patent remedies. But, as was inevitable, his condition became worse (and all the time, mind you, he was a source of infection to innocent others). Worried as he was with his condition, he could not do his work efficiently. And before long he lost his position and was forced to take an inferior one at smaller pay. There is no telling to what end that man might have come had he not fortunately come in time to the Public Health Institute.

Here he was received in the right spirit, in a sensible, humane spirit. He was made to see his affliction in the right light, and was made to see that cure in his case was comparatively simple if he would only come regularly to the Institute for treatments. The change that was made in that man in his first visit to the Institute was wonderful. He became himself again. He regained his confidence. And today, after several months' faithful pursuance of treatment, he is almost ready to be dismissed as cured.

Are You Afflicted?

If you are afflicted with a venereal disease, the Public Health Institute is ready to help you as it helped this man and hundreds of others. You don't have to worry about the cost, for the Institute was established by the prominent citizens named here to bring the best of treatment facilities within the reach of everyone at small cost. It is possible to make the fees very small, because of the large number of patients handled. No one need stay away for lack of money.

And you don't have to worry about being embarrassed in calling at the Institute. We can handle 30 patients at a time, each in a private treatment room. There is no delay, no waiting in a reception room full of people. Privacy is assured at all times. Special department for women.

A cure is assured to all who faithfully follow our advice. The very first treatment helps to arrest the disease and from then on it is simply a matter of gradual but SURE eradication. The moment that you come here and decide to let us assume your burdens, you will experience a feeling of intense and grateful relief, because you will clearly realize that you are in safe hands and that your restoration to health and happiness is assured.

Convenient for All

The Institute is centrally located in the loop at 32 N. State Street, corner Washington. (Reliance Bldg., entire 4th floor). This is within easy transportation distance from any part of the city.

The hours are from 10 in the morning until 8 in the evening. Call for your treatments at your own convenience. No need to take time from your work. If you can't come during the day, come in the evening after work.

By all means act promptly, if you are suffering from a venereal disease. The danger is not only yours, but those with whom you live, those who are near and dear to you. Think of that!

A complete explanatory booklet will be mailed postpaid and free (under plain cover) to all requesting it.

SEEKS EVIDENCE IN NEW YORK ON SERIES SCANDAL

HARDING A SCOUT

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 31.—[United News.]—One pitcher owes his start in the big leagues to President Harding. He is Wilbur Cooper of the Pirates.

Cooper formerly hurled for the Marion, O., club, of which President Harding was part owner. Harding decided he deserved big time booking. He went to Cleveland and got Jimmy McAleer's consent to give Cooper a tryout. The youngster made good and later was bought by the Pirates.

New York, March 31.—[Special.]—New evidence in the alleged bribing of the Chicago White Sox during the 1919 world's series hase been sought in New York during the last week by State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe of Chicago, it became known today.

ROBERT E. CROWE. (TRIBUNE Photo.)

Assistant State's Attorney Hotch of Chicago has been in New York conferring with the police and the office of the district attorney regarding the indictments returned recently in Chicago against the former White Sox players. He has enlisted the aid of former Gov. Whitman, in charge of the extraordinary grand jury to prosecute the New York end of the case and went back to Illinois today with evidence which has been gathered by the New York district attorney.

Can Extradite Defendants.

On leaving New York, State's Attorney Hotch said:

"I think that we have the indicted players right, and can go through for the limit. Under the new indictments these accused players can be extradited, and we are going to bring them to Chicago for trial. From what I learn we have the goods on them."

Whitman Furnishes Evidence.

Former Governor Whitman, who is conducting the extraordinary grand jury, said today that he had given every aid to the Chicago prosecutor, and that all evidence in New York had been turned over to him.

He would not say whether a New York action would be taken against local gamblers who are said to have been connected in the White Sox bribing.

No Pitching Selections in Advance, Says Speaker

Cleveland, O., March 31.—In an effort to discourage gambling Manager Speaker of the Cleveland Indians will not announce his pitchers overnight during the regular season, as had been his policy. Word to this effect was received from him today. Announcement of the batteries will not be made until time for the game to start.

200 Fans Gather to Pay Homage to Landis' Aid

About 200 prominent fans gathered at the Hotel La Salle last night to pay homage to Leslie M. O'Connor, secretary to Judge Landis, baseball commissioner. Following the dinner Judge Landis, Robert Sweitzer, and others delivered talks on the national game.

Chicago Pair to Bowl Series with St. Paul Men

One of the biggest bowling matches of the local season will start at Bensinger's Randolph street alleys tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, when Dominik Devito and Hank Marino will start play against Billy Metcalfe and Jimmy Mitchell of St. Paul. Sixteen games will be rolled here and a like number the following week at St. Paul with a purse of $1,000 at stake.

Bowlers of Seven Cities to Compete in Wire Meet

The annual tournament for the Western Union Telegraph bowling championship will be played Saturday night, April 2, at 235 South Wabash avenue. Teams representing New York, Chicago, Atlanta, Omaha, Denver, Dallas, and San Francisco are entered.

BOXING IN ILLINOIS.

SO far as one may judge in advance, one of the boxing measures now before the legislature, or perhaps a composite bill, stands an excellent chance of passage. Under such circumstances we wish to advise boxing sponsors to "watch their step." It would be foolish to say we don't want commercialized boxing, for we do. We want to see the champions in action, just as do fans in New York, Philadelphia, Boston, St. Louis, Milwaukee, and most large cities of the country except Chicago.

Champions will not display their merchandise—their boxing skill is what they have to sell—unless they are paid for it. The layman will tell you that a bill permitting amateur and prohibiting professional bouts will answer the purpose and develop the sport. It will not. Amateur boxing needs the stimulus of the more highly developed "pro" skill just as much as amateur and semi-pro baseball needs the exhibitions of the big leaguers for its development.

What, then, is the import of The Wake's warning? We feel that careful attention should be given the provision for licensing clubs, with proper safeguards against fly-by-night, irresponsible organizations. We are against the ingress of promoters from other cities with no interest in the sport except the money.

We may assume that Gov. Small, if the measure is passed, will appoint an efficient commission impervious to personal friendship in the granting of licenses and permits. The boxing bill as passed should make easy the work and strong the authority of this commission.

Among those who will not be present Sunday to launch the nation-wide drive against tobacco and golfing on Sunday will be the editor of The Wake.

In fact, when we think of the anti-tobacco campaign, which would touch one of our dearest failings and drive our old corncob pipe to oblivion, we feel like summoning the Wakettes who so valiantly maintained their rights a year ago when the question was raised whether ladies smoked cigarets. How about it, girls?

HUMAN INFLUENCE.

I wandered down a village street,
In drizzling rain, 'neath skies of gray;
And every one I chanced to meet
With pleasant smiles bade me "Good day!"

I reasoned some were gloomy, too,
With hearts as far from being gay;
But though the day was bad, I knew
They could not phrase it thus: "Bad day!"

Thus when I reached my home again
I found my gloom had passed away;
I could not long depressed remain
When every one wished me "Good day!"
Ella M.

AWAITING TIDINGS.

I long to take my driver up and smash one from the tee;
A long, low drive two hundred yards is good enough for me;
A brassie, then, for 'bout the same, right up beside the green,
My jigger for a short approach—one putt's enough, I ween.

This would be great if it'd come true, but I know darn well it's rot;
I'll dub my drive for thirty feet, then slice my brassie shot.
My midiron really might come through, as it has sometimes done,
But on the green I'd take three putts instead of only one.
Well, anyway, I'm going out and try the clubs today,
And if I'm successful I'll let you know, Harvey. Phyton.

O. K. But as a Public Benefactor Only.

Dear Wake: I've always been for you, but now I'm agin you. It's hard enough to sell stuff on the road anyway. Ran across a dealer in Keithsburg known as "Doc" who declares he will not place another order until he has made The Wake, for which he has been trying for two years. The next time you get any humoresques from him, print it regardless of quality and you'll be doing the so-called "Fighters of 1921" a great service. W. B. G.

We were about to write an article on the chances of the Cubs and White Sox winning their respective league pennants when we happened to recall that this is April first.

At that, this might be an appropriate date to ink any unduly optimistic prognostications.

Here's Hoping.

The news that the Cubs are training
Always awakens a memory
Of those old days at Murphy's park
Where Dad initiated me.

And now of all those heroes
Evers alone remains;
His gain in poise and power
Should bring some rousing games.

And so I am fondly hoping
That John's new team, young and gay,
Will make us as wildly happy
As those Cubs of yesterday.

Why Risk Shaving Brush Dangers?

Shaving brushes, at best, are mussy and unsanitary, the breeding place of germs. Deadly anthrax often lurks in new bristles.

You run no risk, however, when you shave with

Barbasol

Just spread it on and shave it off. That's the Barbasol way of shaving. No soap, no brush, no lather, no rub-in.

And such shaves! Speedy and smooth! Shaves that leave the face cool and glowing. You really don't know what genuine shaving comfort is until you've used Barbasol.

All real Friend-to-Man druggists sell Barbasol. Tell any one of them to tube you today. Say good-bye to the shaving brush and its dangers forever. 35 cents a tube.

Golf Ball Prices Down!

Dunlop 29, the standard Dunlop ball under the new regulations, heretofore priced at $1.10, now retails at $1.00, including tax.

For those who prefer a slightly heavier ball, Dunlop 31, heretofore $1.10, is now 90 cents. In every respect the same Dunlop 31 that has helped to make golf history. Though a pennyweight above the weight limit for tournament play, there is no better ball for all-around use.

MULRENAN DISPLAYS HURLING SKILL AS SOX BEAT FORT WORTH, 8-3

Tyler, Tex., March 31.—[Special.]—Judging from results today Bill Gleason has developed another pitcher to take a regular turn on the slab this summer for his remade White Sox and the success of the Sox depends upon the ability of the new slabman.

DOMINICK MULRENAN. (TRIBUNE Photo.)

With Dominick Mulrenan on the rubber for six innings and Joe Morris for three, the Sox trimmed the Fort Worth club, 8 to 3. Mulrenan allowed one run in his six frames, never walked a batter, and looked stylish all the time.

Showing Pleases Gleason.

The former Columbus hurler has been bothered a bit with a sore arm in training and this was really his first trial. The soreness gone, he looked splendid. If he comes through against the big leaguers as stylishly as he did against Jakey Atz's crew today he is sure of taking a regular turn on the slab. Boss Gleason was quite elated over the young man's performance.

Morris was tapped for five blows and two runs in his three rounds, three of the swats, two doubles and a single, sending in the two tallies in the ninth, when they were harmless.

Sox Show Power at Bat.

There was some precise and vicious hitting by the Sox during the contest. Fourteen blows were registered.

Big Earl Sheely poled a couple, one a triple and one a double that were regular drives, both to right center. There is absolutely no doubt of his walloping power.

Eddie Collins hit a double and two singles, Hooper a double and a single, Strunk three singles, and Mulligan one two bagger.

Tyler's folks and several hundred from nearby towns turned out for the game. There were nearly 3,000 at the game, paying a dollar and more for seats.

Gleason's crew will be in Fort Worth in the morning for three days of topping off before starting north. A practice session tomorrow and games Saturday and Sunday are on the program. Score:

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 31.—[Special.]—With a clatter of pans and loud sounding of foul line gongs, the A. B. C. tournament came to a close this afternoon, but without any changes being made in the positions of the leaders. World's champions in various events are:

Five men—Saunders, Toronto, score 3,066.

Doubles—O. Kallush, A. Schleman, Rochester, score 1,314.

Singles—Fred S. Smith, Detroit, score 702.

All events—Archie Schleman, Rochester, score 1,909.

Thus ends what has been a record breaking tournament in two ways, entry—there being 949 five man teams in attendance, and attendance—there being approximately 70,000 paid admissions during the month's run of the classic.

BANCROFT, DEAN OF BIG LEAGUE SECRETARIES, DIES

Cincinnati, O., March 31.—Frank C. Bancroft, for many years business manager of the Cincinnati baseball club, died at a hospital last night. He had been ill for several months of neuritis.

FRANK BANCROFT. (TRIBUNE Photo.)

Bancroft, who had been business manager of the Cincinnati team since 1890, was born in Lancaster, Mass., May 11, 1846. He enlisted in the Union army at the beginning of the civil war as a drummer boy and served until peace was declared.

Bancroft's first big success in baseball came in 1883 and 1884, when he was manager of the Providence team of the National league. In his second year there his team won the National league pennant and then played the famous Metropolitans of New York, winners of the championship of the old American association, in the first world's series on record.

CHICAGO RECRUIT WALLOPS CUBS IN THIRTEEN ROUNDS

Oakland, Cal., March 31.—[Special.]—The Cubs ran into thirteen innings and defeat today, and "Hack" Miller, native of Chicago, was the chief cause of their upset. The Cubs lost, 3 to 2, and "Hack" poled in the first and third counters for the Oaks.

ALEX FREEMAN. (TRIBUNE Photo.)

Alex Freeman, a kid pitcher from Beaumont, Tex., went the full route for the Cubs and hurled well. He allowed only seven hits and no two came in the same inning until the thirteenth. Oakland employed two veterans in "Pop" Arlett and Harry Krause of the old Athletics, and both were effective in the pinches. That is the chief reason why the Cubs lost.

Oakland Leads at Start.

Oakland scored in the first inning on a pass to Willie, a sacrifice, and a timely blow by Miller. The Cubs tied it in the eighth on a hit by Flack, a pass to Hollocher, Kelleher's sacrifice, and Maisel's long fly.

In the ninth O'Farrell tallied after a force out, a pass to Freeman, and Flack's hit. This appeared to clinch the game, but Miller walked, and after two were out the local shortstop poled a two bagger and the count was knotted.

Miller Drives in Winning Run.

In the thirteenth Willie singled, was sacrificed, and with two gone Miller broke off a hit to right for the winning run. The Cubs play San Francisco tomorrow. Score:

HERE'S where another of Fox's strong men goes out and shows a rival construction gang what's what. "Brute" McGuire, they call him, though you are assured via subtitle that he has a warm heart.

Mr. Russell has much muscle, a friendly smile, and considerable alertness. Whether or not in "real life" he could accomplish the wonders he puts over on the screen, remains a question he will undoubtedly not be called upon to answer. SO as long as we remain in pleasant uncertainty, his screen achievements are quite satisfactory and surprisingly free from any apparent play to the gallery.

He has a pretty good story this time—one anyway that offers him opportunity to demonstrate his kind heart, his strong arm, his undauntable (look in the dictionary and see if there is such a word) determination. It gives him a chance to be good to one girl, and make love to another; to stick by his friends, give his enemies you know, and end up victorious and happy.

What more does a William Russell or a George Walsh or a William Farnum need?

The best thing about the photoplay to me was the snow scenes. These are immense! You can feel the sting of the blizzard, smell the clean, cold fragrance of the evergreens, and the smoke of warming fires.

Then, you'll like most of the people in the cast you're meant to like and hate those you're supposed to hate. So, altogether, you're apt to rather enjoy "Bare Knuckles."

And that's that.

CLOSEUPS

Did you know that James Finlayson, who "does" villains for Sennett, at one time appeared in Barrie's plays?

To Reginald Barker, we are reminded, belongs the credit for having filmed the first anti-blue Sunday propaganda. He directed "Bunty Pulls the Strings."

Tom Moore and his French bride, Rene Adoree, are back from their honeymoon to Honolulu. Mr. Moore will start work immediately.

When Goldwyn produces "The Grim Comedian," by Rita Weiman, Eric Snowden, for two seasons stage manager for Sir Herbert Tree and a member of his company, and later producer of the "Passion Play" in Buffalo, will have a leading part.

Report has it that Lee Moran and Eddie Lyons have reached the parting of the ways. An argument has arisen over the cutting of their latest film made for Universal and it is declared Lyons will leave the company.

Henry Walthall will stop trouping and start posing for the camera again shortly. He is due to star in four films.

ASK ME! ASK ME!

Ted: Indeed, you've seen Lowell Sherman in the movies! You saw him in "Way Down East"—and a couple of others. Mighty glad you like it, sir.

McD.'s Barber Shop: Never heard of a photoplay called "Way Down North." Neither did you, did you? Reckon you mean "Way Down East."

Chiquita: Yes, Antonio Moreno was born in Spain. From your name I judge he may be a countryman of yours. Alice Joyce and he both played for Vitagraph. They are not related. Not even married. You're vurr welcome.

K. E.: Address Norma Talmadge, care Norma Talmadge Film corporation, 318 East Forty-eighth street, New York City. You are SO wekkum!

W. A. K.: I know a lot about what you want to know regarding the cost of starting a picture theater. But you didn't send a stamped, addressed envelope, and I cannot give you the information in this column.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $1 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Please write on one side of the paper. Address Bright Sayings to Aunty Bee, Tribune, Chicago.

Mother was talking to grandmother over a nickel telephone. Marion was afraid the three minutes would be up before she had a chance to talk, so she said: "O, mother, please let me talk before the nickel runs out."

C. C.

I went to visit a friend and she took me across the hall from her to see a sick friend. When we went in my friend introduced me to the woman and then her husband. A girl of 5 was sitting on the floor, and after the introduction she said she was left out, so she looked at each one of us and then said, "And I'm their little girl."

S. S.

One day I was admonishing Dick to always speak correctly and to use no slang. Looking unconvinced and rueful, he replied: "Well, it's the flip kids that're popular, all right."

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Quick Nut Bread.

A reading of recipes for the quick breads—loaves—and a comparison with one's own experience may bring the conclusion that most of them prescribe too large a measure of flour. But we may be mistaken in this, for most cooks sift their flour before measuring it, and it is quite possible that different methods of sifting, or different sieves, may give a lighter pile of flour than others. Some people use as much as three cups of flour in the following nut bread recipe, but I find two and a half quite right:

One egg, one-half cup of sugar, one cup of milk, one teaspoon of salt, sifted with two cups and a half of flour and four teaspoons of baking powder. Add three-fourths of a cup of nuts, put through the coarse disk of the food chopper so as to prevent oiling. This may be baked in muffin shapes or in small loaves. Pat the loaves with a wet spoon so as to get a smooth surface.

An experiment tried with this common formula was to use salted peanuts which, in the giant size, are often to be had at quite a moderate price. Other nuts, particularly the delicious pecan, may be used, but it is expensive.

I put a large tablespoon of flour over the salted peanuts, rubbed them well in it and then sifted that flour off and put the nuts through the chopper. When the bread is cooked no one would ever think the nuts had been salted. They take the sugar well, and the bread or muffin has a less pronounced flavor of peanuts than when a much smaller portion of peanut butter is used. No shortening other than the nuts is needed.

Prairie Club Hike.

The Prairie club walk for Saturday, will be from Hinsdale to Downers Grove. There will be a short walk of five miles and a longer walk of eight miles. Expense, 55 cents. The club will leave the Union depot via the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy at 1:40 p. m.

FASHION'S BLUE BOOK

Trade Mark Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

BY CORINNE LOWE.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Gingham on the dress bill of fare rivals real ham on the other bill of fare. It is in our consciousness every minute, and hundreds of new forms testify to its standing as a staple.

One of the most smart dress models of this fabric worn in the south this winter shows a long bodice with short sleeves and a V-shaped neck affixed to a skirt with three or four knife-pleated flounces. These flounced gingham skirts are, in fact, no matter what the bodice that goes with them, sponsored by exclusive New York houses, and the summer will undoubtedly testify to their popularity.

Gingham frocks trimmed with organdy are, of course, encountered everywhere. Newer than this is the trick of combining gingham with taffetta. Some of the designers even place one of those quaint little basques of taffetta with gingham skirt. Ribbons are another variant of the gingham ways, and it is this form which has been selected for the simple, long-waisted model of today's drawing. The ribbon is brown grosgrain employed on a background of brown and white checked gingham.

DORIS BLAKE'S ANSWERS

Parents Probably Forbid It.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a young man, 19 years of age, and in love with a girl two years my junior. I have asked her out but she has refused. She said she is not allowed to go out with any young men, but we can still be sweethearts. I am asking your advice whether she loves me or not.

J. L. F."

It is quite probable that her parents will not let her go out with young men unattended. She is young, you know.

Succeed on Your Own.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a young man, 22 years of age and extremely good looking. I have a good position with one of the leading coal concerns in the city, and I also have an automobile, but I don't seem to take well with the fair sex. Please tell me how to be popular with the ladies, as I am getting to the age when I would like a nice lady companion. I am a good spender and know I could show the girls a good time. If you have the name of any nice young lady please publish it in your paper, together with her address.

FENTON."

First thing, Fenton, try to get over the idea that you are so extremely good looking. You may be, of course, but you have to forget that if you want to be popular. Then, with your automobile and your spending proclivities and your desire for companionship of the fair you ought to succeed on your own.

Miss McIntosh Is Ushered to Altar in Round of Gayety

ANUMBER of parties have been planned for Miss Marjorie McIntosh and Temple Buell, who will be married next Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the Fourth Presbyterian church. Tonight Hayes MacFarland and Archibald Fisher, who have been sharing an apartment at 209 East Chestnut street with Mr. Buell, will give a dinner, followed by a theater and supper party.

Tomorrow afternoon Mrs. James Bernard Mullen, sister of the Bridegroom, will entertain the bridal party at the tea dance at the Drake, and tomorrow night Mr. and Mrs. Harry Milne McIntosh, parents of the bride, will give the bridal dinner at their residence, 999 Lake Shore drive.

Monday night Mr. Buell will give his bachelor dinner at his apartment and Miss Pauline Mugge of New York, who will attend Miss McIntosh as honor maid, will give a dinner at the University club for the bride and her attendants. A theater party, at which Miss Katherine Huling will be hostess, will follow. Tuesday night Mr. and Mrs. William K. Kenly and Miss Rebecca Hickman will give a dinner at their residence, 1511 Astor street, to be followed by the wedding rehearsal. Miss Huling has just returned from Pasadena and is stopping at the Virginia during the absence in the east of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Huling of 51 East Division street.

Miss Huling, Mrs. Mullen, and Miss Hickman will be bridesmaids at the wedding. Charles Buell will be best man for his brother, and the ushers will be Mr. MacFarland, Mr. Fisher, Robert Hussey, John Onderdonk, James Bernard Mullen, and Donald McIntosh, brother of the bride.

There will be seventy-five guests at a dinner to be given tonight at the Casino by the Garden Club of Illinois to celebrate William C. Egan's eightieth birthday. Mr. Egan, who lives in Highland Park, was a pioneer in horticultural work along the north shore. Charles L. Hutchinson will be toastmaster at the dinner, which will have many novel and appropriate features.

The management of the La Salle theater has given 300 seats for the picture, "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" for tonight for the benefit of the Wellesley college semi-centennial fund. The girls home from college for the Easter vacation are in charge of the affair, under the chairmanship of Miss Frances Baker.

Ushering at the lecture to be given next Tuesday night in Orchestra hall by Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell will be Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson Jr, Mrs Arthur F Tuttle, Mrs. Donald Douglas, Mrs. Dow Harvey, Mrs. Richard D. Stevenson, Mrs. Leslie Wheeler, Mrs. W. E. Casselberry Jr., Mrs. Basil Elmer, Miss Sarah Farwell, Miss Isabella Holt, Miss Margaret Shortall, Miss Margaret Perkins, Miss Helen Perkins, Miss Dorothy Keeley, Miss Margaret Keeley, Miss Marion Moseley, Miss Elizabeth Hinde, Miss Sarah Hinde, Miss Marion Walker, Miss Elizabeth Carpenter, Miss Beatrix Thorne, and Miss Anita Dunn.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Huntington, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Eberhart, and Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Moore are patronesses for a dance to be given tonight at the Drake by the Acacia Alumni association of Chicago.

Mrs. Charles A. Chapin of the Drake, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Smith and Miss Charlotte Robertson of 3146 Sheridan road are spending a week at Atlantic City. Mrs. Chapin will visit in Washington before returning to Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Emory Albright, who have been in southern California since last November, have returned to their home in Hubbard Woods.

Mrs. S. Ella Wood Dean will leave Sunday for Washington and will attend the D. A. R. convention on April 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Cable of Hubbard Woods will give a dinner-dance this evening at the Sovereign hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Dickinson of 1210 Astor street have returned from Miami Beach, where they had a house for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Seaman and daughters, Marguerite and Mary, of 2330 Lincoln Park West, are spending a month in the south.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREAD WINNER. April Fool!

Mendelssohn Club Lifts Mere Chorus Singing to Music

BY RUTH MILLER.

THINGS in the concert line took quiet a spurt last evening. There was the Mendelssohn club under Harrison Wild at Orchestra hall. This ensemble has all the vocal sagacity expected of its twenty-five years of existence, and if the tenors are a little faint hearted at times the basses are a lusty lot.

In a little footnote printed at the end of the program we found the pertinent information that the seventy-two men composing its active membership "give freely of their time and talent with no thought of financial gain, but just for the sheer pleasure and enjoyment of doing it and for the advancement of male chorus work."

These are not the inflated words of a glib press agent. There is no doubt when one notes the zest, the spirit, the eagerness with which these men sing that it is a labor of love. And their joy in their task lifts their vocalism from mere excellent chorus singing to music.

Eva Gordon Horadesky, the first soloist, was heard in two Russian folk songs. Her voice is that rarity among perverted mezzo sopranos, a genuine contralto, of great volume, comprehensive range and deep warmth of tone. It lacks somewhat in finish and occasionally gets a little out of control, but the splendid natural voice is there.

Clarence Eldam gave a recital at Kimball hall, forthwith proving himself to be an excellent musician, a skilled pianist with a technic built along crisp and sane lines, and a serious artist. He was heard in his last group, which was devoted to some of the dull and some of the clever among modern compositions.

Jessie B. Hall inaugurated her fifth season of the young American artists' series last night at the Fine Arts building Recital hall under most auspicious circumstances. The audience was pleasantly large and she presented two interesting young artists in Glenn Drake, tenor, and Emma Cumine Brady, pianist.

Miss Hall is more than a managerial philanthropist to the musically ambitious and youthful. She is an expert scout for big league music. More than one of her discoveries from the tall grass of art have made good as concert players or teachers or both.

Miss Brady was heard in her Liszt group, wherein she disclosed certain evidences of thoughtful and conscientious musicianship and adequate technic. Mr. Drake sang four of the lovelier of all the lovely Schubert songs and made his best success with "Wandering" and "Impatience."

Attorney Weds.

Attorney Frank A. McDonnell was married last night to Miss Bernice Flanagan, daughter of Edward W. Flanagan, wealthy Board of Trade member, at the bride's home, 944 Sheridan road, Wilmette. The couple will live at the Drake hotel.

A PURITAN MAID

MISS KATHARINE COOK

MISS KATHARINE COOKE is chairman of the Puritan group for the Junior League play, "Charities," to be given at Orchestra hall on Tuesday, April 19. Others in the group will be Miss Adelaide Pierce, Miss Florence Harris, Miss Eileen Kelly, Mrs. James Bernard Mullen, Miss Betty Quick, Miss Marion Clow, and Miss Elizabeth Carpenter.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, March 31.—[Special.]—The elopement of Miss Inez Gibbs of this city, the 18 year old granddaughter of a former governor of Texas, with William Leland Hayward, 19 year old son of Col. William Hayward, became known today.

St. James church was the scene this afternoon of one of the first of the large Easter weddings, when Miss Dorothy Post Clapp, daughter by a former marriage of Mrs. Edward Mortimer Ward, became the bride of Van Henry Cartmell of this city. The couple will reside here after a wedding trip.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

A Bit Too Interested.

I had just been turned out all dolled up by the local beauty parlor. Proudly marched up the street swinging the new handbag I had received for my birthday. Met a young man whom I liked. He invited me into an ice cream parlor and while we waited for service I called his attention to my new bag. He expresesd his admiration for the present in glowing terms and proceeded to open it. No sooner did he press the clasp than out popped the old switch I had stuffed into it at the beauty parlor. All interest in the bag vanished immediately—don't know which of us was more embarrassed. H. W.

Telling It to the World.

He was my first beau and had come to call on me for the first time on a Sunday afternoon. Of course, I was excited and wanted everything to be just so. We decided to walk in the park. When we stepped on to the front porch we saw lined up on the sidewalk six or seven little fellows, with my small brother as leader, and he cried shrilly, "Margie's got a feller. Margie's got a feller," and each one picked up the refrain and kept it up until we were out of sight. M. I. H.

Chicago Leading Way, Says National Y. W. C. A. Leader

"WHERE Chicago leads, America will follow. May Chicago lead us far!" said Mrs. Robert E. Speer of New York City, president of the national board of the Young Women's Christian association. "There must be something in the air—the spirit of youth, perhaps, that keeps you going ahead, showing the way to the east of the country. Nobody seems to get tired here. It is really remarkable."

Mrs. Speer visited the various branches of the Chicago Y. W. C. A. yesterday, and was enthusiastic in their praise.

"The girl of today is no longer the privileged young person about the house. She is an economic asset, and an industrial factor. We are just beginning to realize what these business and industrial girls need in the way of shelter, fun, friendliness, and a chance for future education."

Mrs. Speer is in Chicago as the guest of Mrs. William H. Hubbard of 1210 Astor street and of Mrs. John Timothy Stone, 866 North Michigan avenue. Mrs. George W. Dixon is entertaining at a tea in her honor tomorrow.

A Friend in Need

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

"I should like so much to get the poem entitled, "The letter edged in black." Do you think that someone among your readers would be kind enough to send it to me? Miss B. H."

I don't think anyone has ever asked in vain for the words of a song or a poem who has made application through my department. I trust this time may not prove an exception to the rule.

"May I ask you to make a request for me. My mother is an invalid, and the doctors say she has not much longer to live—probably six months. She loves music, but we have not the means to buy a phonograph. Perhaps some one among your readers has one that they would be willing to give to her. I assure you it would help wonderfully to cheer her, and she, as well as I, will be deeply grateful. Mother lives in the country, but I will gladly call or pay express charges.

"P. T."

This is a sad message, and I wish we could fulfill the wish of this young man and send the phonograph to his mother to make the days as happy as possible for her.

I want to be the medium through which the friend in deed and the friend in need may be brought together. It may be you have some discarded article which has outgrown its usefulness that will make some less fortunate one happy, and you would gladly give it if you knew how to go about it. Write to me and I shall be only too happy to be of service to you. Please write on one side of the paper.

When information is wanted by mail, a stamped, addressed envelope should accompany the request. Please do not send parcels to The Tribune, but write for the address of the applicant and send direct.

NORTH DAKOTA TO TRY "RECALL" OF ITS GOVERNOR

Devil's Lake, N. D., March 31.—Political factions opposed to the Nonpartisan league in North Dakota, in convention here today, ordered that a recall election aimed at certain state officials be held on or before Nov. 8.

The recall election, as ordered, is directed against Gov. Lynn J. Frazier, Attorney General William Lemke, and Commissioner of Agriculture John N. Hagan.

The action of the convention came after an all afternoon debate on a resolution offered by Treadwell Twitchell of Fargo, proposing the attempted recall of the three officials named.

R. A. Nestos of Minot was nominated as opposition candidate for governor and Sveinbjorn Johnson of Grand Forks as candidate for attorney general.

This is the first time in the history of the United States that a recall election has been ordered against a governor or other high state officials, delegates to the convention asserted.

"The brain child of the Socialistic régime—the recall—having been placed on the statute books of North Dakota by the Nonpartisans, has grown up in four years and threatens to destroy its parent," Theodore G. Nelson, secretary of the Independent Voters' association, and a member of the anti-Nonpartisan forces steering committee, said.

WAR BONDS ON SIDETRACK FOR TARIFF TO PASS

Washington, D. C., March 31.—[Special.]—Questions on the funding of foreign obligations and the refunding of Victory notes and Liberty loans will be deferred until after tax and tariff revision, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon said today.

It is understood, however, Mr. Mellon will be prepared in presenting his tax program to discuss a general policy affecting the retirement of the floating debt.

Secretary Mellon said the treasury never has been advised officially that Lord Chalmers or any other special British representative would come to discuss funding of British obligations.

Hoover Picks A.W. Shaw to Aid in Foreign Trade Plans

Washington, D. C., March 31.—[Special.]—A. W. Shaw of Chicago, editor of a business magazine, head of a division of the war industries board, has been enrolled by Secretary of Commerce Hoover as a volunteer assistant to organize committees representing various groups of industry to coöperate in foreign trade promotion work.

Special instruction in outdoor games, singing, and folk dancing will feature a meeting of rural school teachers of the northern portion of Cook county today at Desplaines, Illinois.

AMERICAN LEGION NOTES

Lawndale Crawford post No. 104 and woman's auxiliary will have a rally meeting, open to all ex-service men, tonight at 8 o'clock at the post headquarters, 3321 West Roosevelt road. Col. John Clinnin and others will make addresses. There will be music and vaudeville.

At the meeting of the signal platoon, 129th infantry, last Saturday evening, Woodstock, Ill., was chosen as the meeting place for next year's reunion.

Marshall post No. 340 will have a rally and entertainment Sunday afternoon at the Harrison Technical High school assembly hall, Twenty-fourth street and Marshall boulevard. Col. Milton J. Foreman, William Q. Setliffe, and William R. MacCauley will be the evening's speakers.

Harold A. Taylor post will meet tonight at 1358 North Clark street. The post is planning a party early in May.

Miscellaneous.

Permanent organization of a veterans' organization of former members of the 29th division was formed at a dinner Wednesday evening at the home of Lieut. Col. C. J. Baker. Other members are requested to communicate with Col. Harvey Jones, 1024 Insurance Exchange building. Frequent meetings are to be arranged.

All members of the American veterans of the British and Canadian forces are asked to attend the regular meeting Monday, April 4, at the headquarters, 209 West North avenue. Memorial services for Decoration day are to be planned.

The 1st division auxiliary No. 1, A. E. F., will hold a benefit ball Saturday, April 9, at their hall, 165 West Madison street. The proceeds are to go to the fund for the soldiers in various hospitals. On Sunday, April 10, the auxiliary will entertain the tubercular soldiers at Oak Forest. Train leaves the La Salle street station at 11:30 noon. Tuesday, April 12, the election of officers for the auxiliary will take place.

To appreciate the wonderful value of the 1921 Davis at its new low prices you must compare it with cars costing hundreds of dollars more. We believe no car at its price offers VALUE to compare with it. Compare its beauty, its performance, its quality—THEN compare its PRICE!

BAYER Genuine Aspirin

Never say "Aspirin" without saying "Bayer"

Warning! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting genuine Aspirin prescribed by physicians for twenty-one years and proved safe by millions. Take Aspirin only as told in the Bayer package for Colds, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Earache, Toothache, Lumbago and for Pain. All druggists sell Bayer Tablets of Aspirin in handy tin boxes of 12, and in bottles of 24 and 100. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.

Beware of Tender Gums

Unhealthy soil kills the best of wheat. Unhealthy gums kill the best of teeth. To keep the teeth sound, keep the gums well. Watch for tender and bleeding gums. This is a symptom of Pyorrhea, which afflicts four out of five people over forty.

Pyorrhea menaces the body as well as the teeth. Not only do the gums recede and cause the teeth to decay, loosen and fall out, but the infecting Pyorrhea germs lower the body's vitality and cause many serious ills.

To avoid Pyorrhea, visit your dentist frequently for tooth and gum inspection. And use Forhan's For the Gums.

Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea—or check its progress, if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's will keep the gums firm and healthy, the teeth white and clean. Start using it today. If gum-shrinkage has set in, use Forhan's according to directions, and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

35c and 60c tubes. All druggists.

A Raw, Sore Throat

Eases Quickly When You Apply a Little Musterole

And Musterole won't blister like the old-fashioned mustard plaster. Just spread it on with your fingers. It penetrates to the sore spot with a gentle tingle, loosens the congestion and draws out the soreness and pain. Musterole is a clean, white ointment made with oil of mustard. It is fine for quick relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds on the chest. Nothing like Musterole for croupy children. Keep it handy for instant use. 35c and 65c jars; hospital size, $3.00.

Sunday Tribune Want Ad Section

TURN to the index on the first page in next Sunday's Want Ad Section and see how thoroughly the whole range of human wants is covered. Now conjure up before you an audience of over 800,000 people, all, like yourself, wanting something. To this vast number goes your message, your offer to sell, your wish to buy, helping you solve your problems, making money for you. Let some part of the Want Ad Section contain your wants this Sunday!

WEDDING GIFTS—so wonderful in the big house on the boulevard where the ceremony was performed, but out of place in the four room apartment, may be converted into the always acceptable cash by means of Sunday Tribune Want Ads.

Many manufacturers buy and sell MACHINERY and TOOLS by means of Tribune Want Ads. Business men recognize the "Machinery Column" as an unequaled market.

CLOSING HOUR—To make all editions of The Sunday Tribune, Want Ads must be in our office by FIVE o'clock today; to make all city editions, by TWO o'clock tomorrow. Order your Want Ad today! Call Central 100—ask for an Adtaker.

EVERY office has its "morgue" of unused devices and furniture, usually in good condition, but superseded in the march of improvement. A Tribune Want Ad will turn these dead items into cash! List them today—then phone in your Want Ad for Sunday's Tribune.

THE WAY to find a "jewel" of a maid is to advertise in next Sunday's Want Ad section. Your Want Ad will meet with ready response from bright girls and women who always look to The Tribune for better situations.

IF you contemplate selling your car, by all means use the tried and proven way—a Sunday Tribune Want Ad! Several advertisers last week received 30 to 50 inquiries each through Want Ads in the "Used Car" columns. Your offering is bound to meet with similar success. Order your Want Ad today!

Now on the softened April breezes comes the thought of vacation time—joyous days and moonlight nights. The place to find a summer cottage, a bungalow or a camp-site is in The Sunday Tribune Want Ad section. A mention of your wants will bring quick results.

And, on the other hand, owners of Summer Resort property will find most desirable buyers or tenants by listing their offerings in this section. Order your Want Ad today!

WITH the cyclonic period known as "Spring house-cleaning" about to hold its semi-annual reign of terror, The Sunday Tribune Want Ad Section holds forth a "Cash and Carry" method of disposing of furnishings which are to be replaced by newer pieces.

And while you're about it, use a want ad to help you buy furniture at a saving!

NEXT 2 MONTHS TO SEE SEVERAL BIG NEW ISSUES

BY O. A. MATHER.

American investors will be called on to absorb a large amount of new securities in the next two months. Aside from the monthly financing of the federal treasury and the continued output of securities of industrial corporations, there are two large issues to be placed this month and in May.

The government is expected to offer about $75,000,000 of farm loan bonds, bearing 5 per cent interest, this month. A larger issue, which is expected to be offered next month, is that of the $230,000,000 Northern Pacific-Great Northern joint 6½ per cent collateral bonds, which will be used in retiring the $215,000,000 "Burlington 4s," which mature July 1. Indications are that the new bonds will be offered below par. The plan of refunding, it is estimated, will increase the fixed charges of the two owner roads by more than $2,000,000 annually if the entire amount is issued.

New Issues Well Received.

Although the investment market has slackened from the pace set in January and February, new offerings are being well received. An issue of $20,000,000 Vacuum Oil company fifteen year 7 per cent gold bonds was offered and sold yesterday at par. Today an issue of $7,000,000 Winchester Repeating Arms company first closed mortgage twenty year 7½ per cent gold bonds will be offered by Kidder, Peabody & Co., New York, and Mitchell, Hutchins & Co., Chicago, at 97½ and interest, yielding 7¾ per cent. The bonds are callable at 107½ and a sinking fund of 2 per cent annually is provided.

Public offerings of an issue of $15,000,000 Consolidated Gas company, New York, ten year, 7 per cent debentures is expected within a day or so. The bonds probably will be offered around par and be redeemable after two years at not more than 105. J. P. Morgan & Co. announced yesterday that $2,000,000 principal amount of the $50,000,000 Kingdom of Belgium twenty-five year 7½ per cent external loan bonds, issued last June, have been drawn by lot for redemption at 115 and accrued interest.

General Electric Gains.

The General Electric company's annual report for 1920 states that the net value of orders was $318,470,438, compared with $307,623,932 in 1919. Sales billed totaled $275,758,487, an increase of $45,778,503 over 1919. At the end of the year unfilled orders aggregated $111,778,000, compared with $98,880,000 at the close of 1919.

Net earnings in 1920 before deducting interest and federal taxes were $44,264,042, compared with $38,355,221 the preceding year. From this sum $17,803,985 was deducted for depreciation of inventory. After cash dividends the year's surplus was $11,476,065, compared with $10,759,918 in 1919.

REVIEWS OF TRADE

March was one of the poorest business periods in the history of the packing industry, while in industries generally there must be further liquidation in order to do away with the present stagnation, according to the monthly business review of Armour & Co., issued yesterday.

"Volume production in the packing industry was seriously curtailed and factors that governed wholesale selling prices of meat in its relation to production costs showed no material favorable gain in strength," said the review. "The lessening of operating costs brought about by the reduction of packing house wages has been so slight its importance as a factor in the general business of the industry must be minimized.

"The general stagnation in industry that has been caused by lessened demand and by the daily increase in the number of workers finding themselves out of employment can be relieved by only one process. Further liquidation must be made, though, perhaps, not to the same extent as the liquidations of the last three months."

Shorn stock quotable 50@75c below above quotations.

More life and higher prices for cattle and hogs featured yesterday's live stock trade. Desirable fat steers and better grades of butcher stock sold strong to 25c higher, with hogs largely 15@25c higher. Sheep and lambs underwent little change.

Fairly liberal shipping orders and more buying on export account added tone to the cattle trade. Some 1,081 lb yearling steers sold at $10.00, with 1,553 lb bullocks at $9.85 and 724 lb steers and heifers at $9.85. Feeding cattle ruled strong to 25c higher and calves steady at the recent sharp decline.

Hog Trade Strong.

Only one of the thirteen regular local packers remained out of the market, and this fact, together with small receipts made conditions strong in the hog trade. There was a general narrowing of the price range, the top at $10.25 being the same as Wednesday night, while the average moved up 30c to $9.45.

More than 300 head of strictly choice fed western sheep, averaging 162@170 lbs, sold for export to England at $6.90. Sheep sold at strong prices, while lambs were weak at Wednesday's low time. No lambs were good enough to sell above $9.25. Idahos shorn yearlings sold at $7.50.

Seven western markets received 16,000 cattle, 45,000 hogs, and 29,000 sheep, against 28,000 cattle, 55,000 hogs, and 38,000 sheep the previous Thursday, and 21,000 cattle, 64,000 hogs, and 18,000 sheep a year ago.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 3,500 cattle, 15,000 hogs, and 8,000 sheep, against 3,030 cattle, 3,343 hogs, and 8,901 sheep the corresponding Friday a year ago.

Instant Heat.

E. H.—The Instant Heat company reports sales of $106,946 in 1920 at a net profit of $46,127. Net income for the year after interest and other adjustments was $43,799. There was $41,230 of preferred stock and $150,000 of common outstanding, as of Dec. 31. Net tangible assets were $182,669. This is a new business venture. It made a good showing last year. No earlier report available.

Federal Sign.

H. K. D., Brazil, Ind.—The Federal Sign system reports gross earnings of $5,524,844 in 1920 and net of $200,415. This compares with $3,269,914 gross and $155,203 net in the last nine months of 1919. There is $2,059,300 of preferred stock outstanding and $3,258,400 common. The 1920 earnings amount to nearly 10 per cent on the preferred. No dividends paid since 1914.

Brief Answers.

F. S.—The Quaker Oats company, after making profits steadily for many years, encountered a sudden slump in the latter part of 1920. Instead of earning $3,732,700 as in 1919, it showed a total loss of $5,218,974, without counting $2,227,500 of dividends paid out of surplus. No later report issued.

A. J. W.—The Stromberg Carburetor company is said to have earned last year $5.45 a share or about the same as in 1919. The dividend was rduced last January and the April dividend has been passed.

MAY-JULY WHEAT DIP TO NEW LOW; EXPORTERS BUY

BY CHARLES D. MICHAELS.

New low levels were established yesterday for May and July wheat and all deliveries of corn and oats. Liquidation was renewed with increased volume and there was a good class of buying of wheat, while in corn and oats the support came mainly from profit takers. News was mainly against an advance, and the few rallies that came were the result of local operations. The only constructive influences were the large export business in wheat, 1,700,000 bu, and 200,000 bu corn sold at the seaboard.

Closing sales were at small rallies from the inside and showed distant futures of wheat off 1¼ to 1¾c, with March up ¼c; corn off ⅝ to ¾c, oats ⅜ to ⅝c, rye ⅝ to ¾c, and barley ¼c.

Wheat Under Pressure.

Wheat was under pressure from all classes of traders, with cash markets in the southwest weak. It was said Canadian farmers are beginning to liquidate, while the American farmers are not selling fast, although there is a fair sized quantity to be had and exporters in the southwest appear able to fill their wants by bidding up for them, as premiums at the gulf were ½@1c higher. It is said the British have 20,000,000 bu to buy to complete their season's requirements.

Trading in wheat futures was heavy and prices declined to the lowest of the season, with May off to $1.37½, followed by a bulge of around 3c and the close on a break due to heavy local selling.

Trading in March wheat was of good volume and mainly at $1.55, with the extreme range 1c above and 1c below that figure. It was offered freely at $1.55 all day by the leading interests, openly and through brokers. They also took the cash offerings at March prices on track to ½c under and 314,000 bu were delivered on March sales. At Kansas City deliveries were 50,000 bu, and at St. Louis 250,000 bu.

Sentiment at the last was more favorable to the buying side on any break, as there has been heavy liquidation and a good short interest has been created.

Corn on Market in Volume.

Corn was on the market in good volume and from large and small holders, especially the latter. Buying came mainly from those who were taking profits, some of the largest of recent sellers being on that side on the break. The same depressing factors continue uppermost in the minds of traders, although cash offerings were not large.

Exporters took 500,000 bu rye at the seaboard and 15,000 bu here, paying 37½c over May, track Baltimore. Houses with New York connections were large sellers of May. Country offerings were said to be the best in two months.

Provisions were higher, with moderate trading. Pork closed 10c higher nominally, while lard gained 10c, and ribs were unchanged to 5c higher. Cash trade was light with 30,000 lbs leaf sold at 10c. Prices follow:

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Trade sentiment in wheat was more mixed last night. There was said to be a liberal short interest among local operators, who had sold freely on the late break. At the same time a majority of the coarse grain operators said they saw nothing on which to base operations for an advance of more than a few cents, as, despite the small arrivals of corn, there is enough for the demand. Should wheat have an advance, which a number of close observers predict, corn and oats will be helped.

With export buying of wheat continuing, and with 2,700,000 bu taken in all positions the last two days, including 250,000 bu at the Pacific coast and 112,000 bu at the Atlantic for Belgium, there was a more friendly feeling to wheat in a few quarters. They base their buying on the belief that wheat supplies are too low to make short sales profitable for the present. They believe May should work up closer to the cash, which was 16c over last night

All advices confirm previous reports that good American wheats are wanted by foreigners, especially England, to mix with poor Argentine and Manchurian wheats. A New York exporter says we will have reached the acute stage in regard to our supplies when the large quantities already sold are shipped. He says sales of old wheats are well placed and foreigners are after the new for September shipment.

The British commission's holdings of wheat in all positions on March 31 are reported at around 41,000,000 bu, including 14,588,000 bu in store, 12,066,000 bu afloat, and 14,803,000 bu bought but not yet shipped. It is expected around 20,000,000 bu wheat will have to be bought before July 30 in order to take care of the normal demand. The official resale price of winter wheats is reduced 5@7s per quarter, while Argentine is advanced 5s.

A Board of Trade membership sold yesterday at $7,500 net the buyer.

RULING ON LAKE RATES.

The department of justice at Washington advised J. S. Brown, manager of the transportation department of the Board of Trade, that lake carriers have abandoned free in and out bills of lading and shippers can charter last year's lading. It is understood Buffalo vessel interests are arranging for shoveling and vessels will deliver grain at elevator lee same as heretofore.

MORE CORN FOR SOUTH

As the result of a heavy reduction in the acreage to be planted to cotton this year and the strong efforts made by the banks it is estimated by P. S. Goodman of Clements, Curtis & Co. that the corn acreage in the south this year will be increased probably 6,000,000 acres, while oats will be increased around 1,500,000 acres.

CASH GRAIN NEWS

A big export business was on in wheat as the result of the decline in futures, Spain taking 1,000,000 bu at the seaboard and gulf and Belgium 114,000 bu. In addition there was around 600,000 bu sold to other countries, including a cargo at the Pacific coast, presumably to Italy. There was also 500,000 bu rye sold abroad, and 200,000 bu corn.

Contract grades of cash wheat sold mainly at March price at Chicago, but are expected to be sharply lower today, as the trading hereafter will be on the basis of the May. Cash handlers expect to see No. 1 red and hard around 7@8c over the May. Receipts, 24 cars.

Offerings of cash corn were not large, but sample values ½@¾c lower. The basis was about ¼c better as compared with the May, with No. 4 yellow and white 7@7½c under the future. Receipts, 133 cars. Outside markets were unchanged to 1c lower.

JUNIOR LOOP TO GET NEW CAFE ON SHERIDAN ROAD

BY AL CHASE.

Chicago's north side gastronomic center is to have a new eating place. A café, to be copied after both Henrici's in the loop and the St. Regis chain of restaurants in New York City, is planned for the property at 4710 Sheridan road, in the block between Leland and Lawrence avenues. The three story flat building, 30x150, has been leased by Mannie Mandelson from Rudolph Reich, secretary and treasurer of the North American Brewing company, for ten years from Aug. 1, at a term rental of $115,000.

The lessee is having the building remodeled at a reported cost of $35,000, from plans by Architect David Saul Klafter. Mr. Mandelson now operates the Federal inn at Addison avenue and Halsted street. Joseph O. Kaplan and Willis & Frankenstein were brokers.

The sixteen flat and two store building at the southeast corner of Broadway and Ardmore avenue has been sold by the Broadway Realty company for S. A. Strauss to Samuel Pincus and Harry Lapping for a reported $60,000.

The same firm reports the sale of the twelve flat building at the northeast corner of Glenwood and Rosemont for Frank L. Schulz to Samuel Pincus for $50,000; also the eighteen apartments at the southwest corner of Rosemont and Magnolia for Cora Lukins to J. E. Edmunds for $90,000; also the garage property at 5043-45 Broadway for A. Howard to George Hubar for $75,000.

Building Permits

Twenty-seven building permits were issued yesterday, including:

7350-52 S. May-st., two 1 story brick residences; L. Birnberg owner; A. G. Lund, arch.; J. Goldman, mas.; J. Jankema, carp.; each..... $ 5.000

5072-74 Washington-blvd., 3 story brick flats; J. O. Connell, owner; G. E. Pearson, arch.; Gunderson Bros., mas. and carp. 26.000

FINANCIAL NOTES

United Alloy Steel stockholders have ratified the proposal to increase the number of shares of stock from 525,000 to 955,000, of which 905,000 are to be common stock, without nominal or par value, and 50,000 shares 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock of the par value of $100 per share. The action increases the capital from $2,625,000 to $9,525,000. The directors are to acquire the property of the Berger Manufacturing company and the United Furnace company.

Chicago bank clearings this month decreased $871,346,521, compared with those of March, 1920. The total for the month was $2,303,556,256, against $3,175,902,777 a year ago and $1,958,471,662 in February this year.

Directors of the Gorham Manufacturing company have deferred action on the preferred dividend which would be payable on April 1. Warren Brothers & Co. have passed the dividends on the first and second preferred stocks. A London dispatch reports Rio Tinto has omitted its dividend on the ordinary shares. The company paid £2 last year.

The plan of the Standard Oil company of California to reduce the par value of its stock from $100 to $25 a share has been approved by the stockholders, and on April 1 the company will issue new certificates.

Talks To Investors 8

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING involves not only intelligent selection of securities, but occasional change from one type of issue to another type. Security values are affected by many influences.

IN THE SPRING OF 1915 Chicago and North Western common and General Electric were both selling at about the same prices—125. We advised certain of our clients to buy General Electric and sell Chicago and North Western at that time.

WHAT HAS BEEN THE RESULT? Since that time, General Electric has greatly increased its dividend, and in 1919 sold as high as 175. On the other hand, Chicago & North Western has reduced its dividend from 7% to 5% and in 1920 sold far below $60 per share.

THIS IS ONLY ONE INSTANCE in hundreds where our clients have profited greatly by wise investment supervision of their investment holdings. Instead of suffering losses in both principal and income, these clients have not only fully maintained their principal, but have increased both principal and income without any speculative risks whatever.

Such is the type of Service which we offer to you. Let us tell you more about it. Inquiries will be promptly answered.

A RARE OPPORTUNITY.

SALESMEN

Are you looking for a permanent, profitable connection, an opportunity to show real sales ability and to earn $4,000 or more per year? Investigate our sales proposition; we are a large manufacturing corporation of 25 years' standing, with million dollar rating, marketing a mechanical device of total trade value; average commission $200 per sale; producers average one or more per week; more than 47 per cent of our business is due to leads and inquiries as the result of our great national direct by mail and trade journal advertising. If you can qualify, call on MR. SUMMERS on Thursday or Friday at the Hotel Brevoort; out of town applicants write.

A PROVEN METHOD

that has made our organization the best sales unit in Chicago, will be outlined and offered to 3 high grade, pleasant working salesmen. Ours is a proposition with no real competition in the city, but you must have the willingness to co-operate and work with successful men who can and will make you high powered moneymakers. If you are a live one see MR. QUINN, 1003 Woods Theater Bldg.

ATTENTION, SALESMEN.

A large corporation, mfg. a nationally and locally advertised article of unquestionable merit and ever increasing demand, can use 10 more local and out of town sales promotion; experience preferred but not essential. Call mornings between 9 and 11 at 727 W. Jackson-blvd. ASK for Mr. Bell.

AUTOMOBILES—GASOLINE.

CADILLAC'S 7 BARGAINS

CADILLAC 8, TYPE 57, LIMOUSINE. This car has been thoroughly overhauled in our own shop; its mechanical condition is most excellent and will bear most rigid examination. Carries our guarantee. Just been refinished a dark Cadillac green. The upholstering, which shows practically no wear, is in velour to match the painting combination. Is equipped with excellent set of Goodrear cord tires, one extra, tire cover, bumper, clock, tools, etc. This car has practically the same lines as the new model, which costs over $5,800. It has the appearance of a practically new car and cannot be classed as the ordinary used car. Special for this sale, $3,250.

CADILLAC 8, TYPE 55, TOURING CAR. Painted standard Cadillac blue. Equipped with excellent set of tires, 2 brand new extra tires, bumper, clock, etc. Mechanical condition will be of most rigid examination and demonstration. Paint, upholstering and top exceptionally good. This car has been used by the original owner very carefully and has had very good attention. Mileage is exceptionally low. Considering the price, equipment, and condition of this car, we think it is the best bargain we have offered in this model. You will have to act quickly to avail yourself of this. Special for this sale, $1,350.

ESSEX TOURING CAR, MODEL 5A 1920. This is the latest series of the most popular car that a customer has just turned in to us for a larger car. It has a most excellent set of tires, one extra, bumper and clock. This car has been run enough to free it up and make it run smoothly. Would cost new today nearly $1,700. Paint, upholstering, and top are exceptionally fine. As this is a light 5 passenger 4 cylinder car, the expense of operation is low. As we obtained this car at an exceptionally low price this will give you an opportunity of saving several hundred dollars. Special for this sale, $1,000.

PAIGE COUPE, 1920, MODEL 6-55. This car has just been revarnished and has the appearance of a new automobile. Painted a beautiful shade of blue. Has an excellent set of tires and one spare. Mechanical condition exceptionally good. Has a roomy 4 passenger body. Upholstering is very good. Has a new set of seat covers; in fact, this car has every appearance of a new automobile. Would cost new very near $4,000. Special for this sale, $2,500.

PEERLESS TOURING CAR, 1920. This is the same car they are delivering new today for over $3,500. It has been carefully used by the original purchaser, who has given it proper attention, and it has just been driven enough to smooth it up and make it run smoothly. As an excellent set of Goodyear tires and 2 extras, as well as a set of winter curtains. Upholstering and top are in very fine condition. The prices and terms are fair at makes it necessary for you to take immediate action if interested. This car will bear most rigid examination and demonstration and is a big bargain at the price we offer it at. Price, $2,100.

BUICK 5 PASSENGER TOURING CAR, MODEL E 45. The mechanical condition of this car is far superior to any Buick of this model that we have ever had. An excellent set of tires, one extra, and bumper. Paint is good. Top and coach condition are exceptionally fine. Original owner has given this car excellent care and it has had remarkably low mileage. We believe this to be the best bargain in a Buick we have ever offered. Special for this sale, $750.

COLE 8 SEDAN. This car has just been turned in to us for one of our larger sedans. Has been carefully used by the original purchaser and has had remarkably low mileage. Is equipped with excellent set of tires, 2 extras, bumper front and rear, clock, etc. If you are looking for a real bargain in a high grade sedan of a late model this car will surely please you. Special for this sale, $800.

PACKARD

Packard Twin Six Touring, limousine. This is one of the most beautiful custom built cars that it has ever been our pleasure to offer for sale. The gray velour upholstery is a perfect match to the dark gray body with cream striping. De luxe seat covers, special pillows and foot rests, bumper, etc., are part of the extra equipment. The car has seen very little service and of course puts up the appearance of new. This is a rare opportunity to make a great saving on a Packard car.

Packard Chummy Roadster. This is a late model car which has had excellent care. The motor has been thoroughly overhauled and the body refinished in the special shade of gray with carmine red striping. The cord tires are exceptionally good, and the entire car runs and looks like new. Here is a chance to effect a considerable saving at our price of $2,500.

Hudson Sport Phaeton. This is a brand new car and has never been used. Extra equipment includes front and rear bumpers, windshield wings, motometer, and full new car equipment. This is an opportunity to effect a considerable saving at $2,350.

Pierce-Arrow Touring, 1912, 48 model. Here is a car which has actually been used less than 15,000 miles. It is in perfect mechanical and coach condition, is equipped with excellent seat covers, and a full set of absolutely new 37x5 Firestone cord tires. This car is a wonderful bargain at $1,000.

Jeffery Roadster, 1917 model. The car has just recently been refinished and is equipped with excellent cord tires. Mechanically in fair condition. Represents excellent value at $650.

PITY the poor little rich girls who will stick in their thumbs and pull out ripe and juicy plums from THE TRIBUNE Beauty Contest prize pie!

Wouldn't you just feel that sorry for the girl who pulls out the $10,000 plum that you wish you were in her sad plight yourself, as you would know better how to bear up under it all.

Sure, you would now!

You might be guilty of turning the green eye of envy on some of the $1,000 winners. For $1,000 is no sum to snivel at, is it? If you've ever tried saving it you know it is a lot of money. If you ever tried borrowing it you would know it was a huge sum.

So if your picture is not in yet, send it in quickly. There's still room around the festive board. In fact, none of the places have been allotted yet, nor will be until the judges, Pauline Palmer, J. Wellington Reynolds, and J. Albin Polasek, have decided who the $20,200 guests shall be.

It's worth the try anyway. So hurry along your photograph!

Ten thousand dollars will be awarded to the most beautiful girl. In addition ten prizes will be distributed in each of the six territorial divisions—the city of Chicago, the state of Illinois outside of Chicago, the state of Indiana, the state of Iowa, the state of Wisconsin, and the state of Michigan.

The first prize in each of these divisions will be $1,000, the second $250, the third $100, and the remaining seven $50 each.

The contest is open to every girl, unmarried or widow, who resides anywhere in the five states, except professional beauties.

Select a photograph of yourself or some girl friend and write plainly on the back of it the name, street address, and occupation of the entrant.

Send the photograph to "Beauty Contest," CHICAGO TRIBUNE, 7 South Dearborn street, Chicago.

Contest closes April 9.

BEAUTY ANSWERS by Antoinette Donnelly

BLONDIE: YOU SLANGY YOUNGster! Asking how to grow eyelashes on your tent flaps! I don't know whether to take you seriously or not. If you are serious just send a stamped addressed envelope and I'll send you eyelash and eyebrow care.

MRS. P. T.: I WOULD ECONOmize on something else than the corset. A good corset, well fitted (and the better grade ones are usually fitted by you where you buy them), will relieve you of that wave of fat above the corset top. The whole fit of the dress or suit depends upon a good figure, and if the corset will improve it save on the dress materials, but not on the stays.

GRAY HAIR: DON'T HAVE YOUR hair dyed a color distinctly different from your own original shade. That's what makes women's faces hard and queer looking after a plunge in the henna pot. The best henna dyes can be mixed to supply the demand of any shade from ash blond to jet black. The good henna dyes are not injurious to hair—but, like everything else, the good ones have poor imitations that are harmful, by reason of being mixed with some mineral or aniline dye.

P. P.: YOU'LL RUIN YOUR SKIN completely bathing daily with a washing fluid or preparation. You can't renew your skin as you can the clothes these strong preparations wear out. So you better treat it gently so it will stay with you.

MUCHA: THE PLAIN BLACK OR dark brown silk stockings are best for the plump extremity. That light gray has nothing to do with the "half concealment" the poets urge.

BLUE EYES: I AM TOLD BY SPEcialists that cross eyes may be straightened when the patient is young, and up to 20 and 21 with glasses and eye exercises the eyes are straightened successfully. But after that an operation is necessary. Flabby lids are due to a lack of physical tone—the same as flabby cheeks or flabby skin on any part of the body. Tone up the system generally is the remedy.

SKINNY: FRESH MILK CONtains building substances found in no other food. Milk builds not only fatty tissue but it builds every tissue in the body. Why not go on a milk diet? Surely you can! You lived and thrived on it once—I don't know how many years ago, but it was your first year, anyway. I would advise your getting a physician to tell you exactly how much you should consume daily.

THE factories where Calumet Baking Powder is made are models of perfection—the largest and most sanitary baking powder factories on earth. This is one of them.

Within the walls of these perfectly lighted, spotlessly clean and modernly equipped factories, where no hand ever touches it, hundreds of skilled workers deftly carry on the production of the largest selling brand of baking powder in the world.

Renowned chemists are working to guard the strength and purity of Calumet. They put every ingredient to a rigid test—then after the ingredients are combined the whole is tested.

And last — Calumet is tested by skilled chefs for baking qualities.

All of which gives you what you want—a perfect baking powder that never fails.

"The Powder of the hour"— have you tried it?

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 ounces. Some baking powders come in 12 ounce cans instead of 16 ounce cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.
